BEATEN OFF; COMES BACK

Bandit Chieftain Resumes Battle After Repulse on Thursday.

GENERAL TREVINO STILL HOLDS OUT

BULLETIN.

Juarez, Mex., Nov. 24.—Francisco Villa renewed his attacks on Chihuahut City today and was again repulsed and his forces driven from their positions outside the city, it was annnounced at military headquarters here shortly after noon today.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 24.—Francisco Villa and his command renewed their attack on Chihuahua City at 9 o'clock this morning, a message received in Juarex stated.

Andres Garcia, inspector general of Carranza consulates, today officially denied a report that General Trevino and his forces were at Terrazas station north of Chihuahua City and had evacuated Chihuahua City.

"General Gonzales was talking with General Trevino over the military telegraph at 10 o'clock and General Trevino was in the military headquarters in the state capital," Mr. Garcia said. "There is absolutely nothing to such a wild rumor," he added. "Neither is there any truth in the rumor that Carranza troops joined Villa."

It was reported here today that Villa had succeeded in entering Chihuahua City and that street fighting was in progress. The Juarez officials claim they have nothing from Chihuahua City regarding this report.

Killed in the Fighting.

One general, two colonels and one hundred men fo the Carranza forces were killed during the fighting yesterday between Carranza troops and Villa bandits. Four hundred men of the Villa command are known to have been killed and left on the battlefield. The names of the Carranza officers killed have been suppressed by the military censor.

Gen. Jacinto Trevino,, in command of the Carranza forces, suffered a scalp wound. He continued directing the movements of his command. After machine guns, which were placed about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, had poured an enfilading fire into the Villa ranks, Gen Carlos Ozuna, Trevino's chief of cavalry, delivered an attack on the Villa center and drove the bandit forces back in disorder. The battle ended at 7:30 p. m., with General Ozuna pursuing the Villa command.

Troops Desert Carranza.

Richard Wisbrun, an American member of a party arriving here early today from Chihuahua, said that 1,000 Carranza troops sent out Wednesday by General Trevino, commander at Chihuahua, have gone over to the bandits without firing a shot.

SAYS HE KILLED IN SELF DEFENSE

Overton Sheds First Light on Manner of Alabama Jurist's Death.

Huntsville, Ala., Nov. 24.—David D. Overton, former clerk of the Madison county circuit court, took the stand today at his trial for the murder of Judge W. T. Lawler, his political opponent, and testified that he killed the jurist in self defense. Lawler's body was found in the river last June and until Overton spoke today the manner of his death was unknown.

Overton said he met Lawler on the Whitesburg bridge near here on the night of June 14. Lawler, he said, rushed him several times, knife in hand, and they fought over a wide area, that he shot the jurist with a revolver after striking him on the head several times with the weapon. He denied he had anything to do with the disposition of Lawler's body or with the alleged painting out of blood spots on the bridge. After he killed Lawler, Overton said he returned to Huntsville, went to the court house and called Sheriff Robert Phillips over the telephone. Later Sheriff Phillips told me to let him make the occurrence public after he had made plans for my safety. Phillips advised me to go out of town for medical treatment. I went to Chattanooga, where my wounds were dressed. Overton said he went into the mountains and tried to destroy the blood-stained clothing and identified a bundle of clothes submitted as the same he buried.

WILL AWAIT COURT RULE

Roads Need Not Put Adamson Law into Effect Until Decision.

AGREEMENT IS TENTATIVE ONE

Government and Roads in Program That Defers Action for the Time.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Under a tentative agreement reached today between department of justice officials and railroad attorneys the government will not insist on railroads putting into effect provisions of the Adamson act until the supreme court has determined the law's constitutionality. The measure becomes effective January 1, but prosecutions for violations would be withheld.

The agreement is conditional on the ability of counsel for the government and railroads who are in Kansas City today to appear before the federal court there in the Santa Fe suit to decide on what case should be appealed to the supreme court for the test. The agreement also would provide that the railroads should not file new suits attacking the Adamson law pending the supreme court's decision, and should not institute further actions if the law be held valid. It would not seek to prevent effort to obtain legislation amending the Adamson act, however.

The joint congressional investigating committee at today's session heard Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the railway executives' advisory committee, continue his presentation of the railroads' ideas of legislative reform needed to better transportation conditions.

Will Need New Capital.

Railroads will need $1,250,000,000 additional capital annually for the next ten or twelve years to increase their facilities to handle the country's growing commerce, Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the railway executives' advisory committee, told the congressional railroad investigating committee today, continuing his statement on behalf of the railroads begun yesterday. About $250,000,000 a year additional will be required, he said, to refund maturing indebtedness.

To attract investors, Mr. Thom suggested that federal regulation should replace the present system of authority divided between the states and the central government. He cited examples of injustice and hampering of railroad financing caused by state control of issues by interstate roads.

Referring to the need of additional railroad facilities Mr. Thom said: "It has been found that the wealth of the country has been increasing at the rate of eight or nine per cent. a year and the same ratio of increase has held good as to the demand for transportation. As the forces which have affected the growth and development of the past apparently still continue in full operation, and may reasonably be expected to continue for the next ten or fifteen years, at least, the investment in railroad facilities to meet the large requirements of

PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN TO AID SAFETY FIRST

New York, Nov. 24.—A "safety first" publicity campaign to instruct citizens how to avoid street accidents and other dangers has been inaugurated by Police Commissioner Woods. There was used in the campaign 50,000 posters, 300,000 booklets and 1,000 picture slides in addition to moving pictures of policemen in the act of distributing campaign material. The safety booklets which are obtainable for the asking from all policemen, contains a long series of "don'ts," some of which are:

"Don't run across streets through heavy traffic.

"The busiest man I know wastes thirty minutes a day; why risk your life to save five seconds crossing a street?

"Never attempt to cross a street with a bundle or umbrella over your head, or reading a newspaper.

"Your automobile may be under cotrol, but how about the other fellow's? He may be a crazy man. You don't know.

"Don't be too eager to pull out your watch and give the time of day to everybody who asks for it.

"Don't carry your handbag suspended by a strap from your wrist. Hold it tightly in your hand.

"Don't beat your rugs or stir up ashes so that your dust will be blown into your neighbor's apartment to fall on his food or to be breathed by him."

FIRST PICTURE OF MUNICIPAL COAL MINE.

First picture of the Terre Haute (Ind.) municipal coal yard from which the city sells coal at $2.75 a ton while retailers ask $5 and $6.

Mayor Gossom, of Terre Haute, leased an independent coal mine three miles from the city, chartered all the coal wagons he could get and organized farmers to haul coal.

The retailers had shot the price to $6 a ton. Gossom put the price at $2.75. The city received 200 cash orders the first day.

AUXILIARY SERVICE BILL MOST IMPORTANT

German Proposal Is Held Tremendously Vital as War Measure.

London, Nov. 24.—The German auxiliary service bill is considered by Secretary of the Interior von Loebell as surpassing in importance all previous war measures, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuter's, describing the debate on the bill before the main committee of the reichstag.

Secretary von Loebell opened the debate on the bill which provides for the services of all men from 17 to 60. He said that besides the millions whom it would render liable to service in the army, it would affect three million others to be called upon for other services in this war which "is not only a war of armies, but a war of political economy, a war of nations."

Explaining that the object of the bill was the mobilization of labor, the minister declared that instead of lack of employment, which prevailed at the beginning of the war, there was now a positive lack of labor, especially in the manufacture of munitions and war material of all kinds. He said that the bill is intended to assure the sustenance of the laboring population and that compulsion would only be used as a last resort and was not needed for women. "The bill must prove to the whole world," he said, "Germany's determination to fight with all her forces to the uttermost."

EXPECT BIG BUSINESS AT LOCAL POSTOFFICE

Preparations are already being made at the Fort Wayne postoffice for the tremendous rush of business around Christmas time. Warnings have been sent out to Christmas shoppers to send their packages and parcels early. Last year, according to Postmaster E. C. Miller, the people did very well, the result being that the work was cleaned up in record time and everybody was given prompt and early service. But all estimates from over the country indicate that there will be an increase of at least twenty-five percent. in the parcel post Christmas business this year, and so there is all the more reason for doing Christmas mailing early.

Patrons of the postoffice are asked to bear in mind that packages and parcels should be well packed and tied and marked with the name of the person to whom they are sent, his or her street number or rural route number. They are asked to put their own name and address on the packages so that it may be returned in case it cannot be delivered to the person to whom it is sent.

NEEDS SUPPLY OF TOADS.

Governor of Guam Makes Appeal to Navy Department.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Common toads are wanted by the governor of Guam, and Captain Roy C. Smith, U. S. N., in an effort to eradicate a deadly disease prevalent among cattle of the island possessions. Toads with ravenous appetites and particularly fond of snails are especially preferred, the captain says. Snails are responsible for the disease. Captain Smith appealed to the navy department urging that an immediate shipment of toads be sent him. Navy officials confess they are unable to comply and will forward the request to the department of agriculture.

HASH DAY TODAY ON DIET SQUAD PROGRAM

It Is Disguised on Menu as "Beef and Rice Croquettes."

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Today is "hash day" in the race of the Chicago health department's diet squad against the high cost of living. Disguised as "beef and rice croquette," it appeared on the luncheon menu, but Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner, admitted it was the left over of Wednesday beef purchases.

To test the satisfying power of the food which they have been eating since Wednesday, members of the squad will eat dinner tonight at a table adjoining one at which venison will be served.

The venison, a gift to Dr. Robertson and intended for the use of the squad, was held to be a luxury, which could not be included properly in the living test. Later the twelve dieters will attend the annual ball of the health department tonight, but are forbidden to partake of refreshments.

Today's Menu Was.

Breakfast — Stewed pears, griddle cakes, sirup, coffee.

BELGIAN MOVEMENT INTERVIEW SUBJECT

Berlin, Nov. 23.—(Via London), Nov. 24.—Secretary Joseph C. Grew, of the United States embassy, had an hour's interview yesterday afternoon with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg regarding the Belgian movement. He laid before the chancellor informally and unofficially suggestions for a certain amelioration of the compulsory employment of Belgian workmen as concessions to Belgian national feelings and public opinion. Details of the conversation are regarded for the present as confidential.

The Spanish ambassador, as the official representative of Belgian interests, also had a conference with the chancellor on the same subject.

BRITTANIC NOT SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

Virtual Disavowal Appears in Wireless Message from Berlin.

London, Nov. 24.—A virtual disavowal that a German submarine had anything to do with the sinking of the British hospital ship Britannic in the Aegean sea is contained in a wireless today from Berlin which reads:

"According to the reports so far at hand the Britannic was proceeding from England to Saloniki. For a journey in this direction a large number of persons on board was extraordinarily striking and justifies a strong suspicion of the misuse of a hospital ship for transport purposes.

"Inasmuch as she bore the distinguishing marks of a hospital ship in accordance with regulations there can naturally be no question of a German submarine in connection with the sinking."

ALL NURSES SAVED.

Athens, Nov. 23.—(Via London), Nov. 24.—All of the nurses on the Britannic were saved as far as is known. Those who were drowned were stokers and engineers.

WOUNDED SAVED WHEN HOSPITAL SHIP SINKS

Braemer Castle Victim of Mine or Torpedo in Aegean Sea.

London, Nov. 24.—The British hospital ship Braemar Castle, of 6,280 tons gross, bound from Saloniki to Malta with wounded, has been mined or torpedoed in the Aegean sea, it was officially announced today. All on board were saved.

CONQUEST ALL BUT COMPLETE

Today's War News Given in Summary

Virtual completion of the Teutonic conquest of Little Wallachia is announced today by Berlin. Orsova and Turnu-Severin on the Danube have been captured by the Austro-German forces, which have broken the resistance of the Rumanians in this section of western Rumania. No mention is made of the booty taken or of the fate of the Rumanian forces who were defending the Orsova region. The retreat of these forces is assumed to have been cut off with the recent capture by Gen. von Falkenhayn's armies of Craiova and with it the only main line railroad leading eastward.

Pushing eastward from the Jiul valley after their capture of Craiova the Austro-German forces are now announced as approaching the Alt valley. It is along this valley that the Rumanians apparently have elected to make their next stand.

Simultaneously a movement has been made, presumably by the Bulgarians, which may prove of notable importance. Bucharest reports an attempt by hostile forces to cross the Danube at Zimnitza, thirty-five miles southwest of Girgiu, on the railroad leadiny to Bucharest. This move, if successful, would mean a cutting in far behind the present Rumanian line along the Alt. Zimnitza is seventy miles southwest of Bucharest.

On the other hand the Russians have made a counter-move in Dobrudja. Petrograd announces that they are pushing south and have reached Lake Tashaul, about twelve miles north of Constanza, which is the Black sea terminal of the railroad from Tchernavoda, and have crossed the Kartal river. Berlin announces a battle in this region declaring, however, that the Russians were thrown back from advanced positions.

Both east and west of Monastir on the Macedonian front the entente armies are pressing the Germano-Bulgarians lises hard and making further advances, according to the French war office announcement today. Berlin announces the repulse of local attacks by entente troops northwest and northeast of Monastir.

Neither Paris nor London reports any infantry activity on the front in France and Belgium. According to Berlin the British attacked in the Ancre region but failed to gain ground.

Berlin, Nov. 24.—Orsova and Turnu-Severin, both on the Danube, have been captured by Austro-German troops, the war office announces.

The resistance of the Rumanians in the extreme western section of Rumania has been broken, the statement says. On the Wallachian plains the Teutonic forces are approaching the Alt.

Heavy firing began north of the Ancre yesterday afternoon, the war office announced and subsequently the British made several attacks, zut were unable to reach the German positions.

ADVANCE IN DOBRUDJA.

Bucharest, Nov. 24.—Rumanian forces have assumed the offensive in the province of Dobrudja, says the official statement issued today by the Rumanian war department, and haye advanced along the entire front, capturing several towns about fifteen miles north of the Tchernavoda-Constanza railroad line.

In the Oltenie valley the statement adds, the Rumanians have withdrawn from the left bank of the Oltetz river.

An attempt to cross the Danube at a point thirty-five miles southwest of Giurgiu, on the railroad leading northward to Bucharest, has been made by Teutonic forces, the war office announces.

BOMBARDMENT ON SOMME.

Paris, Nov. 24.—There was a lively bombardment on the Somme front last night in the region of Sailley-Saillisel, north of the river, and that of Ablaincourt, south of the stream, the war office announced today. The night was uneventful on the remainder of the front.

SIR HIRAM MAXIM DIES

NOTED GENIUS WAS BORN IN AMERICA

Knighted by Queen Victoria After Going to England in 1881.

London, Nov. 24.—Sir Hiram Maxim, inventor of the automatic system of firearms, died at his home here early this morning.

News of Sir Hiram's critical illness was given out yesterday. He was nearly 77 years of age and had lived in London for many years.

Was American Born.

Sir Hiram Stevens Maxim, American born, was one of the most famous inventors, civil, mechanical and electrical engineers of Great Britain. He was most widely known as the inventor of the Maxim machine gun, which makes the recoil of the weapon serve as the power for reloading, and which is the weapon largely used in the European war today.

He was born in Sangerville, Me., Feb. 5, 1840, the son of Isaac Weston and Harriet M. Maxim, and received only a common school education, but he acquired scientific knowledge by reading and attending lectures. He went to England in 1881, and had resided there ever since. He was knighted by Queen Victoria in 1901.

MRS. HARRIMAN GETS $60,000 JEWELS BACK

New York Police Recover Nearly All Loot in Big Robbery.

New York, Nov. 24.—Nearly all of the jewels valued at $60,000, stolen from Mrs. E. H. Harriman here, were recovered by the police today. A small ruby, traced through three separate sales and believed to be in the hands of a Maiden Lane jeweler, and a diamond valued at $10,000, are still missing. The early recovery of both was predicted.

According to the police the robbery was committed some time between May 24, when Mrs. Harriman deposited the jewels in a vault, and November 13, when she went to get them to wear at the opening of the opera season. The loss was reported November 15.

Arthur P. Daggett, of Larchmont, N. Y., and Orville Daggett, of Brooklyn, were arrested last night on complaint of Clement Arthur Tegethoff, manager of the Harriman estate, and charged with the theft. The police offered no opinion as to the manner in which the robbery was committed.

Arthur P. Daggett was employed in the vault of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company, which is located in the basement of the building occupied by the Harriman National bank. Orville was employed as a clerk in the offices of the International Mercantile Marine corporation. The accused men are past forty. The most precious jewel recovered was a ruby valued at $40,000, which is said to be one of the finest of its kind in the world. The gem the police found in the pocket of an old pair of trousers in the home of Arthur P. Daggett. The smaller ruby was attached to the larger one by a platinum chain set with thirty-six small diamonds. The chain was

GOVERNOR ISSUES HIS PROCLAMATION

"The demand for labor and the product thereof has been unprecedented in Indiana during the past year. Wages have been high and so have prices of the surplus of the factory, mine and field—so high in truth that the problem of family support in some homes has become a most serious question. But while the solution of this problem is still pressing and conditions are far from ideal, yet our people are patient and hopeful and comparatively happy, because prosperity has blessed our state generally and peace has abounded throughout our nation, spreading greater good will among all the people.

"Other nations are at war with one another, and some have their own internal discord and strife; but with our beloved country it is different. We are at peace with the world and free from internal bitterness. We have our differences, of course, as a free and thinking people, but we are composing them and reconciling ourselves by rational methods without resorting to the law of the strong hand. For a continuance of this condition we all pray, while we address ourselves individually and collectively in a sober and patriotic fashion to a just and humane solution of our social and civic problems.

"The desire among the people for right living is more militant than it was a year ago, and our civilization is on a higher plane. The forces making for good citizenship have been alert and aggressive, and the forces of evil have been put on the defensive in the open. All this means that a broader spirit and a more fraternal feeling permeate the social atmosphere. The security and perpetuity of our state and nation depend upon the growth and maintenance of this cordial co-operation; to the end that the passing of the years will strengthen our foundation and promote the happiness of all our people.

"Now, therefore, I, Samuel M. Ralston, governor of Indiana, in obedience to law and in conformity with a worthy custom, do hereby designate and proclaim Thursday, November 30, 1916, as Thanksgiving day, and I urge its observance by the people of the state in such a manner as will be in keeping with the spirit and significance of the day."

THINKS THEY MAY YET FIGHT.

French Minister of War Wants New Examination of Exempted Men.

Paris, Nov. 24.—The minister of war has introduced a bill in the chamber of deputies by which all persons exempted from military service or mustered out as physically unfit, prior to April 1, 1916, must submit to a further medical examination. During the first period of the war the main object in recruiting was not to overcrowd the depots and consequently only the strongest men were taken. The minister believes that of several hundred thousand men exempted an appreciable number will be found on a less perfunctory medical examination, to be capable of rendering service.

CALLS SALOON CHEESE FAKE.

New York, Nov. 24.—Saloon cheese and beer may be filling, but if there is any nourishment in such a repast it is not in the cheese, it was brought out at the hearing of the Wicks legislative committee investigatting conditions here. It developed that "saloon cheese" is not purely a descriptive title, but is the trade name for a specific article made out of skimmed milk and sold only to saloons for free lunch counters, according to the testimony of Ole Salthe, assistant director of the food and drug bureau of the city health department.

Nothing for New Territory.

The estimate of $1,250,000,000 for additional transportation facilities includes nothing for extensions into new territory, he added.

"Where is this money or any sum approximating it to come from," asked Mr. Thom. "This problem is one of vital interest to the public because on it ssuccessful solution depends the commercial facilities of the country. Would it do to confront the investor, when asking for this great investment, with a situation where the revenues of the railroads are not subject to the control of the investors, but are fixed and limited not only by governmental authority, but by many uncoordinated state authorities in no way responsible to each other, and where the railroads cannot control and the government cannot and does not limit the expense account."

Mr. Thom referred to the recent case in which the New York Central, which has not over twenty miles of line in Illinois, was taxed $600,000 by the state of Illinois as a condition of the consent of that state to the issue of certain securities. He asked why the states of New York, Ohio, Indiana and the others through which the road runs, could not, with as much reason, exercise the same right.

IT GOES TO GREGORY.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 24.—A tentative agreement on a test case of the Adamson law has been reached by the attorneys of the railroads and of the government, who have been in conference here. The agreement has been forwarded to Attorney General Gregory, at Washington and the conference here will wait his action upon it.

Announcement of the tentative agreement was made today, but attorneys in the conference said they were not ready to state its terms.

The hearing before Judge John C. Pollock, in Kansas City, Kan., on the injunction suit brought by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway will not be held, it was said, until final action on the agreement is taken. Meanwhile, witnesses for the government and for the Santa Fe are being detained in Judge Pollock's court.

For many years Sir Hiram was a director in the firm of Vickers Sons & Maxim, but resigned that post in 1911. For more than thirty years he experimented in aeronautics and invented flying machines. In the light of the present war, with its numerous German airship raids on England, it is remarkably interesting to recall that eight years ago Sir Hiram took the British nation to task for its small interest in aeronautics and pointed then, at a time when aeroplanes were in their infancy, that England was in grave danger of bombardment by airships.

"Does anyone doubt for a moment," said he, "that in case we find ourselves at war with a continental power, airships will be used for bombarding English towns, both on the coast and inland? The city of London within a year's time can be attacked without our enemy needing to fear the boasted British fleet."

Resumes Aviation Problems.

Following the success of the Wright biplane, Sir Hiram renewed his long-continued interest in aviation and in 1910 perfected a machine which he declared had certain advantages over the Wrights'. It was he who, with others, interested the British government in beginning its organization of an aerial navy, and though he was then 70 years old he lived to see the great war bring air fighting to pass in even greater measure, probably, than he himself had dreamed.

In addition to his gun and aeroplane, he patented many electrical inventions, including incandescent lamps, self-regulating current machines, several pieces of ordnance and a smokeless powder.

The aged inventor took a keen interest in the war, and from time to time there were unconfirmed reports of his invention of devices to meet the needs of the war, one of them being an apparatus to counteract the effects of the poisonous gases which the Germans were first to bring into use. In 1915 he was appointed a member of the inventions board of the British munitions department under Lloyd George.

Sir Hiram applied himself so strenuously to science throughout his long life that even his recreations were given by him as "reading scientific books and studying abstract sciences." He wrote many important articles and an autobiography, "My Life," in 1915.

He was a chevalier of the Legion of Honor, a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Royal Society of Arts, the British Association for the Advancement of Science and numerous other scientific bodies.

gees in passenger coaches and three box cars were filled with Chinese. The train left Chihuahua at noon yesterday a short time after the attack on Chihuahua by the Villa bandits began.

At that time the guns on Santa Rosa hill were firing at intervals and the rifle fire on both sides was said to have been brisk. Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis and another American named Harris boarded the train at Chihuahua, but left it and remained behind when Carranza officers told them that the train was certain to be attacked and they had no chance to reach the border. The train crew objected to leaving and were only induced to make the trip upon receiving $40 gold collected by the passengers. Others were of the opinion the town would be surrendered to Villa after a brief resistance as practically the entire civilian population and many of the soldiers are believed to be Villa sympathizers.

Was Not Unexpected.

Villa's attack on Chihuahua City was not unexpected by the Carranza garrison, Mexican officials here said today, as Villa had publicly announced both at Parral and Santa Rosalia that his next action would be to take Chihuahua and then to drive the American expedition out of Mexico. It was because of military movements tending to give substance to these threats, according to officials, that General Trevino a week ago remained on the defensive in Chihuahua City after announcing a week ago his departure for the field.

"Villa's boldness in assaulting an equal force protected by well-made entrenchments is ascribed to a common belief that Trevino was seriously short of small ammunition. It is thought here that Trevino allowed this impression to spread so as to insure its reaching Villa while in fact he had sufficient for all emergencies. A large number of Mexicans residing in Juarez came across to El Paso last night because of disquieting rumors there. One was that Villa had captured Chihuahua and the Juarez garrison in consequence intended to revolt and join him.

Dispatches last evening announced that Villa withdrew his surviving forces in defeat from Chihuahua City at 6:15 o'clock after a battle of seven hours during which he made fruitless attempts to carry General Trevino's protecting works by assault.

The bandit chieftain is reported to have led his men in person.

Entente forces on the Macedonian front are making progress in their attacks on the Germano-Bulgarian lines, according to today's war office announcement. Dragging Around, Constipated, Bilious?
You'll Feel a Remarkable Difference in 30 Minutes After Taking a Wineglassful of Tollo Water.
Feeling tired and nervous, tongue covered with a furry coat, skin sallow, constipated. Your food feels as heavy as lead. It all comes from your liver. Too much rich food has choked the bile tubes; you become constipated and bile is being absorbed into the system.
Tollo Water from Dawson Springs, Kentucky, will give quick relief. Get a 15-cent bottle from the drug store—pour about a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water and drink it before breakfast. In a few minutes it will flush—really wash out—the bile and waste from the system and start you feeling fine. Then you can eat all you want without feeling stuffed or bloated. You will know again the pleasure of an active energetic life.—Advertisement.

MR. FAIRBANKS TO THE VICE PRESIDENT

Vanquished and Victor in Pleasant Exchange of Greetings.

Indianapolis, Nov. 24.—Charles W. Fairbanks and Thomas R. Marshall, neighbors and political opponents, yesterday exchanged greetings, the republican candidate for the vice presidency first sending the following message:

"My Dear Mr. Vice President:—I will avail myself of the earliest opportunity since the ascertainment of the California vote, to extend to you my cordial personal congratulations upon your re-election as vice president. My very best wishes go with you always."

Mr. Marshall sent the following reply:

"Dear Mr. Fairbanks—I thank you sincerely for your kind letter of congratulation. As a partisan, it is worth much to know that we have won. As a man, it is worth more to know that the years of personal friendship have not ended with this campaign and to feel that there are left a few men at least who may differ in politics and yet wish each other well. I rejoice to believe that you always have been of that chosen few. Long life and serene content for you."

Vice President Marshall intends departing for Washington Dec. 2.

TO TAKE CENSUS OF LUMBER PRODUCTION

Federal Forest Service to Co-Operate With Trade in the Work.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—The census of the lumber production of the country for 1916 will be undertaken by the forest service in co-operation with the National Lumber Manufacturers' association. The information to be obtained by this work, it is stated, will be of immense benefit to the lumber industry, the forest service, and other branches of the government.

It is estimated by the forest service that there are more than 30,000 sawmills in the country and it is planned to have the investigation reach every sawmill in operation. Each of these will be asked to make a detailed report of its production. Information is sought as to the total quantity of each kind of wood sawed, the number of lath and shingles manufactured and the average mill value for each species. Printed schedules designed for use in different regions of the country will simplify the collection of the figures and make it easy for each mill man to send in a complete report. The work, it is stated, will be directed by the office of industrial investigations of the forest service in Washington, but the western part of the country will be covered by the district offices of the forest service located in Missoula, Mont.; Denver, Col.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Ogden, Utah; San Francisco, Cal, and Portland, Ore. The officers in charge of these districts, being nearer and thoroughly familiar with the scene of operations, are able to secure returns and compile results in less time than if the work were all handled from Washington.

It is intended that preliminary statements showing the production of the principal species, such as yellow pine, Douglas fir, white pine, and oak, and also the production of the leading states, will be issued as soon as the figures are available. The importance of these annual statistics, forest service officials say, is apparently not fully realized by all of the sawmill men, since past attempts to gather similar data show a large number often fail to reply promptly, or neglect to make any report. A better response has been received from the lumber trade in late years, and the officials in charge of the work believe that with proper co-operation on the part of the lumbermen final figures showing the total production can be announced by June 1, 1917.

LEWIS MACHINE GUN MAY YET BE CHOSEN

Ordnance Board Shows Indication of Admitting Its Error.

BY FREDERICK M. KERBY.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—"What we didn't know, and what we are learning from the European war" might be the title of practically all the recent reports of the ordnance bureau of the war department.

This bureau, which turned down Col. Isaac N. Lewis and his machine gun, now being used by the allies with so much success, apparently is ready to admit its error.

The Rock Island arsenal has been ordered to develop a pack outfit for the Lewis machine gun, a number of which were purchased in the Mexican emergency. The Lewis gun, it is now believed, will be recommended officially by the special machine gun board after tests next spring, as the "light" gun for the service.

Another lesson learned from the European war by our officers is the value of caterpillar wheels for transporting heavy artillery. The 7.6-inch howitzer is the heaviest piece of mobile artillery in use in the American army. As a result of the demonstration of the value of the caterpillar principle in moving the big Krupp guns, our ordnance officials have designed at the Rock Island arsenal a heavy 60-inch wheel with caterpillar shoes, for the 7.6-inch howitzer carriage.

Still another development of the European war is the use of anti-aircraft guns made necessary by the great use of aeroplanes and Zeppelins. The ordnance bureau of our army is now engaged in designing an anti-aircraft attachment so the 3-inch gun carriage now used in the army may be used as a balloon gun.

The use of motor traction in the army is another lesson our war department is learning. The modern army, instead of "traveling on its stomach," literally "travels on its gasoline." Automobile battery wagons for heavy and light artillery are being built to replace the present horse-drawn vehicles, and the 4.7-inch guns, and 6-inch howitzer limbers are being fitted with spare connecting poles to be used for motor traction.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

1 Corinthians 2:1-10.

1 And I brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the tesimony of God.

2 For I determined not to know any thing among you save Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.

4 And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power:

5 That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

6 Howbeit we speak wisdom among them that are perfect: yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world, that come to nought:

7 But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory;

8 Which none of the princes of this world knew: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

9 But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him.

10 But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.

Getting the Right Viewpoint.

Let us get the proper viewpoint from which we are to look at the question of calling a constitutional convention for Indiana. There appears to be an element of our citizenship which is disposed to consider the proposition wholly from its probable effect upon the fortunes of this political party or that. As a matter of fact, if Indiana needs constitutional revision—and there is overwhelming concensus of opinion that it does need it—the issue is of vastly more importance than partisan advantage or partisan embarrassment. Indiana has a fashion, every few years, of changing its political complexion. Victory at the polls is at best but a transitory gain for either democrats or republicans. The constitution under which our state government is operated is well nigh changeless. We have had in recent years numerous illustrations of the extreme difficulty of either single amendment or more extensive revision.

We can reverse political control of the state every two years by the simple expedient of the ballot box, but we have not the opportunity to successfully achieve constitutional improvement in that way because of the cumbersome machinery and the exacting conditions thrown about the making of constitutional change. Is it not vastly more important then, that organic law which must endure indefinitely be given priority to the political fortunes of this party or that? We need to get a more correct appreciation of relative values in this thing.

Through democratic and republican administration alike The Sentinel has in recent years urged the necessity for an amended constitution for Indiana. With practically everybody in Indiana confirmed in the opinion that constitutional revision is needed, with practically every political party some time during recent years moving to that end by one means or another, shall the proposal for a constitutional convention be defeated because somebody fears that the political future of some individuals or some political party may be affected by it? It is by no means certain that that effect would develop. Political calamity is wholly suppositious. The people of Indiana, appreciating the need of constitutional revision, should take a higher view of present opportunity than to allow it to be measured by cheap considerations that would prevent the acquiring of a modernized constitution under which their best interests may be served.

President Wilson's forthcoming annual message is said to contain but 2,000 words—which ought to be gratifying news to the citizen who regards is as a patriotic duty to read carefully whatever the president may have to say to congress. He can scarcely fail to recall the long, dreary, profound dissertation, stretching out column after column in his favorite newspaper, with which presidents once were wont to bombard congress each December, to the harassment of the printer, the wearying of the public and to the perplexity of congress itself. One gift President Wilson possesses to a peculiar degree—the ability to say much in few words. For this relief, much thanks.

Henry A. Roberts, newly-elected Indiana state statistician, will name his wife as chief deputy, and similarly Ele Stansbury, attorney-general-elect, announces that his son is to get a deputyship in the attorney general's office. It is beginning to be apparent that whether the loyal republicans over the state who carried the load of the campaign are going to get anything at all or not depends largely on how the families of the newly-elected state officials hold out. Office-hungry Hoosier patriots can hardly regard the outlook as especially cheering.

A newspaper at Chihuahua City, Mexico, prints the startling intelligence that Colonel Roosevelt has launched a revolution in several states of America with the avowed purpose of overthrowing President Wilson, seizing the government and operating it in a fashion to his own liking. Col. Roosevelt will doubtless now begin to realize what reputation will do for a man.

California's secretary of state may not be such a mighty big official in the eyes of the nation, but he has demonstrated an amazing grasp of the opportunity to get on the front page in an election aftermath. He declares he will never—no, never, by heck—certify to those presidential returns from California until the last lone vote from the remotest precinct of the sagebrush country is present or accounted for, whether there is an inauguration at Washington next March or not.

Besides, having a coal mine next door and being in position to snap one's fingers at the car shortage problem helps some in the demonstration of Mayor Gossom at Terre Haute that he knows more about running the coal business than the man who invented it. There are unsuspected advantages even in being located beside a coal mine.

The president's reply to Mr. Hughes' telegram of congratulations was just as cordial as though it had arrived the morning after election instead of having been held up for more than two weeks until Mr. Hughes decided he would not be taking too many chances in admitting what everybody else knew long before.

Picking Presidents; New Way Suggested

[By Leon Starmont.]

This matter, largely agitated since the election, is bound to be a foremost congressional topic in the future, until something is done.

Chamberlain has not decided exactly what form his bill will take.

Opponents of direct elections assert the plan never can work out in presidential election, because both big parties will oppose it through fear of benefiting the opposition.

The south, they say, never would consent to turning its election machinery over to the federal government, thereby enfranchising many negroes now barred under educational tests.

* * *

Under our present system (if you can call it that) selection of a president starts along in April or May, with naming of delegates to county conventions. The county conventions pick delegates to state conventions, and the state conventions select delegates to the national convention. Some states have a primary arrangement, but in most of these the dominant factor in each party wins, so that the national delegates represent merely the faction of a political party that is stronger than any other faction.

This leaves every loophole for domination of the party conventions by any political boss who is strong enough to dominate.

The national electors, mere pawns to do the bidding of the party which they represent, do not count at all; nevertheless, in a close election, a few electors, if they cared to risk their future, could throw the choice of a president from one party to another if they cared to do so.

Woodrow Wilson isn't re-elected yet; and Hughes could be elected if a few Wilson electors, for any reason whatsoever, should choose to give the defeated candidate their votes. It is easy to conceive that a truly desperate Wall street might some day try to avail itself of human frailty, and defeat the will of the people.

But with the electoral college abolished, the people would still be choosing between two (or three) candidates picked by the dominant section of a political party.

* * *

To make the election REALLY popular, why not start back in May or June, when the machine slates of delegates are now being picked? Why not hold an election then, at which every voter should indicate the one man he prefers above all others for the presidency?

Nobody would receive a majority, probably, but the vote would indicate who were the really serious candidates.

Then why not hold a second election about the first of September, at which the names of the five or six foremost candidates would be submitted to the voters? A candidate who could not win a place among the first half dozen would be eliminated.

Should a majority choice be expressed at this election, there need be no further balloting; but should the voting still be close, the final election could be held in November, at which the two highest men on the list of six should be the opposing candidates.

Everybody would have to express a choice one way or another; no candidate could be counted out of the race by his party's bosses; and there would be no more "minority presidents."

* * *

And how much chance do you think YOU will have to vote for him under our present system?

Priscilla: "What, marry you and you ain't even got a flivver, don't belong to any clubs, can't dance, and ain't even got a steady job. No sir! none of that live on love stuff for me. TWO WOMEN CLAIM BABY—JURYMEN ARE PUZZLED.

WHICH IS MY MAMMA?

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 17.—"Who is my mother?"

Mrs. Ollie Randle Trumper says she is the child's legal mother. She has been charged with kidnaping the baby from the orphanage.

Mrs. Lena Purvis Wahlquist is the other claimant.

According to testimony, Mrs. Trumper got the child from the orphanage on probation.

Then the juvenile authorities took Valda from her.

According to the charge on which Mrs. Trumper was arrested, she returned to the orphanage and whisked the baby away in an automobile. She was overtaken by police.

In court appeared the other woman. Mrs. Wahlquist says she is the child's real mother and that she left the little girl at the orphanage because she was too poor to care for her.

The only evidence in her favor is the name under which the child was registered at the orphanage.

She says she can't bear to have her child known as the baby of another woman.

To complicate affairs for the twelve jurymen who will have to decide which woman is the child's mother, the baby looks like both of them.

All are blondes, although Mrs. Trumper's hair is lighter. All have blue eyes.

If Mrs. Trumper is acquitted she will get the baby. If found guilty of kidnaping she will not only lose the child, but may be sent to the penitentiary. The maximum penalty is five years.

CAMPAIGN TO CONSERVE WASTE PAPER AND RAGS

Aid of School Children in State Enlisted in the Project.

Indianapolis, Nov. 24.—A campaign to save waste paper and rags has been started among school children of the state by Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction. He has sent a letter to all county and city school superintendents in which he calls attention to the amount of paper used in the public schools, and he says it is enormous. The general shortage of the paper and materials from which it is manufactured, he says in his letter, might be alleviated to a small extent by the school children. In addition to the assistance in conserving raw materials, Mr. Greathouse asserts the saving and sale of rags and old paper may become a source of income to the pupil, and also teach him habits of watchfulness and economy. Following are some of the suggestions made by the state superintendent:

Keep waste material clean and dry.
Separate cotton from woolen rags.
Separate magazines from other papers.
Tie in bundles or put in bags for convenience in handling.
Call the nearest dealer in junk and rags.

MUNICIPAL PARK.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 24.—There is considerable talk at Kendallville of establishing a municipal park. A site has been offered the city council fronting Bixler lake, at a cost of $7,500. It is probable that a mass meeting of the citizens of Kendallville will be held to determine what action shall be taken in the matter.

GAS TURNED OFF.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 24.—This city was without gas yesterday afternoon, it being turned off for several hours, causing no little inconvenience to many users.

RICE AND THE COOK

Many people have said to me that they disliked rice because it was so gummy and mushy. There is a variety of rice that cooks up this way and is very unpalatable. It is impossible to cook the ordinary Japan style rice and get a nice, dry, flaky dish. On our package we tell how to cook our fancy, uncoated and unpolished Rice. This method insures a dish that everyone will like. Be sure you get Bursley's High Grade Rice in packages when you try these different recipes. The ordinary rice will disappoint those who want to increase the consumption of rice at their table. Think of rice as a vegetable, not as a pudding for desert. You can easily substitute rice for potatoes. Try this at the next meal.

We will send an order on your grocer for a package of Bursley's Rice to those who send in original methods of cooking rice.

RICE BALLS.

Wash a cup of Bursley's High Grade Rice and boil in one cup of milk and one cup of water; add a teaspoonful of salt when tender. Flavor with any flavor you like. Form into balls or mold it in cups. Turn into a deep dish and fill with custard made with three eggs, a pint of milk, half a cup of sugar; flavor the same as the rice; serve either hot or cold. This makes a nice supper dish.

RICE, MEAT AND TOMATOES.

Fry 10 cents worth of hamburg steak. When done put in one cup of boiled rice and one can of tomatoes. Season with salt and cayenne pepper. Put in an onion if liked.

MISS E. F. MAGNUS.

RICE AND MEAT.
(For the Casserole)

Wash and boil ½ lb. of rice, adding a pinch of salt. Drain it, and put around the inner edge of the serving dish, the height you wish, smoothing it with a knife. Serve the meat (Fricassee or Curry) in the center. This is excellent for luncheon.

MRS. CHEER.

FRIED RICE.

Cook 1 cup of rice till soft, add 1 egg, a tablespoonful of flour and a little salt and pepper. Stir all together thoroughly. Have a spider ready with a tablespoonful of butter or lard melted, drop the rice in a spoonful at a time. When a nice brown, turn and fry on the other side. This makes a fine breakfast dish.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Howe's Travel Pictures Friday Evening and Saturday.

New delights, both of travel and hilarious fun contributed by silhouette cutups, are promised by Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival at the Majestic tonight and tomorrow.

As for the new comedy cartoons, they offer a wealth of laughter that would suffice for a whole season of ordinary so-called comedy films. The fantastic drolleries of the figures evolved in the fertile minds of Howe's cartoon artists may well elicit peals of laughter from the wisest and most serious minded spectators. As to delights of travel, Howe tourists will sail away on this itinerary to "The Isle of Peace"—Hawaii. Conjure up a memory of a most perfect May day when sunshine and budding trees and flowers—when all smiling nature combines to make glad the heart, then multiply it a hundredfold and you may form a faint conception of the surpassing charm transcribed in this filmization. In marked contrast to this phase of the film is another portion and one that is awe-inspiring as it reveals the convulsion of nature in the crater of the volcano of Kilauea and shows a seething inferno of molten lava. Another portion of absorbing interest shows how man-eating sharks are caught.

The program also conveys a splendid message on the timely and vital subject of "preparedness," as exemplified by the manifold duties, rigorous discipline and training in force at America's famous military institution—West Point.

AT THE PALACE.

DARN, GOOD AND FUNNY.

That's the Name of One Act and Describes Palace Bill.

"Darn, Good and Funny" is the title of one of the acts and adequately describes the entire bill at the New Palace theater for the remainder of the week. This trio of fun-makers sing some close harmony, but most of their time is spent in foolishness that last night's audience liked so well it refused to permit the show to go on until the trio refused to do any more work. The bill opens with the Casting Campbells in a sensational aerial casting act in which two of the quartet are swung through some hair-raising turns by the other two. Ernest Evans and company of four little dancing beauties are presenting a dance revue that is a lively bit of terpsichorean effort. The Kaufman Brothers, a team of burnt cork comedians, sing their songs, tell some droll stories and kid the acts that preceded them. Ray L. Royce's character sketches are amusingly done and stamp him as a delineator of odd characters of no small ability. Les Morgan and Beryl Gray are presenting a comedy playlet entitled "Every Day in the Year," a little domestic farce-comedy that is so human everyone can remember something of the sort happening to him.

AT THE TEMPLE.

With "Deserted at the Altar" drawing to a successful close, Fort Wayne playgoers and particularly the patrons of the Temple theater, are anticipating with no little pleasure the advent of "The Angelus," sequel to another great triumph, "The Rosary," which will be the attraction offered next week by Manager Wolford's star players. Jack Doty will play the part of Father Whelan, an exceedingly strong character, and the assurance is given that all the favorites will be seen in an excellent cast. "The Angelus" is practically a new play. It has only been dramatized but a few months, and Fort Wayne theatergoers are given an opportunity to see it at this early stage only through the efforts and influence of the well known firm of Darcy & Wolford, the New York play brokers. Louis Wolford, as a son of the junior partner, is favored naturally and in this way Fort Wayne this season will see some practically new plays while the Temple Stock company is holding the boards.

In "Deserted at the Altar" the members are proving that melodrama is a splendid vehicle in which to display their talents as a well balanced company. Tonight will be bargain night and the usual performances will mark the conclusion of the bill Saturday.

A Chicago physician has invented apparatus with which he says he can tell whether a person really is hungry or whether his appetite, a nervous phenomenon, is active.

Hats to Shoes the Very Latest

(By Betty Brown.)

From her bat-winged sailor hat to her cloth top shoes this pleasing maid is garbed according to fashion's latest ruling. Note the stunning coat—its simple, straight lines, the rippling skirt line and the rather full back. It's duvetyn and midnight blue, a most popular color despite the craze for mustard-yellow, burgundy and other glaring shades. The fur trimming is brown martin.

Mother Goose Story Picture at Jefferson

The "grown-ups" as well as the children of Fort Wayne will be given an opportunity on Saturday morning to see one of the best moving pictures ever exhibited in this city. The film, "Modern Mother Goose," is rather a new film, never having been shown outside of Chicago, and is a production by a photoplay company who secured the photoplay rights of this very interesting three-act play (from a book, "Modern Mother Goose," by Helen Hamilton), which was produced and performed under the direction of Harriet Van Bogardus at Cohan's Grand Opera house in Chicago.

The acting company consists of 105 children and several adult players, one of whom is Frederick Russell Clark, who takes the part of the Giant, a part for which he is eminently fitted, having portrayed the character of Ursus in "Quo Vadis" on tour in the spoken drama.

When the actual work of filming "Modern Mother Goose" was begun arrangements were made with the University of Chicago to take several of the scenes in and about the university grounds. The commissioners of both Washington and Lincoln parks gave their permission and several incidents were photographed in their precincts. The management of the Congress hotel was also very gracious in placing their beautiful Elizabethian room at the disposal of the company so that the production abounds in many beautiful and heretofore unphotographed scenes and locations.

A prologue has been introduced which features Ellis Paul, the youngest motion picture star in filmdon, and narrates the story of Tommy, a poor boy who has to go without a birthday party. He wins the regard of a good fairy who for his gentleness rewards him by transporting him to the edge of Gooseland where he can see into the realm presided over by Mother Goose and King Cole. Then the story unfolds showing the adventures of the children of the Old Woman Who Lived in the Shoe.

The children are transported through space by Mother Goose on the back of one of her trained geese to the Moon garden of Mistress Mary where are introduced the various well known celebrities such as Tom, Tom, the Piper's Son, Little Jack Horner, Jack-be-Nimble, Wee Willie Winkie, the Four Maids of Perth, and all the others who have endeared themselves to the youth of our land. After the games in the Moon garden, Mother Goose takes her departure, warning the children to watch out for the Giant who lives near and who will steal them if they overstay the midnight hour. The children beg for one more game and promptly at the stroke of twelve the Giant arrives and captures the children and carries them to his castle.

The Kings of Gooseland are notified that the children have been stolen and upon being summoned by King Cole they pledge their fealty to the King and promise not to rest until the children are restored. The Giant from his tower observes the approach of the kings and their retinues and goes out to meet them unarmed. He is overcome eventually and taken into King Cole's courtroom where the celebrated fiddlers charm him with their playing. Finally his hard heart is softened and Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines goes to rescue the children with pageantry and dancing. The Giant shaves off his beard and becomes the guardian of all the children of Gooseland.

This wonderfully interesting film will be shown at the Jefferson theater Saturday morning at two performances, 9:00 and 10:30, under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Kindergarten association. Since this is an expensive film, and the association hopes to make a little money for its treasury, everybody is asked to "Boost for Mother Goose."

For Girl Who Dances

(By Betty Brown.)

The dance frock has become almost a "necessity of life." Here's one that may be of silk voile or cobwebby lace—the lines, not the material, give it distinction.

The model is Delft blue velvet and champagne color chiffon. The chiffon is set in small pleats to give the effect of a pleated waist. The yoke is elaborately embroidered in metallic embroidery in half a dozen bright colors.

PICKING OUT AND COOKING THE TURKEY.

By Biddy Bye.

The perfect turkey weighs about ten pounds. There is danger of drying out a smaller turkey in roasting.

The wings of a young turkey are soft and pliable, the feet supple, legs smooth, breast bone not rigid. The eyes, though glazed, should not be sunken.

An over-fat turkey does not cook well. The fat on the breast injures the quality of the meat.

Singe the fowl by going over it with a lighted twist of paper.

If the turkey is stuffed the day before roasting, rub a little lemon juice and salt into the skin and keep in a cold place.

Place the turkey in the pan, breast down, and roast one hour, then turn. Cook a turkey 20 minutes to the pound and baste often.

Send the turkey to the table on the largest platter in the house to aid the carver.

The intense heat developed by high power incandescent lamps has led to the invention of a socket which is said to be proof against any temperature.

BIDDY BYE GIVES POINTERS IN REMODELING MILLINERY.

[By Biddy Bye.]

Clever women who can remodel dresses often hestitate to make over hats, which is unfortunate, this season, because women do wachieve their best millinery effects by the number of their hats rather than their elaborateness.

Band boxes often contain marvelous possibilities for the manufacture of some of these extra chapeaux. As a rule the amateur milliner can get the best results with an intricate structure such as a variation of the velvet tam.

Given a good velvet brimmed hat of last year, either of the two models pictured today may be constructed. If the hat has a sailor brim, it can be completely changed in appearance by the addition of a puff about the crown. The edges of the puff can be concealed beneath a band of silver ribbon.

If the brim of the old hat is passe or unbecoming it can be removed and a new shirred flare added. If the upward and backward line is cleverly copied the result will be the very latest style of turban.

JOB-HUNTERS NUMEROUS.

Candidates for Appointive Places Coming to the Front.

Indianapolis, Nov. 24.—Candidates for various appointive positions under the state officers-elect, especially in connection with the coming session of the legislature, are appearing rapidly.

W. R. Jinnett, Rush county, is a candidate for chaplain of the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, which carries a salary of $1,800 a year, he has announced. He was a representative in the 1915 legislature.

Four veterinarians have been mentioned for the position of state veterinarian. They are Dr. C. I. Fleming, Terre Haute; Dr. R. C. Julian, Delphi; Dr. T. A. Walsh, Brazil, and Dr. Helvis, Connersville.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels, the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

GET THERE AND BACK AIR SQUADRON MOTTO

American Aviators With Pershing's Force Are Making Good.

Field Headquarters American Punitive Expedition in Mexico, Nov. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—"Get there and back," is the motto of the punitive expedition's aero squadron. Censorship restrictions have placed an almost impenetrable hedge about the army aviators, but it may be said the squadron has lived up to its motto.

Flights are not begun at sea level, where the propeller blades can grip the air, but at a height of 5,000 to 7,000 feet, where the atmosppere is thin. The mountains, canons and sun-baked plains plus the altitude, combine to produce air currents and pockets that are a constant source of peril.

In one case a pilot went through that nightmare of all aviators, a spiral nose dive. The machine was flying at an altitude of 5,000 feet, which is more than 10,000 above sea level, when it struck an air pocket. Clouds obscured the pilot's vision and he had no idea where he was. When he realized that manipulation of his controls produced no effect, he glanced at his compass. It was turned sideways, indicating that his plane was falling with its wings at right angles to the earth. Carefully he reversed his controls, fearing that too quick a reverse would crumple the planes. Several times he did that. At last he felt them take hold.

Just then the clouds thinned and he saw the earth not more than 500 feet beneath him. He had fallen like a plummet at least 4,000 feet.

Another pilot at an altitude of several thousand feet early one morning noticed a sheet of flame shoot from the hood of his machine. Startled, he began to volplane down, seeking a place to land. He throttled down the motor and the flame receded. When he gave the engine gas a few moments later to regain momentum, the flame reappeared. Several times this occurred. Finally he glided to earth and got out to inspect the aeroplane. Everything seemed in good shape. There were no signs of fire. The flame he had seen had been the rays of the early morning sun gleaming on the highly polished, red blades of his propeller.

AUTO BANDITS ACTIVE.

Delphos, Ohio, Nov. 24.—Automobile bandits have been working successfully in Henry county for several weeke and have broken in several stores and escaped with several thousand dollars' worth of merchandise.

A motion picture camera that uses glass plates instead of films and also can be used to project pictures has been invented in Europe for amateurs.

The 1,606,019,560 eggs New Yorkers eat in a year, laid end to end, would reach more than twice around the world, and the annual egg bill is $50,000,000.

Other Uses for Bridal Gowns

[By Betty Brown.]

The bride of today wears her bridal robe occasionally to dances and dinners. One of these simple wedding gowns is this designed by Mme. Grosfield of the Fashion Art League of America.

It's cotton net, charming material for a youthful bride, and the trimming is silver lace. The fitted bodice is silver lace. The tucks on the skirt are stitched in silver and silver stitching delicately decorates bodice and sleeves.

The foundation slip of net is stitched in silver and ornamented with silver bows. The net train is attached at the shoulder line. When train and veil are removed the wedding frock becomes a dancing frock. The veil is tulle arranged on the head in the form of a helmet.

"I Never Saw Anything To Equal It"

It's the bigest furniture value I ever saw advertised in my twenty years' experience." That's what a visiting furniture man said the other day when we showed him this combination and told him how low we were going to sell it. "If the people of this town understand real value, you won't have enough on hand to satisfy the demand." That was his closing remark. Personally we do not know of a single case where a dining room combination of this sort ever sold for so little and it is just another example of the big things this store is doing.

The Massive Solid Oak Extension Table

The table is just as pictured, made of the finest genuine oak and built on the true mission lines; has a very large solid pedestal, with heavy massive legs. The design conveys immediately to the observer that the table is one of genuine worth. The top extends to six feet and will accommodate eight people if necessary. It is all finished perfectly in either golden oak or fumed oak.

The Six Leather Seat Dining Room Chairs

They are of a conventional design. There are dozen of designs very similar to them, but here's the difference. These chairs are upholstered with genuine leather box seat, and we can truthfully say that this is the first time that genuine leather seat chairs were ever included in a combination offer of this sort at anywhere near the price for which this complete outfit will sell tomorrow.

The Illustration Is An Exact Reproduction

PARLIAMENT CAN HARDLY DENY VOTE

Work of English Women Outside Home Will Emphasize Claim.

London, Nov. 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The saying that woman's place is in the home has little application in war time. There are now in the British Isles 3,219,000 women employed outside their own homes. It is generally recognized that their rally to work 'in the national interest" is going to make it difficult for parliament to refuse the demand for suffrage which will be renewed when hostilities end.

During the first two years of war the increase of women workers, exclusive of purely feminine occupations, was 866,000. Of these 766,000 directly replaced male labor. In other words more than three-quarters of a million women left their homes to release that number of men for military service. In most instances the women went into the munition plants, where a considerable number of them have given up their lives in "doing their bit."

There seems to be no limit to the class of work women can do. At first it seemed strange to see girl conductors on the buses, girl window-cleaners, van drivers and messengers. But as the war progressed the field broadened and now even in building, mining and quarrying scores of women are employed. The metal trades also have claimed their share of the new industrial army. It must be understood that this is not an army in skirts. As a matter of fact skirts are worn for the most part only in those occupations which bring women in touch with the public. In most of the factories and shops, the breweries and the railway yards, jumpers and regulation overalls are the approved costume. The bus and tram conductors, or "conductresses", are jaunty in their neat blue tunics and skirts reach just below the knees—low enough to overlap close fitting black leather puttees. There is seldom a glimpse of stocking. The bus companies issued an order recently that no silk hosiery should be worn.

It is stated that probably 100,000 of the women "war workers" have been recruited from those formerly engaged in purely feminine occupations—domestics, dressmakers, milliners, etc. The servant problem is becoming more and more acute, for the demand for munition workers is increasing day by day, and the wages offered are far beyond the dreams of avarice to a majority of the English domestics.

The number of women employed in railway work has increased more than 200 per cent. Ordinarily the railway posts open to women were clerkships and carriage-cleaning tasks. Now there are women ticket collectors, porters, engine cleaners and workshop laborers. In Glasgow and some other cities women are being tried out as tram drivers or motorwomen.

Interesting statistics regarding woman's part in war work have been collected by the employment bureau of the board of trade. The number of women recruited to industrial occupations between July, 1914, and July, 1916, was 362,000. Of this number, 263,000 directly replaced men. In commercial occupations the increase in the number of women workers was 198,000, while the number of women replacing men in this class was 201,000. This apparent discrepancy is accounted for by the transfer of women from the feminine side to the male side of the establishments. The increase in women clerks amounts to only 46,000, all of whom, however, have replaced men.

There has been much more discussion lately as to whether the city woman is a success on the farm and the point is far from being settled. Nevertheless 66,000 more women are working steadily at agriculture today than in July, 1914. In 1914 there were only 2,000 women employed in government arsenals and dockyards. Now there are over 70,000. The English breweries formerly employed 8,000 women. Now they have 18,000. And so it goes through all the industries.

For awhile the industrial post war problems are going to offer much food for reflection, and, to be amicably solver, will require an intelligent skill of direction and "square dealing" equal to the best thought and energy put forward in the war itself.

THE NEW METHOD

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, over-working the sick kidneys, hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty water between meals and take a single Anuric tablet before each meal for a while.

Simply ask your favorite druggist for Anuric if you aren't feeling up to the standard. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, dropsy, begin immediately this treatment with Anuric.

The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's great Institution have thoroughly tested this prescription and have been with one accord successful in eradicating these troubles and in most cases absolutely curing the diseased kidneys.

Patients having once used Anuric at the institution have repeatedly sent back for more. Such a demand has been created that Doctor Pierce decided to put Anuric in the drug stores of this country, in a ready-to-use form. It will be their own fault if those suffering from uric acid troubles do not take advantage of this wonderful remedy. And to show his sincere faith, this prescription is sold under a guarantee to any person who has taken a full box and has not been helped.—Advertisement.

HIRAM JOHNSON NOW LOOMING VERY LARGE

Even Chairman Willcox Has Heard of California Man, Perhaps.

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Hiram W. Johnson, junior senator from California—that is a new title to which the country will soon become accustomed. "Governor" Johnson has graduated into the United States senate.

According to political precedents, Johnson has emerged from local politics into the national game. In theory Johnson did that four years ago when he was nominated for vice president on the progressive party ticket. But he didn't, in fact, because hardly anybody knew about it; Roosevelt and Taft were making so much noise, the voice of Johnson could hardly be heard.

This time Johnson has had the limelight all to himself. Who carried the state that carried the election? Our cheer-leader responds—JOHNSON! Even New York has heard his name; and by this time it is not impossible that somebody has told Mr. Willcox (the gentleman who managed Judge Hughes' campaign).

California voted for Johnson on the senatorial issue almost unanimously. There are a few people—experts in politics—who may remember the name of the man who ran against Johnson—and it was not Francis J. Heney. Also Johnson carried California for Wilson. He says he didn't, but he is just keeping his "party regularity" on straight. It was the snub to Johnson by Hughes and his managers that turned the great bulk of progressive voters in California from Hughes to Wilson, and nothing that Johnson or State Chairman Chester Rowell can say will make anyone who knows the California situation believe otherwise.

Hiram W. Johnson is registered in California as a progressive. He was the regular republican nominee also for the senate. He is in fact the entire progressive-republican party of California; and that includes most of the voters of that state.

The real reason why Johnson looms so large is that he has performed as a progressive. There are many of that persuasion who have talked. Johnson had the courage, after he was elected governor, to do just what he said he would do when he was campaigning.

His first job, as everybody remembers, was to kick the Southern Pacific railroad out of politics. His second was to carry out the promises in the progressive platform.

This was some considerable undertaking, but Johnson went through with it. First, he had to get a legislature in sympathy with his program. He had to kick the Southern Pacific and the public service corporation influences out of the legislature. But he did that; and after a while he got the legislature, so it would do all he told it to and then would beg the privilege of doing something more. With the legislature properly tamed, Johnson went at the job of delivering the real goods. He put over all the popular government features of the progressive platform first—the initiative, referendum and recall, and all those things. He reformed the ballot, and did away with voting under party emblems in state and local elections. He got good primary laws and corrupt practice acts. He set up a real railroad and public service commission. He got the civil service on the merit system, took the judiciary out of partisan politics and cleaned up the state institutions. He next got a good employers liability law, a blue-sky law, an industrial accident commission, and then cleaned up the prisons and penal schools. He attacked the unemployment problem and some other tough knots and did some good work toward their ultimate solution, and altogether he got the state so well cleaned up (comparatively speaking) that it had become quite necessary for him either to get into some bigger job or to go back to the practice of law.

Will Johnson be the progressive-republican candidate for president in 1920? Select a president from California? And neglect the pivotal states of New York and Indiana? Ask Willcox (the gentleman who managed Judge Hughes' campaign). By now he may have a guess.

WAR HITS ORGANIZED LABOR STUNNING BLOW

Membership in Austria is Showing Tremendous Reduction.

Vienna, Nov. 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The war has hit the trades and organized labor of Austria a blow that is almost stunning. The total membership has been reduced to 177,133 from 415,195, the figure in 1913; thirty of the fifty-two organizations that are banded together in the so-called "imperial commission" have less than a thousand members apiece now, and the income of about half of the associations have been so reduced that they were exceeded by expenditures.

The reduction in the membership of the unions not only applies to men, some 200,000 of whom have been called to the colors, but to women as well, of whom 40 per cent of the old number have left the organizations. Some trades, such as roofers and paper box makers, now have only twenty-six and fifteen members respectively left. The big metal workers and textile trades have now only 38,000 and 29,000 members left.

Of course with the reduction in membership there has been a corresponding decrease in the sums paid out for "war support," so that the various trades in 1915, for example, had to expend but little over a hundred thousand dollars in this way, as against $630,000 in 1914.

Similarly the incomes dropped, so that the imperial commission in 1915 took in, through its 52 organizations, but one million dollars in 1915 against $1,650,000 in 1914 and two millions in 1913. Even with lessened membership, however, the trades still have as much in their treasuries today as they had in 1913.

SOLDIERS ENJOY ART EXHIBIT AT FRONT

Frenchmen Contribute Work Done at Odd Moments in Service.

French Front, Nov. 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—An exposition of "Art at the Front" composed of the creations of soldiers of the French army now on view at Campiegne, includes contributions from every branch of the service.

Pictures in oils and water colors, colored crayons and pencil, charcoal and ...nt wood are displayed side by side ...h statuettes carved out of chalk or ... stone or modelled in plaster color... to represent nature. Metal objects ...e of shell cases, hammered in beau... designs to form flower holders and ...s, and splinters of steel shells made ... paper weights and inkstande, rifle ...ridges transformed into pen and pen... holders, paper cutters, thimbles and ...er useful things, fuses made into ...ger and napkin rings, fancy work ...skets fashioned out of the long wicker ...ses in which loaded projectiles for the ...big guns are conveyed to the firing line ... all give evidence that art goes together with war.

Many of the pictures exhibit a strength which can never be found in any academical salon. They all represent objects of actuality as seen by the men themselves and reproduced in such a way as to bring home to those who see them the conditions under which the soldiers live in face of the enemy. ...ere is no idealism or fantasy in the ...n's work—all is realism. This, however, does not prevent many of the ...rtists from portraying humor in its broadest sense, for the soldier in the field is very keen on the comic side, and some of the caricatures are excellent.

Few people have had the opportunity of seeing the exposition, owing to the difficulty of reaching Compiegne under the restrictions of war time, but arrangements have been made for the transfer of the collection to Paris and possibly later to America. It is probable that the work of the soldiers of other French armies will be joined together with this exhibit.

The soldier-artists are content with very small recompense for their works. They have given them up in order to provide themselves with a few small comforts during the coming winter, on condition that purchasers make a contribution towards the assistance of their wounded and invalid comrades.

There are works by winners of the Prize of Rome of the French academy who were mobilized while pursuing their studies, and some of those in later years may come to be regarded as masterpieces.

THE KISSOGRAPH—IT'S THE LATEST.

THE KIND OF KISS ONE WOMAN GIVES ANOTHER
THE LOVER'S KISS
THE VAMPIRE'S KISS
KISS OF PASSION
THE MARRIED COUPLE'S KISS

The "Kissograph" is the latest. It is obtained by photographing a kiss not by making a picture of the osculatory operation, but by actually photographing the sweet thing itself.

You thought kisses were audible, not visible. You were wrong. They are quite visible to the unaided eye once you have learned how to locate them. Here's how:

Rouge the lips. Plaster the rouge on heavily. Then kiss a piece of plate glass. The glass is transparent, the kiss is not, You can easily see the reddish print of the kiss on the glass; rouge being red, photographs black.

Easy—eh? Now listen to what Miss Daisy Dugas, inventor of the "kissograph," has to say. She is an actress and thinking of patenting it for a Valentine stunt.

"The kiss," says Miss Dugas, "is a symbol of human emotion. You can read a person's character in his kiss just as readily as you can his handshake. Several varieties of love are expressed in osculation. And you can study human nature by watching lip salutations of different individuals.

"Take for instance, when two women meet. Their kiss is a quick, sketchy little affair, a mere dab, you might say.

"The kiss a mother gives her baby, while gentle, is firm and warm, and the one she allots her husband as he leaves for the office may be more in the nature of a smack.

"When recorded in a kissograph, the lover's kiss is a large, firm imprint, its size depending upon the warmth of emotion. The vampire kiss, long and lingering, and the kind that uses up so much film in present day movies, registers itself in a hard, round impression when photographed.

I'M INNOCENT, SAYS WOMAN NAMED IN CASE

Mrs. Krucker, Thrust Into McDaniel Tragedy, Makes Statement.

BY HONOR FANNING.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 23.—"The woman in the case"—the woman thrust into the McDaniel case by the charges of McDaniel's prosecutors—asserts she is entirely innocent; just as McDaniel himself, the prosecuting attorney on trial for the murder of his wife, maintains his guiltlessness and denies that Mrs. McDaniel ever threatened divorce proceedings.

The woman is Mrs. Dagmar Krucker, divorced wife of a small-salaried clerk, herself a statuesque, handsome woman, well dressed, and the mother of a 13-year-old girl in school.

At her father's home Mrs. Krucker dictated this statement to may that Sentinel readers might know her side of the tangled tale of tragedy:

By Mrs. Dagmar Krucker.

Joseph. Everyone knows me. Everyone knows my life as it was lived in childhood, in girlhood, in womanhood. My life speaks for itself.

There are no hidden chapters in my life. Gossips are tearing my character to pieces; they say cruel things about me. One innocent woman has been murdered; another woman's life is being ruined by suspicion and slander.

No one feels more deeply than I about this terrible tragedy!

I knew Hattie Moss—Mrs. McDaniel—since our high school days. We were chums then and confidants. We were chums and confidants at the time of her death last July.

After we both married we were neighbors; our children played together. My little Margaret and her daughter, Helen, share the same seats in school today. Our husbands are friends, and brother Elks and brother Shriners.

We were together almost every day. We belonged to the same clubs; we shared the same pleasure.

Hattie Moss was the most straightforward, courageous woman I ever knew. She would not pretend friendship for me if she was not my friend!

Now, they say she was jealous of me—that I wrecked her home; they link my name everyday with this tragedy.

I am innocent!

In the name of my baby girl, I am innocent of wronging my friend!

WOMEN NOW GIVING MUCH AID IN BELGIUM

Assist in Administrative Affairs With Gen. Von Bissing's Men.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Women are now rendering invaluable aid in the administrative work of Belgium; Governor General von Bissing having availed himself of as many female employes as were obtainable.

Several hundred of them have been appointed as hygienic instructors, as sanitary inspectors of homes and factories and as enforcers of the sanitary and other regulations introduced by the German regime. The women also give special attention to measures for comating the social evil.

At the outset it was found very difficult to discover women trained to this kind of work. They have, however, proved themselves extraordinarily adaptable, and have come to be what General von Bissing describes as a humanizing link between Belgian population and the governing machinery.

The system of social work evolved in Belgium has succeeded to an extent that it is felt it may become eventually a model for other countries, and a stimulus for such work in Germany itself. The women have proved so effective as intermediaries between the bureaucracy and the people that it is now being urged that in future every Landrat (the highest administrative official of a Kreis or county) should have on his staff a specially trained woman, whose duties it would be to look after the condition of the poor and to watch the operation of laws enacted for their benefit.

Those who have watched the activity of women in Belgium believe firmly that woman's activity in social directions is to be immeasurably increased in Germany. As an indication of this there is the recent opening of a department for the higher social education of women at the administrative high school of Cologne, an institution for training city officials, where the women are taught to do social welfare work.

URGES EVERYONE TO QUICKLY GET ON WATER WAGON

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

MAYOR UNDERGOES MINOR OPERATION

His Honor Goes Under Surgeon's Knife at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mayor Hosey was operated upon at the St. Joseph hospital at noon Friday for hernia. He had rallied from the ordeal late Friday afternoon and seemed to give promise of rapid recovery. Dr. Miles F. Porter performed the operation.

Attaches at the city hall knew nothing of plans for the operation until they were told by the mayor's clerk Friday morning that Hosey had gone to the hospital.

Mayor Hosey has been suffering for some time. He was told to prepare for the operation on Tuesday. He went to the hospital Thursday night. The operation was started just at noon Friday and seems to have been very successful. Dr. Porter says there is little doubt of the mayor's speedy recovery.

Charles J. Steiss, secretary to the park commission, is improving at te St. Joseph hospital from an operation of a similar nature.

NOVICES START LONG TRIP OVER HOT SANDS

Seventy-five of Them See Mysteries of Shrine Ceremonial.

More than seventy-five novices started at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon on their four hours' journey across the sands of the Sahara, being shown enroute the mysteries of the Orient. The festivities were held at the Scottish Rite cathedral, Clinton and Washington streets, in celebration of the homecoming ceremonial of Mizpah temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The officers of the local organization of Shriners, headed by Byron H. Somers, illustrious potentate, and members of the team, led the large class along the perilous way, pointing out to them the numerous places of interest. At 6 o'clock Friday evening the novices will have made the initiatory trip and will at that time be full-fledged nobles of the Shrine.

The homecoming ceremonial brought hundreds of Shriners from various parts of the state to Fort Wayne and although the weather was not as pleasant as it might have been, those in attendance enjoyed the day immensely.

At 6 o'clock this evening a sumptuous banquet will be given. After the banquet, with their heads covered with the significant fezes, the Shriners will march to the Palace theater, where they will enjoy, with their ladies, the splendid bill that is being given there this week. The entire lower floor has been reserved for the evening.

AND THE END IS NOT IN SIGHT!

RAILROADS BLAMED FOR COAL SHORTAGE

Fort Wayne dealers are blaming the railroads for the present coal shortage, while local railroad officials characterize the charge as ridiculous and absurd.

However, a story comes from Andrews that may throw some light on the situation. According to the agent in Andrews the railroad had seventy-one carloads of "slack" coal stored on the siding there last week and he said that a few of the cars had been moved since. He is quoted as saying that the cars were consigned to a Detroit manufacturing firm, but had been held up several days because of a lack of motive power. The charge is made that this road had 220 yards of coal stored in the Andrews yards. Twenty of the cars were loaded with anthracite coal, it is said, and the others with bituminous coal.

J. W. Dawson, general manager of the Kelly's Creek Colliery company, in a circular that is being widely circulated charges one road with deliberately diverting coal cars from their proper routes and sending them to territory where officials of that road are more interested in the coal business than anything else, thus causing a car shortage.

Fort Wayne residents who are paying $8 a ton for Pocahontas coal are more concerned in having the cause remedied than in ascertaining what the cause is. The recent warm weather, the dealers say, has served to alleviate the situation in Fort Wayne and all are hopeful that the famine-like conditions will be speedily overcome. The dealers of Fort Wayne declare that their orders, placed in endless succession at the mines go undelivered because the mining companies cannot find the cars in which to transport the fuel. Much of the coal that has come into Fort Wayne during the past few days has come from jobbers- speculators, in other words—and that the price has been held at an exorbitant rate by these selling agents. The dealers furthermore say that the speculators get the first chance at the mines and thus the local agencies are left completely at the mercy of price boosters who are taking advantage of the railroads' alleged pursuit of higher freight rates.

TOOK CANNED GOODS.

Two freight cars in the Wabash railroad yards, were broken into Thursday night, police have been notified. Several crates of canned goods and a few boxes of cigars were taken. City detectives are aiding Wabash Railroad Detective Uhrig, working on the case.

With but a slight increase in size, a watch has been provided with a dry battery and electric lamp so that it can be read at night.

STREET CARS HALTED BY SHORTAGE OF COAL

Natchez, Miss., Nov. 24.—Scarcity of coal is responsible for the shutting down today of street car service here, according to officials of the local power company. The supply of coal on hand and available in the future, it is said, will be needed for production of light and other purposes than the operation of street cars.

SENSATIONAL RUMORS PERSIST AT CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Revival of sensational rumors of renewal of ruthless submarine warfare by Germany and consequent action by the United States were met today by the statement of officials here that the situation, while delicate, was absolutely unchanged and would be until the United States had gathered all the evidence on recent attacks.

The state department still is waiting the result of investigation and meanwhile officials reiterate that the position of the United States as laid down in the last correspondence with Germany is unchanged.

It was made clear that a severance of diplomatic relations would follow any violation of the pledges from Berlin.

IN THE CHURCHES

VOTE TO CONTINUE REVIVAL MEETINGS

When the prudential board of the First Baptist church met after the services last night the members unanimously voted to continue the meetings which are being held at that church for another week. The work done by Rev Charles E. Watkins, the evangelist, and Fred Butler, soloist and choir leader, is just beginning to show up and the directors of the church's affairs decided that the present was no time to close the services.

"Fooled by a South Wind" proved an ideal subject for Rev. Watkins to preach on and he delivered a sermon that surpassed all his work in this city so far.

An enthusiastic song service was led by Fred Butler. He taught the audience the new song for which the words were written by Albert Carter Polhamus and the melody composed by himself. He also promised to introduce another song by the same young man and the same "old" man in the near future.

At the South Wayne church tonight, Rev. Walfred Lindstrom will preach on the topic "No Room for Jesus." Tonight will be the last week night service at that church since the meetings will not be continued there another week. Great work has been done in this church.

Tonight Rev. Alfred D. Merrell at tabernacle will preach on "Excuses." There will be no service at this church Saturday night, the members of the tabernacle having accepted an invitation to unite with the members of the Immanuel church. At this meeting the candidates for the church will be baptized.

CLOSE WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN.

The great victory won by the Plymouth Congregational church workers in conducting their whirlwind campaign for $30,000 in three days, was celebrated in a big "jollification" in the form of an oyster supper, the "feed," which was followed by speeches by Charles Meigs, D. Burns Douglass, Robert Koerber, B. Paul Mossman and others.

Although the full $30,000 has not been secured as yet, several members of the church are out of town and have had no chance to pledge anything towards completing the fund and it is expected that when they are all heard from the entire sum will have been raised.

GROVES TO SPEAK AT WATERWAY MEETING

Word was received in Fort Wayne Friday from Washington that Avery M. Groves, secretary of the Erie & Michigan Deep Waterways association, would deliver an address at the thirteenth annual meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors congress, which will be held in Washington, D. C., December 6, 7 and 8.

The information came in a letter from Secretary S. A. Thompson, of the congress, to T. J. Logan, treasurer of the local organization. Mr. Groves will discuss the Erie and Michigan deep waterway project, final hearing on which will be held in Washington, December 7.

In Mr. Thompson's letter it was suggested that a memorial to the late Hon. Perry A. Randall should be adopted. Mr. Randall was a director in the national congress and always took an active interest in all of its deliberations.

The local association will be represented by S. F. Bowser, president; Avery M. Groves, secretary; Frank B. Taylor, T. E. Ellison and C. B. Williams, of Huntington.

LEAVES FOR OREGON.

King, former district agent of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company, left Fort Wayne Friday for Portland, Oregon, where he will take up his new duties as general agent for the company for the entire state of Oregon. PRIESTS GIVE TOTAL ABSTINENCE PLEDGES

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Every priest ordained in the Chicago archdiocese of the Roman Catholic church pledges himself to total abstinence for five years, Archbishop G. W. Mundelein stated today. The archbishop said he already has put this rule into force and intends to exact the pledge in all future ordinations.

"If the young priests keep the total abstinence pledge for five years," he said, "it is easy to see they are likely to continue the practice for the rest of their lives."

CALLED THE "SOUL WIDOW" OF EMPEROR.

FRAU SCHRATT.

Frau Schratt may be called the soul widow of Emperor Francis Joseph. European royalty has known her as the actress who made life pleasant for the aged emperor after the assassination of his wife, Empress Elizabeth in 1898.

Gifted, energetic and clever, Frau Schratt, who may be now past 60, never imposed upon the emperor. She refused to take advantage of his admiration for her, did not intrigue against him and refused nine of every ten presents he sent her.

For forty years Vienna society affectionately called the emperor "Herr Schratt," while Frau Schratt was known as his affinity.

Cotterell Shots

Christ was earth's lowliest guest, yet He was heaven's richest and best.

We may overpower an enemy, we may experience what the world calls victory, but is it victory in the sight of God?

We are too much inclined to say a man is a success after he has gathered together a lot of this world's goods and at the same time knows nothing about the love of Christ.

We are not condemning the making of money. We admire a man with a great business capacity, or with an ability to make and save money, but this great republic is suffering not because it needs less money, but more manhood to use it.

The editor of Wall street's journal said: The superior need of the hour is not a better money or how to accumulate more of it, but how to raise the standard of Christian living.

A true consecrated business man is to be greatly admired by all.

We are willing to endure all kinds of hardships to gain a worldly reputation, but we fall short too many times for Jesus.

The Master does not say come unto me because I am a great teacher, but come unto me because I am meek and lowly.

The Master does not say come unto me and I will give you more wages and shorter hours, but come that souls may be abundant, come to bind up broken hearts.

If There's Going to Be Roast Turkey at Your House

Why not have that noble bird cooked in such a way that your guests will say: "How tender! How delicious! What a wonderful flavor!"

There were a few rare old cooks that used to know how to cook a turkey that way in the range—a few!

They did it with the basting spoon and care, and wearing and worrying, and unceasing basting, and it was a matter of pride when they succeeded.

You can cook a turkey that way every time by using a scientific turkey roaster made for the especial purpose.

The Reed Self-Basting Roaster is arranged in such a way that the juices of the turkey arising in the form of vapor condenses on the cover and drips back on the roast, basting it continuously. This roaster is made of enamel and is priced at $2.50.

The Savory Roaster, an old favorite, is one highly approved by good housekeepers, by domestic science experts, and by all our customers who have used it. With proper care it is sure to roast the turkey, well basted, well browned, deliciously flavored and with all the juices preserved. It comes in various sizes, $1.00 to $2.75.

"Make Room" Sale of Sewing Machines

We still have a few floor samples that we must dispose of in making room for the Christmas stock.

Some machines are slightly marred, and there are only one or two of some models. These mean a great saving to you. Come in and let us interest you in this line.

We buy your old machine on the cabinet "The Free" and allow you $12.00 on same—pay the remainder out at your own convenience.

All prices; all woods; all styles. We want your belt, oil and needle trade.

One million dollars for joy!

That's cheap, dirt cheap.

Consider Europe at war. There, billions of dollars are being spent for the direst misery that ever befell the world.

Billions of dollars for misery and destruction!

Oh, if we could only escape the thought of the terror that is ravaking mankind across the ocean! If we could only keep our consciences clear of the charges future generations will heap upon the humanity of today.

We look eagerly for relief. But we must have an excuse for it these days.

What a boon is a presidential election!

Then we find our relief. We forget for the day all sorrows and worries that enshroud civilization and we live.

We live, we sing and dance and laugh—for just one million dollars.

At a time when billions are being spent for misery, only one million for joy is like the squeak of a mouse midst the roar of cannon.

PITTSBURG SPECIAL DERAILED AT FOREST

Passenger train No. 136 on the Pennsylvania, known as the "Pittsburg Special," went off the derail at the Big Four crossing at Forest, O., at 5:15 o'clock Friday morning. The train consisted of the engine, a baggage car, a special combination express and mail car, two Pullman sleeping cars and a coach, and it was entirely derailed. The engine plowed along a considerable distance and then turned over on its side, but all of the cars remained upright and reports of the accident received at Supt. Schroll's office said nobody was hurt. Later it was learned that Engineer Harry Wagner sustained a slight cut on the forehead and a bruised knee.

One of the cars was thrown over to the north, blocking the westbound track, and the engine and train blocked the eastbound track, completely blocking traffic at that point until about 9 o'clock. The engine is pretty badly damaged and there was 300 feet of track torn up, but the damage to the cars was trifling. The wreck crew was summoned at 5:30 and made a record run to the scene, covering the 101 miles in less than two hours. The fact that every car in the train carried its capacity of passengers and that every one escaped injury is a remarkable instance, considering the extent of the derailment. The rear coach carried about sixty laborers, most of whom were asleep when the car left the rails. Arrangements were soon made for sending trains around the wreck, over the westbound track, and the repairs to the eastbound track will be completed this evening.

No. 136, the unfortunate train, was in charge of the following crew: Conductor C. C. Mains, Engineer Harry Wagner, Fireman A. R. Dickey, Flagman J. M. Fletcher, Brakeman H. Edwards and Baggageman John Eckelson. Except the slight injuries to Engineer Wagner, mentioned above, all escaped.

The only train delayed by the wreck was the westbound Manhattann limited, No. 23, which was east of the scene when the accident to No. 136 occurred. The limited is due here at 10:15 in the morning; it did not reach the city Friday until 12:30 p. m. Other westbound passenger trains, Nos. 5, 25 and 29, were from a half to an hour late, the delay being due to the storm and strong wind which prevailed in the east last night. All of these trains had passed Forest before the derailment occurred.

WORST TIE-UP IN HISTORY.

Nickel Plate Has 300 Loaded Cars in Cleveland Yards.

(Cleveland Plain-Dealer.)

Old freight men on local railroads are unable to recall a time when the freight tie-up situation in the large terminals of the country was as serious as at the present time they said today in discussing the Cleveland situation where hundreds of cars of freight are held on storage tracks awaiting to be unloaded. The Nickel Plate alone has between three hundred and four hundred cars of less than carload shipments in the Cleveland tie-up it was stated.

Because of the inability to handle the shipments an embargo on all less than carload shipments to Cleveland was placed in effect on the Nickel Plate early in the present week but with a slight improvement in the conditions there this was lifted today.

Detroit is even worse than Cleveland, railroad men said today, shipments of perishable goods which have been offered local roads being refused because of an absolute embargo on less than carload shipments which is in effect there.

AN INTERESTING BOOKLET.

Pennsylvania Issues a Historical Sketch of Country Traversed.

To inform its patrons and the public in general, the Pennsylvania railroad system has issued, in booklet form, an historical and descriptive treatise covering the territory traversed by its lines.

One of the purposes is to set forth the preseint character of the various portions of the territory with reference to industry, mining, agriculture and commerce. The region covered includes the principal sections of the middle states and the central west, together with some portions of the southern states. A brief description is given of all the cities and of the more important towns on the Pennsylvania railroad, East and West of Pittsburg, with the business advantages and achievements of each.

SPRAINED HIS BACK.

W. S. Magsan the Victim of Painful Accident.

As he was manipulating a big wrench yesterday afternoon in the effort to loosen a bolt, W. S. Magsan fell violently to the floor of the Pennsylvania erecting shop when the wrench slipped off the nut. His spine was injured and he could hardly walk when he was assisted to the cab to take him to the Lutheran hospital, where Dr. Budd Van Sweringen attended him. The surgeon does not consider the injury of permanent character.

CALLING ON OLD ASSOCIATES.

A. P. Richardson called at the Pennsylvania motive power offices to see his former associates in railway work this morning. Mr. Richardson is here to attend the Shriner doings, he being a prominent member and also a member of the local Shrine patrol. Mr. Richardson now occupies a responsible position with the Guerney Ball Bearing company, of Jamestown, N. Y., of which A. C. Davis, formerly of the city, is a member of the company.

COMPLETED THE INSPECTION.

Division Engineer R. G. Jones and Master Carpenter H. M. Large, of the G. R. & I., resumed their respective office duties this morning, after a three or four days' inspection trip on the motor car between Richmond and Grand Rapids. C. D. Bunting, assistant division engineer at Grand Rapids, made the trip over the line with Mr. Jones and Mr. Large.

WILL PLAY AT LOGANSPORT.

Emil Steil, a painter at the Pennsylvania shops, who is also one of the best amateur musicians in the city, will take part in a German concert and entertainment at Logansport next Sunday. He is down on the program for some zither selections and songs. Mr. Steil goes to Logansport tomorrow noon and will return Monday.

BLACKSMITH SHOPS CRIPPLED.

Onnly a few of the small "fires" in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop were in operation today because the fan motor burned out at an early hour. About fifteen of the men were sent home, to report at noon, when it was expected to have the motor in operation again, and others were assigned to other work.

HAD HIS EYE INJURED.

E. P. Galland, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, will be off duty a few days, at least, as a result of getting some foreign substance in one of his eyes.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

A. G. Collier is a new laborer in the Pennsylvania machine shop.

O. S. Adams, brass moulder at the Pennsylvania machine shop, is sick and off duty.

Tomorrow Machinist and Mrs. F. E. Slater will go to Crestline, Ohio, to spend Sunday with friends.

C. S. Dominique, operator at nights of one of the cranes in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is off duty on account of sickness.

William Johnson, colored, who took a position in the Pennsylvania erecting shop a week ago, has resigned and will return to New York.

G. R. Wells took sick this morning while at work in the Pennsylvania boiler shop and had to quit work and return to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gebhard, the former employed in the Pennsylvania toolroom, will go to Montpelier, Ind., tomorrow to spend Sunday with their son.

H. S. George, a Pennsylvania painter, is off duty on account of his wife being sick. Painter C. A. Szink is also absent from the shop today on account of sickness.

A. H. Seyor, operator of one of the large wheel lathes in the Pennsylvania machine shop, is on duty again after spending three or four days with friends in the east.

Alfred Borkenstein, assistant ticket agent at the Wabash depot, has adopted a pretty white cat. He found the feline in the office when he reported there for duty this morning and immediately became attached to it.

Elmer Stoll is at his desk in the office of Assistant General Foreman M. W. Kemp, of the Pennsylvania car shops, again after a few days' absence on account of sickness.

LABOR ASKS CONGRESS FOR A RIGID INQUIRY

Wants Action on Holding of Foodstuffs and Coal for High Price.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 24.—A prompt, rigid and full investigation by congress of the holding of foodstuffs and coal "for the purpose of raising prices above the normal rate" was urged in a resolution adopted today by the convention of the American Federation of Labor. It also asked the appointment of a federal commission which should include among its members representatives of organized labor to investigate the whole question of the high cost of living.

The necessity of placing an embargo as far as our international trade agreements will permit on wheat and other foodstuffs until prices thereof return to the figures prevailing before the outbreak of the European war also was urged upon President Wilson and congress by the resolution. The department of justice was urged to immediately institute investigations through federal grand juries in the larger cities of the United States for the purpose of obtaining evidence of alleged illegal conspiracies to compel the payment of "extortionate prices for paper used in the printing industry."

Bulletins are out announcing the increase, which ranges from $5 to $7.50. President Kearney was once a telegraph operator when wages were lower than they are today; the working day schedule was also longer than at present.

FATHER DID NOT STAY FOR THE WAR

Shipped to France, but Is Not Lured to Front—May Work Roads.

Gordon Davis, 24, who now stays with his parents, two miles from Fort Wayne, wrote a farewell post card just before he sailed for France from New York, last June. The message read:

"Good bye. Am sorry for the boy. Going to France. You will never see me again."

But Gorden probably heard war stories during the ocean voyage. He may have noted the swathed and maimed cripples, on the streets of the seacoast city when he reached France. Anyway, he came right back and the next card from him was postmarked, Montreal, Canada. He was soon in Fort Wayne again.

The picture post card sent by Gordon, just before he started for the war zone, was exhibited in police court, Friday morning, to show the intention of the father to desert his four year old son, Dallas.

Davis was charged with child neglect. He was divorced from his wife last May. Then he hastened to New York and took ship. His wife is married again and the small son stays in the home of the wife's parents. Davis was ordered to pay $15, a month, when the divorce was granted in the circuit court. He has paid $7.50 in six months, his mother-in-law says. Davis says he has been ill much of the time since June.

Parents of Davis were also in court. They claimed that Dallas is not getting a suitable home with his other grandparents. Hot words were exchanged. The court baliff rapped for order.

"I cannot settle family differences," Judge Kerr said. "I can only handle this criminal matter. Davis must put up $200 support bond and must pay $15 a month towards keeping his son or go to work on the county roads."

"I will not put up bond for him unless we get the child," father of the man said.

So Davis was taken to the county jail. Judge Kerr will dispose of the case Saturday.

Fined for Assault.

When Raymond Keim, 808 Davis street, went to the rooming house at 339 Holman street, to collect money on a furniture bill Thursday afternoon, argument ensued. Walter Holiday, colored, who rooms in the house, objected to money being paid to Keim. He hit Keim on the jaw. He admitted in police court to striking the collector. Holiday was fined $5 and costs on the charge of assault and battery.

Automobile Aftermath.

W. B. Erick, Spencerville, rural mail carrier, was fined $1 and costs because tail lights were not lit when police found his car standing near the court house, Wednesday night. Erick said the oil lamp at the rear of his machine had burned dry. He had also lost a license tag from his machine, but proved that he had tied it on with twine before he left home. The tag had been lost on the way to Fort Wayne.

Police have not yet arrested Q. McCoy, Jefferson township, who failed to appear in court Thursday morning to answer for having no tail light on his car.

A. W. Grosvenor, surveyor-elect of Allen county, was charged with having no lighted tail lamp when police found his car on Calhoun street Thursday night. Grosvenor said he had examined the lamp just before he left the car and that wind must have extinguished the flame. He was released.

C. E. Ellenwood, also charged with displaying no tail lamp on his machine, pleaded that the light had gone out after he left the automobile. His case will be disposed of on Saturday.

Gambling Case Held Over.

Sentence on Joe Bell, proprietor of the poolroom in the Rich hotel and charged with operating a gambling resort, will hear the verdict of Judge Kerr on his case on Saturday. Bell is at liberty on bond.

Lester Loraine, who claims he lost much money in the pool hall, was the prosecuting witness. Loraine explained how the game of "tonk," much like poker, is played in Bell's place.

Bell admitted having allowed the "tonk" game to be carried on. He was convicted on a gambling charge on Aug. 14, 1914, Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman showed the court. Jail sentence was suspended at that time. Judge Kerr wishes to make a study of the former case before passing sentence on Bell.

Must Walk Home.

It will be a long, cold walk for Edward Ledman, 35, convicted on a charge of public intoxication. He was granted his liberty by Judge Kerr Friday morning providing he will walk back home to Huntington.

"It will require about two days to make the trip and you can think things over," Kerr told Ledman. The man came from Huntington on Monday with $38 in his pocket. He was penniless when arrested Thursday morning.

Will Order Inquest.

Nemo Craneth, 40, the man who told the patrolman that he had invented a "noise expeller for the gasoline engine of a milk separator" when arrested Wednesday, is thought by Judge Kerr to be mentally defective. Craneth rambled inarticulately about "the animal kingdom comes from the drug store" when in court Friday morning. He was ordered to the county infirmary by the court, where he will be held in confinement. Later a commission to investigate his sanity will be appointed.

Other Police Court Cases.

Case against George Allen, charging associating, was dismissed on motion of Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman. Allen is to be one of the prosecuting witnesses in the case against George Donnelly, manager of the rooming apartments on West Main street, and charged with inducing girls to enter an illegal resort.

Jacob Hartman, laborer, met an old friend who had not gladdened his sight for five years, Thursday evening. The friend bought all the drinks, Jacob told the court. Hartman was found in a badly intoxicated state by police late Thursday night. He was released in police court.

Other cases of public intoxication: Paul Clincher, $5; James McLear, $1; Edward Bevington, $1; Louis Walters, $1; William Bowser and Ben Jones were released. John Berbaum will be tried next Wednesday.

NEW EMPRESS AND HER CHILDREN.

The new empress of Austria-Hungary is shown here with her two oldest children. She was the Princess Zita of Parma when she was married to the new emperor in 1911. Prince Francis Joseph Otto, standing, was born in 1912, and Princess Adelaide-Marie, in the empress' lap, in 1914. The third child, Robert Charles Ludwig, was born in February, 1915.

"TOYLAND" JOYLAND ON THE THIRD FLOOR

And it is a right jolly place, too. We know the boys and girls will certainly go there aplenty, but we wonder if the grownups realize that they have a lot of fun by spending a few minutes there, themselves. Just a trip through the toy lanes will bring smiles where frowns are growing.

He came out ahead of the girls in Van Horn school and housewives at the Athanaeum exhibit, in competitions for best preserved fruits and vegetables.

Howard's mother told him how to go about it and he did the rest. Instead of playing in the street after school, he spent the time with the girls at Van Horn preparing his preserves. He put up peas, asparagus, rhubarb and other vegetables and fruits which look fresh and tempting.

Mrs. Eiser is proud of her boy. A younger son won a prize for best cookies exhibited at the school.

"That is hardly the work of a boy," she says, "and Howard likes outdoor sports so well. He peeled every one of those onions he canned one day without the windows open and didn't shed a tear."

But Howard insists he will not be a cook. He cherishes a medal he won at a relay race last year, and he is interested in automobiles and architecture.

SEES PARTISANSHIP AS THING OF PAST

Pacific Northwest Sounds Death Knell of Party in Politics.

Olympia, Wash., Nov. 24.—Has the national political campaign just concluded sounded the death knell of partisanship?

Several hundred thousand voters of this state believe so, at least as far as Washington is concerned.

OLIVER T. ERICKSON.

A volume of petitions for the abolition of party labels in county and state elections, circulated for the next legislature to act upon, gives concrete evidence of this conviction.

The issue was between Wilson and Hughes as individuals and Americans, rather than as democrats and republicans, throughout Washington. The same attitude was taken toward the gubernatorial and congressional contests.

"There never has been a time when the voter has realized the foolishness and dangers of blind partisanship as he does today," said Oliver T. Erickson, Seattle councilman, who filed the non-partisanship initiative petition here.

The petition, which requires 32,000 signatures, does not interfere with partisanship in presidential and congressional elections, but goes merely to state, county and city voting.

"Washington," predicts Erickson, "will be the first state in the union to throw off political slavery.

"We elect our mayor, councilmen and other city officials without asking whether they are democrats, republicans or socialists. And there is no more reason why a governor, state auditor or member of the legislature should be elected on a party label."

Purchasing Agents for Allies Outbid the Dealers in New York.

Positive Identification Is to Await Bryset's Arrival in Nebraska Town.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Positive identification of the man held at Spalding, Neb., on suspicion that he is Jean Crones, wanted in connection with the poisoning of 200 guests at a dinner at the University club last winter, must await the arrival at Spalding of A. J. Bryset, steward of the club, the police said today. Bryset, witht John F. Aiken, a detective sergeant, will reach the Nebraska city tonight.

Chicago authorities are only partly convinced that the man held is the man wanted, other recent reports being that Crones is employed as a chef on a steamer plying between the United States and South American ports.

CO-OPERATE FOR SOCIAL WELFARE

That no man can claim to be entirely independent and that the protection of his home and property depends on the co-operation of his fellow citizens were statements emphasized by W. Charles Dickmeyer, sales manager for the Perfection Biscuit company, in his paper Friday noon at the luncheon of the Quest club.

In government, religion, industry, education, family association and everything that concerns modern life men are co-operating or working together, the speaker asserted. "They co-operate, combine and organize for specific purposes, so that no man lives unto himself." Mr. Dickmeyer was the seventh speaker before the Quest club for the fall and winter season. His talk was in part as follows:

"A farmer may claim to be independent, yet he depends on the co-operation of his fellow citizens for the education of his children, for the building of roads and the establishment of social order. His whole surplus wealth is dependent upon the consumption of his products by others. By means of a system of exchange he is able to appropriate unto himself all the necessaries to sustain and protect him.

Question of Exchange.

"While money rapidly increased the progress in commercial arts, it too finally became too clumsy for so large transactions of exchange and then the credit system came into use which again transformed the process of trade and industry. By the introduction of improved systems of exchange the methods of doing business were greatly changed and consequently the habits of society were likewise influenced. The various changes that have been brought about in the methods of exchange have greatly modified the organization and grouping of societies. They have had a vast influence on social order and social activity.

"All society is organized to the end of mutual service and he who performs a human service is entitled to the reward of such service. The law of survival has always applied to the individual existence and happiness of man. From the very beginning he has been obliged to struggle against the force of nature for existence. There has been a constant struggle for mastery for the purpose of survival which has characterized man's work. Truly, persistent effort has made man. Nor has the struggle been confined to his own existence, but also to the struggle with his fellow men for supremacy. Egotism has characterized man's early struggle and his life has ever been influenced by it.

Is Law of Nature.

"We must, of course, keep in mind that self-interest is the first law of nature. If we hold that fact fast in our minds, we can reason that altruism is a misnomer, for the person who labors for the general good if his class is at the same time laboring for his own good If we are altruistic enough to devote our efforts to the improvement of our community, then we are contributing to our own good and happiness.

"One phase of class association that deserves our particular attention is the association of the leading men of the community toward the end of promoting the common good of that community These associations usually spring up in the smaller cities as booster organizations and as such they have accomplished much good for their community. Teh usually give particular attention to the industrial development of the community. In the past they have been instrumental in bringing new industries by offering non-taxation, cash bonuses or by otherwise subsidizing new industries. However, this manner of securing new business evidently did not prove successful. Still, the seed of this smaller booster organization has grown into the tree of the saner, more businesslike and efficient Commercial club of 1916.

"The present and ever growing demand is that the Commercial club be a leader and not a follower; that it render a service to the community, bring new lines of trade, effect more and larger pay rolls, that it take an interest in securing for the community good service from its local public service corporations and give attention to traffic problems to the end of securing favorable rates and service.

Questions for Commercial Club.

"Questions of sanitation, good roads, good streets, welfare work, housing, city planning, parks, playgrounds, employment and wages are all subjects for the Commercial club. The Commercial club should have for its leaders men willing to make sacrifices and to inspire the members with community pride. They should be men strong enough to impel their members to forget competition, to obliterate sectional lines and forget selfish gains in the desire to serve the highest community ideals.

"That the sociological condition at present are yet far from being perfect was indicated in an emphatic manner when one of the heads of the brotherhood rightly referred to the public as 'the carcass' and to the two strong classes as the 'vultures.' There are certain classes who have developed more power than they deserve and when other classes become sufficiently well organized they will place a check on the abuse of power on the part of such organizations. Our life is a constant striving toward higher and yet higher ideals. To anyone who will stop to give thought to those questions, they will reveal a spirit of progress that is characteristic of this generation.

"I admit some of my thoughts are idealistic, but it is worth something to give expression to idealistic thoughts. There never was a castle buile without an air castle. Dwelling upon such thoughts gives strength and vigor to the heart's action, vitalizes the blood, brightens the eye, and gives us additional poise and power."

Fashions in Words.

Certain words enjoy a popularity for a season, and then are rarely heard. It would seem that no sooner do they become the property of the multitude than their death-knell is sounded in fashionable regions, and ere long they sink into the obscurity from which they emerged. "Beau," for instance, dates a long way back, and went out of fashion very many years ago; yet, strange to say, some old-fashioned people retain it to this day when referring to a young man who is supposed to be paying attention to a girl.

A recognized term of today is "admirer," and subsequently, when things have come to a climax, "lover," but rarely "beau." "Sweetheart" goes with "young man," and is usually the property of our cooks and housemaids. The "belle" has gone the way of the "beau." There are no "belles of the ball," and she is not termed a "belle."

The terms "gentleman friend" and "lady friend" are also out of style.

BIG DAY FOR CORN ON LOCAL STREET MARKET

Seventeen Loads Appear for Sale and Prices as Result Are Lower.

Friday was a big day for new corn on the local street markets, seventeen loads appearing on Barr street. On account of the heavy receipts prices were forced down toward noon and a few of the oats sold for 91 cents a bushel. The topnotch price paid on the street Friday morning was 99 cents a bushel. There appears to be no weakening in the market and dealers predict still higher marks.

The wheat market passed another day without showing any signs of action. The local dealers quote the same price that they have for the past week. Indications are that a change will be made soon, but no prediction is made which way it is going.

As the price of potatoes seems to be ascending the high price ladder from day to day the report comes that Idaho and Colorado potatoes have arrived on Fort Wayne markets. The crop is an excellent one. Wholesale prices ranged from $2.00 to $2.10 a bushel. Other markets were quiet.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Wheat prices underwent a fresh setback today, influenced largely by attention to the possibility of an embargo. Absence of new export business counted also against the bulls and so did the likelihood of another increase in the United States visible supply total on Monday. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c to 1½c lower, with December at $1.79½@1.80 and May at $1.86@1.86¼, were followed by sharp further losses and then something of a reaction.

Corn eased off with wheat. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower the market underwent a moderate sag all around.

In oats, as in other cereals, sellers had the advantage.

Higher quotations on hogs lifted provisions.

New York, Nov. 24.—Substantial recoveries from final prices of the preceding session were made at today's opening, mainly in industrials and coppers. These ranged from 1 to 1½ in Lackawanna Steel, Crucible Steel, Air Brake, American Locomotive and Chile Copper, with gains of a point for Reading and Union Pacific. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies rose over 2 points and Gulf States Steel 10 points. Other strong and active issues included Central Leather, United States Rubber and Corn Products. The inquiry from stocks came largely from commission houses representting out of two interests.

With few exceptions early gains were materially extended, coppers leading the advance. United States Steel also rose briskly on confident absorption and other industrials were free from the depression of the previous day. Gulf States Steel made an extreme recovery of 17¼ points from its recent severe decline and specialties, comprising paper issues, sugars and fertilizers, were in demand. Equipments kept pace with the rising movement, but Bethlehem Steel yielded 19 points with heaviness in Canadian Pacific, although high grade rails continued to improve. Chile 7s, at an advance of 4 points, again featured the bond market.

During the last 24 hours the storm moved with increased intensity from Lake Michigan to the mouth of the St. Lawrence river. It was attended by high winds in the lake region, upper Ohio valley and in northeastern districts, and by general rains in the districts to the eastward of the Mississippi and more in the upper lake region. High pressure covers western sections, and except that light snow fell on the northeastern slope the weather has been generally fair in the states lying to the westward of the Mississippi river. Temperatures are above normal on the middle Atlantic coast and in New England, but elsewhere the weather is cooler than the seasonal average, with zero temperatures in northeastern Wyoming. P. LOOK INTO FUTURE; BUY BABY BONDS

Living in the future does not mean living off the future! There's a vast difference between hoping for tomorrow and borrowing from tomorrow! You cannot count on increased earnings of the future or pay for today's debts, but you can count on increased earnings in the future with today's savings. There is but one way to start saving without slaving, save a portion of each week's earnings and invest in some good security. Baby Bonds are ideal for this purpose. They come in $10 denominations, pay 6 per cent interest and are secured by first mortgages on local real estate. There are also larger bonds in $500 denominations, bearing the same rate of interest and secured in the same manner. For further details regarding either, see the Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff building.—Advertisement.

Influence of American Revolution.

For the sake of historical accuracy one may challenge the statement of a contemporary that "the great American republic is the daughter of the French revolution." The Declaration of American Independence, issued in July, 1776, was ratified by the treaty of Versailles in 1783—some six years before the outbreak of the revolution. No doubt our American cousins owe a big debt of gratitude to the gallant Frenchmen (many of whom afterward became prominent in their own revolution) who helped them to gain their independence. But, considering the deep influence the successful colonial revolt had upon French thought, it would surely be nearer the mark to regard the French revolution as the daughter of the American republic.—London Chronicle.

Say:

Look! Look! Look!

It is getting cold and meat will eep. Take the street car and come over the Rhine—it's the Huffman street car you want to take—tell the conductor to leave you off at Old Leikauff's. Bring a basket along to put your meat in, because paper is awful high. We want to save all we can, so we can sell meat cheap. Every little helps, you know. You men that are off Saturday afternoon can come over and see them kill hogs—and don't forget the kiddies. I always like to hear them tell Ma to get them ready. It's too cold for Grosfatter and Grosmutter to go; they can wait till the weather gets warmer again.

Oh, yes, Girls! I will tell you about a certain lady. She came over, and I happended to be alone in the shop. Of course, I had to wait on her. She was so awfully nice. You know how us Old Fellows act when we get a nice smile. We are about all alike. We are easy. Well, three or four things she asked for—we will make it short. Your price on Sweet Breads, 40c a pound; Porter House Steak, 25c; Rib Roast, 20c pound; Tenderloin, 30c. "Well I'll take a 5c Soup Bone, 3c worth of Liver, about 2 or 3 Hog Kidneys, little piece of Beef Suet. Oh, yes, have you some scraps for kitty? Fido died last week. I am so sorry. Well, I ain't now. I wish you would deliver this out on New Haven avenue. If my husband isn't to home, let it at the neighbor's. "I must hurry up or I will be late for the matinee."

Oh, yes, Farmers! We have more pork barrels at 60c a piece, and don't forget us on your Hogs. Bring them to the city scales and weigh them, and it isn't far to go. We have got some nice little quarters of pork that will weigh about 10 to 12 pounds a piece and that have been fed on milk, just as nice as spring chicken. Will sell cheap. Lots of Pigs' Feet, Hog Heads, or anything you want, and it will be nice and fresh, for we kill every day. Can't think of anything else—don't feel good—so I am going to stop right now.

GOOD-BYE,

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

PAROLED TO MOTHER.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 24.—After a hearing in court here yesterday Judge W. H. Eichhorn paroled Miss Uriel Smith, 16, to her mother. She promised that she will give the court no more trouble. The girl was at the Indana school for girls at Clermont for several months and was returned here on Tuesday of this week by an attendant from the girls' school, without a satisfactory explanation as to why she was returned. It was reported that her return was because she was feeble-minded and that an effort would be made to have her admitted to the school for feeble minded youth at Fort Wayne. But this report proved groundless. The court had an examination conducted by Dr. Severin, who in his report cleared the girl of any charge of being feeble minded.

ONLY ELEVEN PRISONERS.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 24.—Eleven persons were put in jail by the sheriff during the October term of court. This compares very favorably with the same time last year, when forty-nine were placed in the county jail during the October term of court. Fred Johnson, whose home is near Garrett, was arrested by Sheriff Hoff early in October, placed in jail, and later turned over to the authorities at Fort Benjamin Harrison for being a deserter from the army. Four persons sentenced on misdemeanor charges were taken to the penal farm during the court term. Harry Van Lear was sentenced to the reformatory at Jeffersonville on entering a plea of guilty to grand larceny, but sentence was suspended during good behavior.

DECATUR TREASURER ILL.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 24.—Joseph D. McFarland, city treasurer of Decatur, became very ill Wednesday evening and for two hours was in a critical condition, a sufferer from nervous croup. Mr. McFarland had been suffering slightly from cold for several days but there was nothing in his condition to cause the least fear. The attack came on very suddenly, and in five minutes after it began to develop he was in a critical condition. The family physician was called and at once went to work to relieve the sufferer, but it was two hours before he was out of danger.

TRAPPING IN WELLS COUNTY.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 24.—J. H. Jones and Elijah Davis, of Liberty Center, were in the city en route to Fort Wayne to dispose of a lot of muskrat skins. The two as a side line trap during the fall and winter months when the fur is best and make a neat little sum out of their trapping. Most of their trapping is done along Rockcreek and this season they have been very successful. They had with them 180 muskrat skins for which they will receive 25c and 30c apiece, amounting to over $40.

AVIATOR AT COLUMBIA CITY.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 24.—De-Lloyd Thompson, of Chicago, recognized as America's foremost expert aviator, who last spring conducted several "aerial attacks" upon several eastern cities, dropping bombs from a high altitude, to demonstrate that what America needs is aerial as well as military and naval preparedness, was in Columbia City Thursday visiting friends whose acquaintance he made when he flew here on the Old Settlers' days of 1913 and 1914.

NEW CITY SCALES.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 24.—The location of the new city scales that has long been wanted and petitioned for by several residents has been decided on by the city council and will be included as a part of the new city hall. The plans and specifications of the new building that are drawn by Architects Church & Coover show that the city scales will be located at the extreme northwest part of the building or situated at the alleyway intersection.

BLOOMFIELD PAYS FINE.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 24.—George Bloomfield pleaded guilty to charges of assault and battery in the city court this afternoon, preferred by Dewitt Heller, and after paying the fine filed an affidavit against Heller on charges of provoke. The fine of Heller will probably be fixed at $1 and costs by Mayor Case. The cases were the outgrowth of an altercation that occurred several days ago.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 26

A LIVING SACRIFICE.

LESSON TEXT—Romans 12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your spiritual service.—Rom. 12:1 R. V.

The first 11 chapters of this letter teach and illustrate the great principles of the Christian life. Paul calls it "my Gospel." Its fundamental principle is that justification regenerates men, and nothing else. The second section is the practical application of these truths.

I. The Exhortation to Gratitude (vv. 1-2). "Therefore," because of the work of Christ on our behalf, we are to present our bodies as living sacrifices unto God, to be used for his glory and service. (See chapter 6:13, 16, 19). Paul urges, he beseeches; he is winsome, though he might command. To "present" technically means, "bring an offering to God." The body is the sum of all human faculties, physical and spiritual. It must not be defiled by being yielded as an instrument to sin, for it is the temple of God. (1 Cor. 3:16, 17). A "Living Offering," (not as the bodies of slain animals offered by Jews) is a consecration of the body, and not a destruction of life. The original means that this—the offering of ourselves as a living sacrifice—is a reasonable, rational service. God has the right of ownership of every member of our body, and there never was a day when there was greater need of insisting upon a Christianity that affects the bodies of men than today. Hands, lips, ears, eyes—every member should be constantly presented to him who purchased it by the blood of his own Son. (I Cor. 6:20; I Pet. 1:18-19.) This is a spiritual, religious service because it is our spirit which presents the offering of the body which he inhabits. Too many of us are "fashioned according to this age."

II. The Expression of Gratitude (vv. 3-8). Or the right use of the gifts of God. (1) Avoid "self-conceit" (vv. 3-5). These verses indicate how important this subject is. Conceit is entertaining an exaggerated opinion of one's own ability. The church has many members, and they do not all have the same office; there is a variety in the unity of the body. So in the church there are many "members in one body," each of which is important; all are essential. (2) "Prophecy" (v. 6), not necessarily foretelling, but the revelation of spiritual truth and experience according to the proportion of our faith (Ps. 39:3), the living, spiritual experience of the presence of God within us. (3) "Ministry" (v. 7). The business side of the church, collecting of its money and the distribution to the poor. Some can best attend to such business. Many churches fail by not selecting wise leaders for this work. (4) "He that teacheth." The true pastor is a combined prophet, pastor and teacher. We are all teaching, whether we wish to or not. It is a privilege as well as an obligation.

III. Conduct Toward All Men (vv. 9-21). The renewed soul needs guidance, encouragement and instruction. (1) "In love" (v. 9). The hypocrite wears a mask. Notice the close connection of "abhor that which is evil" with "cleave to that which is good." The word for cleave means literally to glue it, so that nothing can separate you from love which is the supreme good. "In honor preferring one another" (v. 10). Let others carry the banner—few of us can stand this acid test. (3) "Diligent in business" (v. 11). Whatsoever your hands find to do, do it with your might, being fervent or boiling in spirit, the reverse of the previous exhortation, in that which we are thus to serve the Lord. Few need exhortation to be diligent in their own business, but all of us need this exhortation with regard to the "king's business." (4) "Rejoicing in hope (v. 12). Triumphing over trials and difficulties in the way. Looking for that "blessed hope" (Titus 2:13). (5) Patience and tribulation (v. 12). The Latin "tribulum" was the threshing instrument or roller whereby the husbandman separated grain from the husk. Sorrow, distress and adversity are the means for separating men from the chaff of their lives. Sometimes small annoyances, long continued, become great tribulations. (See Joshua 24:12.) (6) Continuing in the school of prayer (v. 12). Steadfast, urgent, pressing, persevering prayer (Luke 12:1). (7) "Given to hospitality" (v. 13); literally, pursued it.

The word "condescend" is not strong enough—it should be literally "Borne away" from the living things along the line of the things that are humble.

(8) Living peaceably with all men (v. 18); being ready for peace and to do more than your share of reconciliation.

(9) Overcoming evil with good (vv. 19-21). The heaping of coals upon the enemy's head is not the object but the result of returning good for evil. (See Proverbs 25:21-22.)

LYCEUM FEDS TRY TO BOOK BLUFFTON TEAM

Are After Everett Scott's Maroons for Opener on New Year's Date.

The Lyceum Feds have written to the management of the Bluffton Maroons for a game to be played here New Year's day. That will be the opener for the Feds and they have made an attempt to get a strong outfit here to work on.

Everett Scott, the big league shortstop, claimed by Bluffton and now living in Garrett, is a member of the Maroons, or was till he removed to the latter city, but it is not known whether he will play with them this year or not.

A statement by the Maroons in a Bluffton paper is to the effect that the date will be accepted.

"SKEETS" LAMBERT MAY COACH WABASH QUINTET

When Will H. Diddel resigned as graduate manager, basketball coach and field secretary of Wabash college, "Skeets" Lambert and Ward Lambert were named as possible successors. Dr. Mackintosh, president of the college, refused to give out the names of those under consideration but throughout the student body the two Lamberts are mentioned as first choices. Coach Sheeks will have charge of the basketball team this year.

"Skeets" Lambert has been playing football this year, first with the Detroit Heralds and, later with the Massillon outfit. Last year he played quarter with the Friars and was a strong favorite with the fans.

MOSSMAN NEW HEAD OF COUNTRY CLUB

At the annual meeting of the Fort Wayne Country club last evening at the Commercial club, B. Paul Mossman was chosen to head the club for the coming year. M. C. MacDougal, retiring president, was elected vice-president; Frank H. Cutshall, treasurer, and E. F. Keller, secretary.

B. PAUL MOSSMAN.

Directors named by the stockholders in their annual meeting, preceding the election of officers, were as follows: F. J. Thieme, M. C. MacDougal, W. E. Doud, E. G. Hoffman, S. B. Bechtel and J. M. Barrett. The directors who remain in that capacity another year are F. L. Smock, F. H. McCulloch, A. F. Hall, B. Paul Mossman and H. G. Miller.

Mr. MacDougal was complimented on his work during the past year, and through his hard work and foresight he has done much to benefit the club. The views of Mr. Mossman and Mr. MacDougal concerning what is needed for the welfare of the club seem to coincide and it is thought that anything which Mr. MacDougal may have left unfinished will be done the same as if he were directing the work himself.

Cups were awarded the winners of the tournaments last night.

HORWEEN'S TOE MAY SPOIL YALE'S CHANCES TO WIN BIG CONTEST.

HORWEEN

BOTH TEAMS ARE OUT FOR VICTORY TONIGHT

The Exenda basketballers who hail from St. John's Reformed church and the huskies from the International Business college will clash Friday evening at the former's hall. Both teams will go into the game with a determination to win, as both lost their previous game. Captain Gidley of the Exendas states that the regular line-up will be on hand tonight. Manager Plummer of the I. B. C. states that they are confident of a victory. The game will be played in the hall at Washington and Webster streets. A large number of business college students will accompany their favorite team to the game.

RECORD CROWD FOR YALE-HARVARD SCRAP

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 24.—A total of 77,453 tickets have been sent out for the Yale-Harvard football game here on Saturday. Of this number 28,171 have been taken by Harvard. The total includes 14 press and 300 sideline tickets. Two years ago 68,042 persons saw the blue and crimson classic here. The attendants, including ushers, at the game will be 2,500.

INDIANA AND PURDUE GRIDDERS PROTESTED

Murchie, Hoosier Tackle, Will Not Be Used—Boilermakers Investigate.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 24.—Indiana's last home workout before the Purdue battle Saturday, which will settle the state championship dispute, was held last night in the new $225,000 gymnasium, which was used for the first time by any athletic team. The field was wet and sloppy from an all day downpour. Friday the advance crew, including coaches, trainers, physicians and twenty-two men, started for Lafayette, and the practice this afternoon will be on Stuart field, if Coach O'Donnell has no objection. Stiehm said last night he realized the odds are again his men, because of their poor physical condition. Purdue has protested the eligibility of Tackle Murchie and the coach said he would not be used. The Boilermakers have been asked to investigate the professional charges against one of their players.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM IN INTERCOLLEGIATE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 24.—Coach Farrell of the track teams, with seven Michigan cross country runners, left Thursday afternoon for New Haven, Conn., where they will run in the intercollegiate cross country meet Saturday. The runners are Capt. Kuivinen, Carroll, Bouma, Fox, Fuess, Sedgwick and Bachtel. The distance of six miles to be covered Saturday is the longest yet attempted by the Wolverine outfit.

Brushes have been invented for polishing either stoves or shoes that have a reservoir, controlled by a valve, to feed polish to the bristles.

WESTERN CONFERENCE CURTAIN TO GO DOWN

Season's Honors to Be Decided in Ohio State-Northwestern Game.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Football in the western conference will close for 1916 tomorrow with the championship battle between Northwestern and Ohio State at Columbus, O., topping off the schedule. Only a tie score can prevent the season's gridiron honors of the "Big Nine" from being decided, as both teams have gone through the season undefeated.

Minnesota will clash with Chicago, and Illinois will oppose Wisconsin in the remaining "big" games of tomorrow's schedule. These games, usually the deciding factors of the conference championship, are exciting almost as much interest as the title affair between Northwestern and Ohio State.

Minnesota, which was unexpectedly defeated by Illinois, still is regarded by many close followers of western football as the most powerful eleven in the conference. But determined to force Minnesota to play all the football it knows Chicago will face the Gophers tomorrow confident of putting up the same kind of a fight it did in its victory over Illinois a week ago. If perfect condition counts critics believe it will be a close battle, as the Maroons came out of the Illinois game without injury and are not discouraged over the big score Minnesota rolled up against Wisconsin last Saturday.

Forward passes probably will be an important factor in the battle, for both teams have made good gains via the aerial route in recent games. Wyman and Baston of the Gophers are considered especially good performers in handling passes. Joe Sprafka, the plunging fullback of the Minnesota squad, expects to get into the contest, as he has sufficiently recovered from recent injuries.

There has been a wild scramble for tickets and there is every indication that the contest will be witnessed by the largest crowd that has poured into Stagg field this season.

The Wisconsin-Illinois tilt is expected to be stubbornly fought, as both elevens are anxious to wipe out the defeats of last Saturday. The Badgers were somewhat crushed by the 54 to 0 lacing given them by Minnesota, but have hopes of triumphing over Illinois, which fell before Chicago, or at least of holding the Illini to an almost even score.

Indiana and Purdue, tail-enders in the conference race, will meet at Lafayette in a game that promises to be bitterly contested. These two elevens always have been strong gridiron rivals. The contest assumes somewhat of a state championship aspect.

Preparations have been made to receive the biggest crowd that has attended a football game in Lafayette this season because of the keen rivalry between the two universities. Indiana is considered the stronger, for the eleven will be strengthened with the return to the game of Archie Erehart to his old position at halfback. Keever, because of his good showing in the game against Florida, will fill Bowser's place at the other half.

Coach O'Donnell of the Purdue eleven has drilled his players in breaking up forward passes and the stellar plays of Indiana. The team has been considerably weakened because of injuries to players. The men are determined, however, to upset Indiana if possible and make amends for the rather poor showing in previous conference starts.

Northwestern will send a remarkably game and tricky eleven into the championship fray against Ohio State. The team's coaches have frankly admitted that they have kept their trump cards under cover thus far, displaying only just enough football to win.

Every member of the squad is declared to be in perfect condition. Capt. "Paddy" Driscoll, whose field goals have swelled Northwestern's totals, has fully recovered from injuries, as has Cigrand, a dashing half, whose ribs were cracked a month ago.

Confidence also is supreme in the Ohio camp. Coach Wilce figures that "Chick" Harley, a 21-year-old Chicagoan, whose kicking and running have made him the star of the Buckeyes, will more than offset the playing of Driscoll.

The Ohio eleven is well balanced. The back field men are consistent ground gainers, and the line is reported to be among the strongest of the conference elevens.

In order that Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, age thirty-five, of Pittsburg, the mother of eight children, may share the Edwards estate without facing possible legal complications, Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, wealthy Mt. Washington woman, has adopted her.

BROWN KNEW SUBS WOULD BE PLAYED

Made No Objection When Told First-String Men Would Not Be In.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 24.—Answering criticism of the policy of the Harvard football coaches in playing a sub eleven against Brown Saturday, when Harvard was defeated, 21 to 0, General Manager Moore stated yesterday in a letter to the Harvard Crimson that the plan was agreed upon with the Brown management when the game was arranged. The Brown management "made no particular objection to our policy," he said, "although they naturally would have preferred to meet the first string men."

Moore stated that if the coaches had realized the strength of Brown at the time the schedule was made out "the game would have been arranged for an earlier date, when the first string men could have played without taking chances of having some of them unfit to play against Yale.

"As the unusual strength of the Brown team made it seem probable the second team would be defeated, I thought it best formally to notify by mail those who had purchased or applied for ticketts that a substitute team would play."

"Toothsietherm" New Idea for Traffic Cop

No longer will traffic policemen of Pittsburgh, Pa., have to suffer with frozen "tootsies" after a day's work in wintry weather.

The "tootsietherm" will keep their feet warm while they are on traffic duty.

"IT'S WONDERFUL" MRS. CORDRAY SAYS

South Bend Woman Pays Glowing Tribute to Work of Tanlac.

This was the tribute paid the Master Medicine on November 2 by Mrs. Edward Cordray, well known South Bend woman, who lives at 1509 South Michigan street.

"I suffered from a catarrhal affection of the throat and kidney trouble bothered me." she continued. "In fact, my system generally was in a run down condition. I was annoyed by the dripping of mucus into my throat and felt weak and nervous all the time. My kidneys were very weak and irregular.

"After taking one bottle of Tanlac the dripping of mucus into my throat ceased. I began to eat more heartily and naturally became stronger and felt better. I've taken two bottles of the medicine now and I'm feeling fine. My kidneys are in good condition and the tired feeling has been banished. I'm highly elated over my relief."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.—Advertisement.

Five Days in Woods Lost, Gives $1,000 to Guide Rescuer

HORACE JACKSON

For five days Horace Jackson, 63, of the Chicago board of trade, wandered about in the northern Minnesota woods, with only frozen cranberries to keep him from starving. He had been lost on his hunting trip, after killing a bull moose.

Jackson was ready to give up when his Finn guide came up. The guide, Jackson says, will get $1,000 for the rescue.

Owing to the scarcity of labor in this district, a number of laborers' daughters, age between fifteen and eighteen years, are employed drawing water with donkeys and cars to the steam roller at work near Newtonbarry, Ireland.

How to Obtain Health Without Medicine

Read the Following

"'O-Eat-It' simply worked a revolution on my whole system, in two or three days," said a well-known merchant the other day. "I never saw anything like it. Here I had been taking all kinds of medicines,—the whole business—salts, oil, calomel, cathartics, to keep my liver and bowels working. The more I took the worse I got. That's what the doctors say always happens with drugs anyway. So at all meals for three days, I tried a few ready-to-eat toasts of the new food, 'O-Eat-It'—delicious crisps they are. It's a marvel. Now my liver and bowels tell me the time of day. My biliousness is all gone, no more headaches. I feel light as a feather, active as a panther, and I want to do things. I'm cheerful; I eat like a bear. I've added weight, my face is rosy instead of pasty. Now the wife and kids just go right after it, too. It's worth its weight in gold."

"O-Eat-It" is a delicious food with a new taste. It takes the place of the old-style breads and breakfast foods that cause such an awful lot of constipation, and which haven't the nourishing qualities in them, because made from white flour, from which the most nutritious portions of the grain have been milled out. "O-Eat-It" is a combination of the richest grains together with their brans, and toasted lusciously in ready-to-eat slices. It is the only bran food made by the only process ever discovered of making a real bran food, delicious and feathery in lightness. This is why 35 per cent of bran is successfully used in "O-Eat-It," making it the most effective and delicious bran food known, with remarkable bowel-regulating results. ## "OPEN STORAGE HOUSES AND REDUCE COST OF LIVING," HER CRY.

MRS. H. H. HARRISON.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 24.—"Open the cold storage houses and pull down the high cost of living!"

This is the war cry of a young Chicago housewife, Mrs. H. H. Harrison, who has opened battle on the food speculators of Chicago.

"I have no organization behind me," says Mrs. Harrison, "I am in this fight alone.

"I am a housekeeper. I have been paying almost 50 per cent. more for food than the food is worth. I don't believe it is patriotic. I don't believe it is an evidence of good citizenship for a housekeeper to meekly submit to this imposition.

"This country is producing food enough to feed us all at a moderate cost. Where is the food?

"Not on the market where it should be. It is in cold storage houses, held there by the food speculators, until the price of food soars to famine heights.

"I pay forty cents for eggs, some days forty-six. In storage houses within less than a mile of my kitchen more than 600,000 cases of eggs are stored.

"I pay forty-two cents for butter. There's a million pounds of butter stored in warehouses in Chicago.

"Unless the government takes active control of storage of food I believe this nation will be reduced to the condition of the poorer nations of Europe, and meat will be a luxury to all except the rich."

At her own expense, Mrs. Harrison, wife of a prosperous business man, employed a cold storage engineer to make an investigation of the cold storage situation in Chicago.

Complete reports are denied even official investigators, but Mrs. Harrison's engineer estimates the amount of food held in warehouses in Chicago as follows:

Butter, 1,000,000 pounds.
Fruits and vegetables, 10,000,000 cases.

Mrs. Harrison will continue her investigation of the high cost of living, and hopes to arouse every housekeeper in Chicago and throughout the country to a fight for fair prices.

PET ALLIGATOR IS BOUGHT BY TWO BOYS

"Have you still got an alligator to sell?" asked one of the small boys who stood on the front porch when Patrolman H. E. Lininger, 422 East Pontiac street, responded to the light rapping Tuesday afternoon.

You see Patrolman Lininger has been called from bed at all hours of the day, for he works at night, by folks who have asked him about the alligator that The Sentinel said he had for sale.

Lininger wanted to get rid of the reptile, which was sent him by a Florida friend because the crocodile had an ungovernable temper and had chewed off a leg of a table left in the cellar with the beast and besides Mrs. Lininger was afraid to venture into the basement, where milk and butter had formerly been kept.

So Lininger said at the police station a week ago that he would dispose of the tropical reptile. Judge Kerr said at first that he would trade a crow for it. Then he changed his mind, but it cost him rest for two nights because mischievous friends jingled the telephone at most ungodly hours to inquire about the crow and then the alligator.

Anyway Lininger did not know what to think when the boys startled him again by a forlorn look and the query.

"Is the alligator gone?"

'No, he is here. Do you want to buy him?" Lininger, asked half laughing.

"Yes," responded both boys together and their faces brightened with hope.

"How much have you got?" Lininger asked.

"Seventy-five cents," came the piping answer.

Had Money All Ready.

The boys had the money all ready. One of the lads held out his hand and there was three-quarters of a dollar in nickels and dimes.

"You've bought an alligator," said the patrolman.

He led the boys right through the house without looking to see if their shoes were muddy. Lininger headed straight for the cellar.

"You boys had better stay here," Lininger cautioned at the cellar entrance, because he has become acquainted with the unreliable habits of the pet.

"We want to see him," said the smaller of the young Americans.

They followed on the officer's heels. The pet, which Lininger had christened "Romeo" because of the crocodile's steadfastness in the line of attacking all moving objects, was asleep. Lininger hunted up a box. He found the same identical box in which the alligator was dragged to his front door after the long journey from the southern swamps.

Lininger grabbed the reptile by holding its tail and neck. There was a wiggle. Thump! and "Romeo" dropped on the floor again.

"See, you got to be careful with him," Lininger explained and the two boys looked on with bulging eyes. Their admiration for the alligator was growing all the while.

The next time Lininger caught hold of the crocodile he succeeded in shutting off its wind and so was able to thrust the pet in the open box. There was no sadness of farewell.

Mrs. Lininger readily brought the hammer to the back door. The box was nailed up.

"You get in front, George," one of the lads said, and that is all Lininger knows about the boys' names. He was so excited at a chance to get rid of the long-jawed alligator that he never thought of names.

The boys picked up the box. They did not drop it when "Romeo" flopped about and made an awful clatter. With one of the lads in front and the box against his back while the other supported the rear of the container they marched proudly away.

Now there will be rest for the patrolman because somebody has called him up every day for nearly a week and almost promised to take the meat-eating charge, only to refuse when there was a querelous answer to such questions as:

"Will he bite when your back is turned?"

"Does he have teeth?"

"Would he blend well in a pink room?"

Or this one:

"Could the children hitch him up?"

Princeton to Open Shallow Coal Banks Near That City.

Princeton, Ind., Nov. 24.—Plans are being made here for opening shallow "coal banks" next year, to prevent retail prices being as high then as now. Coal at present obtained from one big mine here is retailing at 10 cents a bushel for "lump" and 15 cents a bushel for "nut" and "mine run." Several fair-sized veins are near the city from eighteen inches to three feet below the surface. Some farmers already have commenced digging the coal and offering it at normal prices.

FLETCHER GIVES EMPLOYES DINNER

Clothing Merchant Delightfully Entertains at Commercial Club.

Harry P. Fletcher, of the Patterson-Fletcher company, clothiers, entertained for more than forty employes Thursday night at the Commercial club with a dinner attended by salespeople, tailors and the clerical staff. The dinner was the first of a series to be held to develop perfection of sales organization and a closer acquaintanceship between employes. The Patterson-Fletcher company is to occupy its new store, corner of Wayne and Harrison streets, about the first of the year.

The guests were interested in the receipt of a package in a large box with the announcement that it held hat bands. After Mr. Fletcher had stated that the manufacturers of hat bands had shown a decided interest in the Patterson-Fletcher store and had probably sent a new consignment, out popped the head of the box and the face of a smiling negro appeared. "Bill" Ersig, window trimmer for the Patterson-Fletcher store, had brought in the package. The "bands" developed to be a feature in the person of "Whoo-Whoo," the hornless band leader who gave several selections that scored a hit.

Mr. Fletcher was toastmaster of the evening. He complimented his sales force and attributed much of the success of the store to their efforts. He introduced E. W. Puckett, manager of the Fort Wayne Oil and Supply company, who spoke on the efficiency in selling, loyalty and ways of attaining success.

Leon M. Grimes, of the newspaper advertising division of the Progressive Advertising company, told Patterson-Fletcher employes the principles on which the company handles problems of its patrons.

The guests of the evening were: L. M. Grimes, E. W. Puckett, H. P. Fletcher, Alma Steiss, Kathryn Barr, A. F. Kinnaird, Ben Kramer, Earl Winterode, Preston Somers, Will Grimm, Otis Hirons, Phil H. ### WAYNE COUNTY IN PLIGHT.

May Find Itself Without Superintendent of County Schools.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 24.—Wayne county may find itself without a superintendent of public schools when the resigantion of C. O. Williams, the present superintendent, takes effect in a few months. Mr. Williams will take a position in the office of the state superintendent of public instruction. The reason Wayne county hay have trouble in filling Mr. Williams' place is that the law requires the county superintendent to be a resident of the county and also he must hold a three years' state teachers' license for common schools, earned by grade work and examination. It is said that not a resident of Wayne county holds the necessary license. Life licenses, held by a number of teachers in the county, given them when they graduated from the state normal, will not do, Mr. Williams declares. As Mr. Williams will not leave Richmond until March 15, 1917, two examinations will be given before then, at which aspirants for his position will be given opportunity to qualify. The position pays $1,400 a year. It is a four year office.

ENRAGED WIFE WILL FIGHT DIVORCE SUIT

"He Gave Me My First Drink," Says Woman Who Now Bares Soul.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 24."He gave me the first drink of liquor that ever touched my lips."

In this sentence Mrs. Mabel Rossi, of Wallace, Idaho, sums up the defense she will make against a suit for divorce filed by her husband, Herman Rossi, former mayor of Wallace, wealthy mining man and a power in Idaho state politics.

MRS. MABEL [illegible]

Rossi, recently acquitted of killing Clarence Dahlquist, declared his wife drank to excess and that her weakness had ruined their happiness. Dahlquist, he declared, had despoiled his home.

As the outcome of the tragic affair, Rossi began divorce proceedings and his wife has countered with a second suit. She declares she will fight to the bitter end to obtain a divorce, a just share of Rossi's property and a legally protected name.

"I kept my mouth shut and saved Herman Rossi's neck," she said. "I trampled my pride and dignity that he might not die. I saw myself pictured an ingrate. I gave $17,000 to aid in his defense. And now, despite the fact that Herman Rossi is worth nearly $200,000, he would take his name from me and give me a few hundred dollars."

The Rossis were married at Wallace, March 16, 1906. Mrs. Rossi, the bride, was a telephone girl at the time of her romance.

"I was 17," she said, "and innocent of the danger that lurks in drink. Rossi was mayor of Wallace and regarded as a 'big man' in the Coeur d'Alene country. He went everywhere with the best of people. He was rich and experienced. I was poor and susceptible to allurements. I was dazzled by the bright lights of this life he introduced me to.

"Herman took me to the legislature at Boise one year and introduced me to the fastest crowd I have ever met. They started the day with gin fizzes and ended up every night with highballs and champagne.

There was a party at our home on the occasion mentioned in the murder trial. Clarence Dahlquist was there. So were several others, but there were no improper acts. I was intoxicated during the party and when I came out of my stupor I saw Clarence. I drove him out and he went without protest, so drunk he staggered from the house.

"I sold my home in Wallace, which was my separate and personal property, to James Callahan for $20,000. I turned over to Rossi all of this sum except $5,000, which I kept for my own expenses."

Mrs. Rossi says her husband "beat her up" many times and that the marks on her body, which Rossi contended Dahlquist left, were the effect of the beatings.

"When the matter is all over," she said, "I think the public will not believe that Mr. Rossi is 'the angel without wings' and that I am the vile creature that he and his so-called friends would have the public believe me to be."

WEST SIDERS FORM AN ORGANIZATION

Max R. Miller Is Made President and Other Officers Are Named.

At a meeting held in the club house of the Wayne Knitting mills, Thursday evening, a permanent organization to be known as the West Side Improvement association was formed. One of the purposes of the meeting was to discuss the proposed purchase by the city of the territory west of Swinney park and across the St. Mary's river.

In the purchase of this additional territory the extension of a boulevard to the westward to connect with the Illinois road is proposed. This would also necessitate the construction of a bridge and roadway and other extensive improvements, including two railroad subways.

The gathering was addressed by William H. Shambaugh, former city attorney; Colonel D. N. Foster, head of the park board; Park Superintendent Getz, Fred Thieme and others. R. S. Osler, chairman of the temporary organization, made a short address in resigning his chair after permanent officers had been chosen. He outlined ambitions of the society, as did Max R. Miller, permanent president of the association.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"Of marked importance to the people of Fort Wayne, is the proposition, now before the park board, to purchase all or a part of the land situated west of Swinney park, across the St. Mary's river.

"This land consists of thirty-five acres, called the Cressler land; five acres, called the Randall land, and ten acres, called the Lennon land. It is proposed to annex all or part of this to Swinney park. It is also proposed to construct a bridge across the river, close to the Pennsylvania railroad bridge. With this plan is connected a boulevard scheme over the 'high banks' to the district west and south of Lindenwood cemetery. Some of the arguments in favor of these improvements are as follows:

"The purchase of some of this property for park purposes would carry out the modern idea of acquiring land for the city while it may be had at a reasonable price.

"Swinney park has no thoroughfare. Although it is one of the most valuable pieces of property belonging to the city, it is snugly fenced off from the people on nine-tenths of its boundary; it can be approached only from the east at Washington and Jefferson streets, and those who enter there must return the same way. This is contrary to all well-balanced plans for parking; no park should have a dead end, but should be accessible from all sides. As it is now, the park is not serving its purpose to the people of Fort Wayne, and is deserted atnight, except to those who prefer darkness to light.

"There is no river bridge between Main street and Taylor street, a distance of over a mile, extending almost through the heart of the city. All traffic going west, between Taylor street on the south and Spring street in Bloomingdale, must go over the Main street bridge.

"The need of another bridge to the west is further emphasized by the fact that many horrible accidents have resulted from people taking their chances and crossing over the Pennsylvania railroad bridge.

"The Main street bridge is also the only approach to Lindenwood cemetery. As this is a very busy street, it is quite evident that another road leading in the direction of Lindenwood is very much needed.

"West of the St. Mary's river and north of Main street lies 'Nebraska,' North Wayne Heights and the Lindenwood cemetery district, a section containing a large population as well as the Wayne Knitting mills, Eckart Packing Co., Indiana Road Machine Co. and the Horton Manufacturing Co. These people have no outlet, excepting Main street east and west, and no street opening to the south excepting Rockhill street on the east and Freeman street beyond the western extremity of Lindenwood.

"The section of residence property lying west of the river is today the lowest priced land within the three-mile circle. For that reason, if opened up by the proposed bridge and park improvement, the increased valuation will offset a large part of the cost of improvement; in fact, it could easily be made to pay for the greater part. Therefore, there will be very little cost to the citizens of Fort Wayne, or the citizens of the west end, excepting the original cost of the land for park purposes and the cost of the bridge.

"The plan proposed and the methods to be followed in putting through this park scheme include a bond issue for the purchase of the land to be used for park purposes. The bridge is to be constructed by the county commissioners, the expense of which will be borne by the county. The park and boulevard improvements will be assessed against property holders throughout the entire district who will be benefited."

Don't Try To Decide Without Coming Here

You'll save yourself money and a lot of worry. Many women dread buying Christmas presents for the men folks. They don't seem to know what to select. They put it off until the day before Christmas and wear their nerves down to fiddle-strings in a vain attempt to find a pleasing gift.

The New Premier

Built Like a Violin

A TALKING MACHINE is as much of a necessity in the modern home as any piece of furniture. The usual buyer, however, is not well posted as to the qualities essential in a good talking fachine. National advertising in magazines does not make for quality in the product; for the buyer MUST PAY THE COST and the selling price is therefore raised to meet this additional expense. In a talking machine four features are essential; a quiet, durable, dependable motor, a reproducer or sound box of scientific construction, an amplifying chamber corectly proportioned and built of laminated wood throughout, and the case should be pleasing in design, convenient, well constructed and finished.

In competition with all other makes of phonographs, we have adopted the PREMIER, as we find the four "quality points" fully carried out.

Titusville, Pa., Nov. 24.—Because so many citizens of this city are using automobiles the Titusville Traction company has been obliged to increase it fares from 5 to 6 cents, except to workingmen whose fares remain at 3 cents during certain hours. The traction company also asked that its taxes be rebated for five years, but the city council only conceded one year.

CHILD PRINCE OF INDIA FLEES TO AMERICA TO ESCAPE ORIENTAL TREACHERY.

San Francisco, Nov. 10.—Escaping many plots against his life over in the mysterious land of India, little Prince Scindia, 6-year-old rajah of the state of Torgal, has reached refuge in America.

He arrived in San Francisco the other day, accompanied by Miss M. E. Patterson, a missionary who was named his guardian by high officials of India. She will take him to Toronto, Canada, where he will be educated under the protection of the British government.

The boy potentate is heir to estates in the state of Torgal valued at $10,000,000. His annual income is more than sufficient to educate him in a manner befitting his rank.

His six years of life have been filled with the romance and tragedy of the Far East. His mother, first wife of the ruler of Torgal, died when the prince was a mere infant. The father died soon after.

Other widows of the ruler, having sons of their own whom they wished to be heirs to the title, plotted against Prince Scindia's life, according to the story which came over with him. To prevent these attempts the British government and the Maharajah of Kolhapur, joint guardians of the child, named Miss Patterson as the one to take him to America.

The rajah is dressed in English boy style, with an Eton jacket and a gold-trimmed flat cap.

TYPHOID LEADS THE ILLNESS IN STATE

Health Board Makes Report on Indiana Conditions for October.

Indianapolis, Nov. 24.—Typhoid fever continued to be the most prevalent infectious disease in Indiana during October, as in the month before, according to the monthly report of the state board of health, made public yesterday by Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the board. The report shows that ninety-five persons died from the disease out of 329 cases in sixty-three counties. A decrease is noted, however, from the month preceding, when 102 persons died from the disease out of 657 cases in seventy-six counties. In the same month of 1915 249 cases in fifty-three counties showed fifty-five fatalities.

Tuberculosis, as usual, caused the greatest number of deathsh with a toll of 278. It invaded 265 homes. Twenty-nine of the victims were fathers and thirty-five were mothers, both leaving a total of 128 orphans. Pneumonia was second, with 160 deaths, 105 in the month before and 104 in the same month of last year.

Scarlet fever cases numbered 410, with five deaths; diphtheria cases 617, with 39 deaths; measles cases 252, with 3 deaths, and infantile paralysis cases 57, with 9 deaths.

Order of Prevalence.

The order of prevalence of diseases follows: Typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, tonsilitis, acute bronchitis, acute rheumatism, chickenpox, pulmonary tuberculosis, influenza, poliomyelitis, diarrhea and enteritis, measles, lobar pneumonia, malaria fever, bronchial pneumonia, intermittent and remittent fever, whooping cough, other forms of tuberculosis, erysipelas, smallpox, dysentery, cholera morbus, cerebro-spinal fever, puerperal fever, rabies in human, rabies in animals, trachoma.

The total deaths reported for the month was 2,952, a rate of 12.1 per 1,000 of population. The rate for the same month last year was 11. A rural population of 1,552,380 shows a rate of 10.3 as compared with an urban population of 1,308,540 showing a rate of 14.3. Death rates in the cities were as follows: Indianapolis, 14.5; Evansville, 14.9; Fort Wayne, 14.6; Terre Haute, 12.9; South Bend, 12.2; Gary, 16.7; East Chicago, 14.4; Muncie, 12.9; Hammond, 21.5; Richmond, 15.4; Anderson, 20.4; Elkhart, 13.2; Michigan City, 13.4; Lafayette, 18.4; New Albany, 18.3; Logansport, 13.8; Marion, 15, and Kokoho, 16.9.

More encouraging news is found in the second part of the report, which shows that 4,744 babies were added last month to the population. This is a rate of 19.5 to every 1,000 persons. The highest birth rate was in Lake county, where it was 36.4, and the lowest in Warwick county, with 7.3.

DEMOCRATIC PLANS FOR LEGISLATURE

State Senators Expected to Discuss Matter of Patronage in That Body.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—When the democratic members of the state senate met today at the Claypool hotel they took up plans for getting a split in the distribution of the patronage and the appointment of the committee chairmanships. They also will discuss measures for attempting to gain control of the senate organization for the entire session.

More than half of the democratic senators arrived last night, when several informal conferences were held. It was reported among them that Chaiman Will H. Hays of the republican state committee had sent a representative of his organization to Chairman Bernard Korbly to propose a division of the patronage and the chairmanships of the committees.

Several democratic workers were on hand last night to become candidates for places on the senate pay roll, providing there is to be a division between the two parties. Joseph Luther, South Bend, who was chief doorkeeper of the house two years ago, was suggested as a probable democratic candidate for doorkeeper of the senate. Luther said he is not a candidate.

Secretary L. W. Henley of the republican state committee said last night that the republican organization made no tender of a compromise to Chairman Korbly and that none will be made.

"The republicans will organize the senate," said Henley. "There is no doubt whatever on that score. No one went to Korbly representing Chairman Hays."

It was said by some of the democratic senators that Attorney General Stotsenberg has rendered an opinion that the democrats can organize the senate while Lieutenant Governor O'Neill is in the chair and that they can adopt rules then that will hold for the entire session.

The fact that the republicans will have twenty-five senators and the democrats the same number is expected to open up a hard fight for the patronage and control of the committees.

Several prospective candidates are in the field for the democratic floor leadership of the senate. Among them are Senators Culbertson, Fleming and Elsner, all members of the last session. Edward G. Hoffman, of Fort Wayne, national committeeman, and other party leaders arrived last night.

There was practically no talk among the democratic senators regarding prohibition, and it was said that probably the matter would not be discussed today.

SUNDAY WOULD RETIRE IN OLD BASEBALL LOT

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Billy Sunday, evangelist, wishes to wind up his career in Chicago, where he started on the road to fame. He opened negotiations to rent the old west side ball park for a year, beginning Jan. 1, and if he is successful a mammoth tabernacle will be erected there for the meetings.

A committee of two waited on President Charles Weeghman, of the Cubs, this morning. Weeghman has control of the old ball plant, which was involved in the transaction when the former Federal leaguers purchased the Cubs. A deal now is pending for the park, but Weeghman said he might be able to close shortly with the committee.

Sentimental reasons urged Billy Sunday to select the old Cub park. Years ago, when Capt. Anson was manager of the Chicago club, Billy Sunday was his right fielder. Even then Sunday had a leaning toward the career which he later took up in earnest.

TRAIN IS ROBBED AS IT ENTERS CHICAGO

Bandits Bind and Gag Express Messenger; Flee with $1,000.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Two masked bandits, working in leisurely fashion over the body of a bound and gagged express messenger, pulled off a daring robbery last night on a Chicago & Northwestern passenger train as it pulled into Chicago from Elroy and Madison, Wis.

The robbers, according to the messenger, obtained everything in the safe of the American Express company's car at the front of the train. According to the company the loot amounts to about $1,000.

When they had finished their work the men dropped off the train as it stopped at Clybourn Junction, three miles from the loop, and slipped away into the dark.

Robbers Bold in Work.

The robbery was as methodical as it was bold. The train, which left Elroy at 10:05 a. m., is a comparatively slow one, stopping at every station. At most of these express packages had been delivered or taken on, and for this reason the rear door of the express car had been left unlocked.

A few minutes after the train passed through Barrington, at 5:53, the express messenger, named W. E. Caper, was carrying a sack of flour across his car when the rear end door was opened and two men entered.

They wore stocking caps, the messenger thinks, over their eyes. The rest of their faces were covered with handkerchiefs. Each of them carried a revolver.

They ordered him to throw up his hands, immediately took away his revolver, which was in his pocket, and then demanded from him his gun. He told them they had the only gun he possessed.

Gagged with Handkerchief.

After tying Caper in the chair the robbers bound several handkerchiefs about his head, covering his face completely. Then they took his keys from his pocket and opened the safe.

Seated before it on the floor of the car, they went through the contents carefully, throwing aside everything except the money envelopes. These they rifled and thrust the contents in their pockets.

Having finished their work, they turned their attention again to Caper. Twice they threatened to kill him if he did not give them all the information they wanted.

Want to Know Station.

"Clybourn," said Caper.

It wasn't, but the bandits evidently didn't know the difference. They became suspicious, however, and asked again:

"Where is Clybourn?"

"Well, it's in the city limits," said Caper.

200 DIE WHEN RUSS DREADNAUGHT SINKS

Imperatritsa Marie Sent to Bottom of Black Sea by Explosion.

Petrograd, Nov. 24.—Russia officially announces the loss of the dreadnaught Imperatritsa Maria. The statement issued last night reads:

"The Russian dreadnaught Imperatritsa Maria has been sunk by an internal explosion. Two hundred of the crew are missing."

Early in November a report was in circulation that the Imperatritsa Maria had gone to the bottom and that nearly all of its crew had perished. Later, on Nov. 11, Berlin reported by wireless that a Bulgarian headquarters' dispatch announced that a fireman of the battleship had reached the Bulgarian coast and confirmed the destruction of the dreadnaught, which, it was stated, had been sunk by a mine near Sulina, or Feodossia Island, at the mouth of the Danube.

The Imperatritsa Maria was launched in 1914 and displaced 22,500 tons. Its officers and crew numbered about 1,000 men. The vessel was 550 feet long and had a draft of 27 feet. It was armed with ten 12-inch, twenty 5-inch, and four 2.3-inch guns and four 3-pounders and four torpedo tubes.

CHILD BREAKS LEG.

WILL WED ENGLISH SOLDIER.

Lagrange, Ind., Nov. 24.—Announcement was made here last night by Dr. Faith Spangler, daughter of the late George Spangler, of this county, that she would leave for England, Dec. 2, to wed Lieutenant John Gaund, of the English army. Dr. Spangler stated that her future husband had been relieved from active service for a brief period. It was while training at Dublin hospital that Dr. Spangler met Lieutenant Gaund. Since returning to this country a steady correspondence has been kept up.

Fuel oil obtained from Scotch shale fields has been found highly suitable for the British navy, and it is estimated that from 400,000 to 500,000 tons will be available annually for 150 years.

GENERAL TREVINO STILL HOLDS OUT

BULLETIN.

Juarez, Mex., Nov. 24.—Francisco Villa renewed his attacks on Chihuahut City today and was again repulsed and his forces driven from their positions outside the city, it was announced at military headquarters here shortly after noon today.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 24.—Francisco Villa and his command renewed their attack on Chihuahua City at 9 o'clock this morning, a message received in Juarex stated.

Andres Garcia, inspector general of Carranza consulates, today officially denied a report that General Trevino and his forces were at Terrazas station north of Chihuahua City and had evacuated Chihuahua City.

"General Gonzales was talking with General Trevino over the military telegraph at 10 o'clock and General Trevino was in the military headquarters in the state capital," Mr. Garcia said. "There is absolutely nothing to such a wild rumor," he added. "Neither is there any truth in the rumor that Carranza troops joined Villa."

It was reported here today that Villa had succeeded in entering Chihuahua City and that street fighting was in progress. The Juarez officials claim they have nothing from Chihuahua City regarding this report.

Killed in the Fighting.

One general, two colonels and one hundred men fo the Carranza forces were killed during the fighting yesterday between Carranza troops and Villa bandits. Four hundred men of the Villa command are known to have been killed and left on the battlefield. The names of the Carranza officers killed have been suppressed by the military censor.

Gen. Jacinto Trevino,, in command of the Carranza forces, suffered a scalp wound. He continued directing the movements of his command. After machine guns, which were placed about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, had poured an enfilading fire into the Villa ranks, Gen Carlos Ozuna, Trevino's chief of cavalry, delivered an attack on the Villa center and drove the bandit forces back in disorder. The battle ended at 7:30 p. m., with General Ozuna pursuing the Villa command.

Troops Desert Carranza.

Richard Wisbrun, an American member of a party arriving here early today from Chihuahua, said that 1,000 Carranza troops sent out Wednesday by General Trevino, commander at Chihuahua, have gone over to the bandits without firing a shot.

SAYS HE KILLED IN SELF DEFENSE

Huntsville, Ala., Nov. 24.—David D. Overton, former clerk of the Madison county circuit court, took the stand today at his trial for the murder of Judge W. T. Lawler, his political opponent, and testified that he killed the jurist in self defense. Lawler's body was found in the river last June and until Overton spoke today the manner of his death was unknown.

Overton said he met Lawler on the Whitesburg bridge near here on the night of June 14. Lawler, he said, rushed him several times, knife in hand, and they fought over a wide area, that he shot the jurist with a revolver after striking him on the head several times with the weapon. He denied he had anything to do with the disposition of Lawler's body or with the alleged painting out of blood spots on the bridge. After he killed Lawler, Overton said he returned to Huntsville, went to the court house and called Sheriff Robert Phillips over the telephone. Later Sheriff Phillips told me to let him make the occurrence public after he had made plans for my safety. Phillips advised me to go out of town for medical treatment. I went to Chattanooga, where my wounds were dressed. Overton said he went into the mountains and tried to destroy the blood-stained clothing and identified a bundle of clothing exhibited as the same he buried.

WILL AWAIT COURT RULE

Government and Roads in Program That Defers Action for the Time.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Under a tentative agreement reached today between department of justice officials and railroad attorneys the government will not insist on railroads putting into effect provisions of the Adamson act until the supreme court has determined the law's constitutionality. The measure becomes effective January 1, but prosecutions for violations would be withheld.

The agreement is conditional on the ability of counsel for the government and railroads who are in Kansas City today to appear before the federal court there in the Santa Fe suit to decide on what case should be appealed to the supreme court for the test. The agreement also would provide that the railroads should not file new suits attacking the Adamson law pending the supreme court's decision, and should not institute further actions if the law be held valid. It would not seek to prevent effort to obtain legislation amending the Adamson act, however.

The joint congressional investigating committee at today's session heard Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the railway executives' advisory committee, continue his presentation of the railroads' ideas of legislative reform needed to better transportation conditions.

Will Need New Capital.

Railroads will need $1,250,000,000 additional capital annually for the next ten or twelve years to increase their facilities to handle the country's growing commerce, Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the railway executives' advisory committee, told the congressional railroad investigating committee today, continuing his statement on behalf of the railroads begun yesterday. About $250,000,000 a year additional will be required, he said, to refund maturing indebtedness.

To attract investors, Mr. Thom suggested that federal regulation should replace the present system of authority divided between the states and the central government. He cited examples of injustice and hampering of railroad financing caused by state control of issues by interstate roads.

Referring to the need of additional railroad facilities Mr. Thom said: "It has been found that the wealth of the country has been increasing at the rate of eight or nine per cent. a year and the same ratio of increase has held good as to the demand for transportation. As the forces which have affected the growth and development of the past apparently still continue in full operation, and may reasonably be expected to continue for the next ten or fifteen years, at least, the investment in railroad facilities to meet the large requirements of

New York, Nov. 24.—A "safety first" publicity campaign to instruct citizens how to avoid street accidents and other dangers has been inaugurated by Police Commissioner Woods. There was used in the campaign 50,000 posters, $00,000 booklets and 1,000 picture slides in addition to moving pictures of policemen in the act of distributing campaign material. The safety booklets which are obtainable for the asking from all policemen, contains a long series of "don'ts," some of which are:

"Don't run across streets through heavy traffic.

"The busiest man I know wastes thirty minutes a day; why risk your life to save five seconds crossing a street?

"Never attempt to cross a street with a bundle or umbrella over your head, or reading a newspaper.

"Your automobile may be under cotrol, but how about the other fellow's? He may be a crazy man. You don't know.

"Don't be too eager to pull out your watch and give the time of daly to everybody who asks for it.

"Don't carry your handbag suspended by a strap from your wrist. Hold it tightly in your hand.

"Don't beat your rugs or stir up ashes so that your dust will be blown into your neighbor's apartment to fall on his food or to be breathed by him."

NEEDS SUPPLY OF TOADS.

Governor of Guam Makes Appeal to Navy Department.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Common toads are wanted by the governor of Guam, and Captain Roy C. Smith, U. S. N., in an effort to eradicate a deadly disease prevalent among cattle of the island possessions. Toads with ravenous appetites and particularly fond of snails are especially preferred, the captain says. Snails are responsible for the disease. Captain Smith appealed to the navy department urging that an immediate shipment of toads be sent him. Navy officials confess they are unable to comply and will forward the request to the department of agriculture.

FIRST PICTURE OF MUNICIPAL COAL MINE.

First picture of the Terre Haute (Ind.) municipal coal yard from which the city sells coal at $2.75 a ton while retailers ask $5 and $6.

Mayor Gossom, of Terre Haute, leased an independent coal mine three miles from the city, chartered all the coal wagons he could get and organized farmers to haul coal.

The retailers had shot the price to $6 a ton. Gossom put the price at $2.75. The city received 200 cash orders the first day.

AUXILIARY SERVICE BILL MOST IMPORTANT

German Proposal Is Held Tremendously Vital as War Measure.

London, Nov. 24.—The German auxiliary service bill is considered by Secretary of the Interior von Loebell as surpassing in importance all previous war measures, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuter's, describing the debate on the bill before the main committee of the reichstag.

Secretary von Loebell opened the debate on the bill which provides for the services of all men from 17 to 60. He said that besides the millions whom it would render liable to service in the army, it would affect three million others to be called upon for other services in this war which "is not only a war of armies, but a war of political economy, a war of nations."

Explaining that the object of the bill was the mobilization of labor, the minister declared that instead of lack of employment, which prevailed at the beginning of the war, there was now a positive lack of labor, especially in the manufacture of munitions and war material of all kinds. He said that the bill is intended to assure the sustenance of the laboring population and that compulsion would only be used as a last resort and was not needed for women. "The bill must prove to the whole world," he said, "Germany's determination to fight with all her forces to the uttermost."

EXPECT BIG BUSINESS AT LOCAL POSTOFFICE

Preparations are already being made at the Fort Wayne postoffice for the tremendous rush of business around Christmas time. Warnings have been sent out to Christmas shoppers to send their packages and parcels early. Last year, according to Postmaster E. C. Miller, the people did very well, the result being that the work was cleaned up in record time and everybody was given prompt and early service. But all estimates from over the country indicate that there will be an increase of at least twenty-five percent. in the parcel post Christmas business this year, and so there is all the more reason for doing Christmas mailing early.

Patrons of the postoffice are asked to bear in mind that packages and parcels should be well packed and tied and marked with the name of the person to whom they are sent, his or her street number or rural route number. They are asked to put their own name and address on the packages so that it may be returned in case it cannot be delivered to the person to whom it is sent.

It Is Disguised on Menu as "Beef and Rice Croquettes."

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Today is "hash day" in the race of the Chicago health department's diet squad against the high cost of living. Disguised as "beef and rice croquette," it appeared on the luncheon menu, but Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner, admitted it was the left over of Wednesday beef purchases.

To test the satisfying power of the food which they have been eating since Wednesday, members of the squad will eat dinner tonight at a table adjoining one at which venison will be served.

The venison, a gift to Dr. Robertson and intended for the use of the squad, was held to be a luxury, which could not be included properly in the living test. Later the twelve dieters will attend the annual ball of the health department tonight, but are forbidden to partake of refreshments.

Today's Menu Was.

Breakfast — Stewed pears, griddle cakes, sirup, coffee.

BELGIAN MOVEMENT INTERVIEW SUBJECT

Secretary Grew Talks It Over with Imperial Chancellor.

Berlin, Nov. 23.—(Via London), Nov. 24.—Secretary Joseph C. Grew, of the United States embasey, had an hour's interview yesterday afternoon with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg regarding the Belgian movement. He laid before the chancellor informally and unofficially suggestions for a certain amelioration of the compulsory employment of Belgian workmen as concessions to Belgian national feelings and public opinion. Details of the conversation are regarded for the present as confidential.

The Spanish ambassador, as the official representative of Belgian interests, also had a conference with the chancellor on the same subject.

Virtual Disavowal Appears in Wireless Message from Berlin.

London, Nov. 24.—A virtual disavowal that a German submarine had anything to do with the sinking of the British hospital ship Britannic in the Aegean sea is contained in a wireless today from Berlin which reads:

"According to the reports so far at hand the Britannic was proceeding from England to Saloniki. For a journey in this direction a large number of persons on board was extraordinarily striking and justifies a strong suspicion of the misuse of a hospital ship for transport purposes.

"Inasmuch as she bore the distinguishing marks of a hospital ship in accordance with regulations there can naturally be no question of a German submarine in connection with the sinking."

ALL NURSES SAVED.

Athens, Nov. 23.—(Via London), Nov. 24.—All of the nurses on the Britannic were saved as far as is known. Those who were drowned were stokers and engineers.

WOUNDED SAVED WHEN HOSPITAL SHIP SINKS

Braemer Castle Victim of Mine or Torpedo in Aegean Sea.

London, Nov. 24.—The British hospital ship Braemar Castle, of 6,280 tons gross, bound from Saloniki to Malta with wounded, has been mined or torpedoed in the Aegean sea. It was officially announced today. All on board were saved.

CONQUEST ALL BUT COMPLETE

Today's War News Given in Summary

Virtual completion of the Teutonic conquest of Little Wallachia is announced today by Berlin. Orsova and Turnu-Severin on the Danube have been captured by the Austro-German forces, which have broken the resistance of the Rumanians in this section of western Rumania. No mention is made of the booty taken or of the fate of the Rumanian forces who were defending the Orsova region. The retreat of these forces is assumed to have been cut off with the recent capture by Gen. von Falkenhayn's armies of Craiova and with it the only main line railroad leading eastward.

Pushing eastward from the Jiul valley after their capture of Craiova the Austro-German forces are now announced as approaching the Alt valley. It is along this valley that the Rumanians apparently have elected to make their next stand.

Simultaneously a movement has been made, presumably by the Bulgarians, which may prove of notable importance. Bucharest reports an attempt by hostile forces to cross the Danube at Zimnitza, thirty-five miles southwest of Girgiu, on the railroad leadiny to Bucharest. This move, if successful, would mean a cutting in far behind the present Rumanian line along the Alt. Zimnitza is seventy miles southwest of Bucharest.

On the other hand the Russians have made a counter-move in Dobrudja. Petrograd announces that they are pushing south and have reached Lake Tashaul, about twelve miles north of Constanza, which is the Black sea terminal of the railroad from Tchernavoda, and have crossed the Kartal river. Berlin announces a battle in this region declaring, however, that the Russians were thrown back from advanced positions.

Both east and west of Monastir on the Macedonian front the entente armies are pressing the Germano-Bulgarians lises hard and making further advances, according to the French war office announcement today. Berlin announces the repulse of local attacks by entente troops northwest and northeast of Monastir.

Neither Paris nor London reports any infantry activity on the front in France and Belgium. According to Berlin the British attacked in the Ancre region but failed to gain ground.

Berlin, Nov. 24.—Orsova and Turnu-Severin, both on the Danube, have been captured by Austro-German troops, the war office announces.

The resistance of the Rumanians in the extreme western section of Rumania has been broken, the statement says. On the Wallachian plains the Teutonic forces are approaching the Alt.

Heavy firing began north of the Ancre yesterday afternoon, the war office announced and subsequently the British made several attacks, but were unable to reach the German positions.

ADVANCE IN DOBRUDJA.

Bucharest, Nov. 24.—Rumanian forces have assumed the offensive in the province of Dobrudja, says the official statement issued today by the Rumanian war department, and have advanced along the entire front, capturing several towns about fifteen miles north of the Tchernavoda-Constanza railroad line.

In the Oltenie valley the statement adds, the Rumanians have withdrawn from the left bank of the Oltetz river.

An attempt to cross the Danube at a point thirty-five miles southwest of Giurgiu, on the railroad leading northward to Bucharest, has been made by Teutonic forces, the war office announces.

BOMBARDMENT ON SOMME.

Paris, Nov. 24.—There was a lively bombardment on the Somme front last night in the region of Sailley-Saillisel, north of the river, and that of Ablaincourt, south of the stream, the war office announced today. The night was uneventful on the remainder of the front.

NOTED GENIUS WAS BORN IN AMERICA

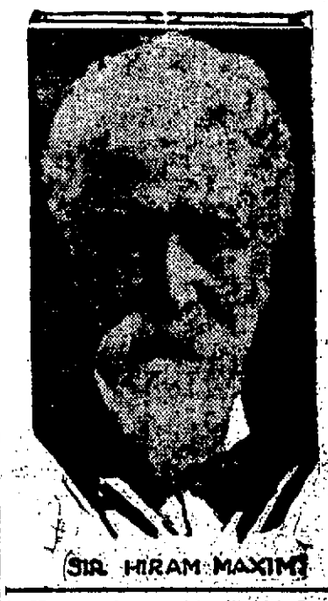
Knighted by Queen Victoria After Going to England in 1881.

London, Nov. 24.—Sir Hiram Maxim, inventor of the automatic system of firearms, died at his home here early this morning.

News of Sir Hiram's critical illness was given out yesterday. He was nearly 77 years of age and had lived in London for many years.



SIR HIRAM MAXIM

Was American Born.

Sir Hiram Stevens Maxim, American born, was one of the most famous inventors, civil, mechanical and electrical engineers of Great Britain. He was most widely known as the inventor of the Maxim machine gun, which makes the recoil of the weapon serve as the power for reloading, and which is the weapon largely used in the European war today.

He was born in Sangerville, Me., Feb. 5, 1840, the son of Isaac Weston and Harriet M. Maxim, and received only a common school education, but he acquired scientific knowledge by reading and attending lectures. He went to England in 1881, and had resided there ever since. He was knighted by Queen Victoria in 1901.

New York Police Recover Nearly All Loot in Big Robbery.

New York, Nov. 24.—Nearly all of the jewels valued at $60,000, stolen from Mrs. E. H. Harriman here, were recovered by the police today. A small ruby, traced through three separate sales and believed to be in the hands of a Maiden Lane jeweler, and a diamond valued at $10,000, are still missing. The early recovery of both was predicted.

According to the police the robbery was committed some time between May 24, when Mrs. Harriman deposited the jewels in a vault, and November 13, when she went to get them to wear at the opening of the opera season. The loss was reported November 15.

Arthur P. Daggett, of Larchmont, N. Y., and Orville Daggett, of Brooklyn, were arrested last night on complaint of Clement Arthur Tegethoff, manager of the Harriman estate, and charged with the theft. The police offered no opinion as to the manner in which the robbery was committed.

Arthur P. Daggett was employed in the vault of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company, which is located in the basement of the building occupied by the Harriman National bank. Orville was employed as a clerk in the offices of the International Mercantile Marine corporation. The accused men are past forty. The most precious jewel recovered was a ruby valued at $40,000, which is said to be one of the finest of its kind in the world. This gem the police found in the pocket of an old pair of trousers in the home of Arthur P. Daggett. The smaller ruby was attached to the larger one by a platinum chain set with thirty-five small diamonds. The chain was recovered

"The demand for labor and the product thereof has been unprecedented in Indiana during the past year. Wages have been high and so have prices of the surplus of the factory, mine and field, so high in truth that the problem of family support in some homes has become a most serious question. But while the solution of this problem is still pressing and conditions are far from ideal, yet our people are patient and hopeful and comparatively happy, because prosperity has blessed our state generally and peace has abounded throughout our nation, spreading greater good will among all the people.

"Other nations are at war with one another, and some have their own internal discord and strife; but with our beloved country it is different. We are at peace with the world and free from internal bitterness. We have our differences, of course, as a free and thinking people, but we are composing them and reconciling ourselves by rational methods without resorting to the law of the strong hand. For a continuance of this condition we all pray, while we address ourselves individually and collectively in a sober and patriotic fashion to a just and humane solution of our social and civic problems.

"The desire among the people for right living is more militant than it was a year ago, and our civilization is on a higher plane. The forces making for good citizenship have been alert and aggressive, and the forces of evil have been put on the defensive in the open. All this means that a broader spirit and a more fraternal feeling permeate the social atmosphere. The security and perpetuity of our state and nation depend upon the growth and maintenance of this cordial co-operation; to the end that the passing of the years will strengthen our foundation and promote the happiness of all our people.

"Now, therefore, I, Samuel M. Ralston, governor of Indiana, in obedience to law and in conformity with a worthy custom, do hereby designate and proclaim Thursday, November 30, 1916, as Thanksgiving day, and I urge its observance by the people of the state in such a manner as will be in keeping with the spirit and significance of the day."

THINKS THEY MAY YET FIGHT.

French Minister of War Wants New Examination of Exempted Men.

Paris, Nov. 24.—The minister of war has introduced a bill in the chamber of deputies by which all persons exempted from military service or mustered out as physically unfit, prior to April 1, 1916, must submit to a further medical examination. During the first period of the war the main object in recruiting was not to overcrowd the depots and consequently only the strongest men were taken. The minister believes that of several hundred thousand men exempted an appreciable number will be found on a less perfunctory medical examination, to be capable of rendering service.

CALLS SALOON CHEESE FAKE.

New York, Nov. 24.—Saloon cheese and beer may be filling, but if there is any nourishment in such a repast it is not in the cheese, it was brought out at the hearing of the Wicks legislative committee investigatting conditions here. It developed that "saloon cheese" is not purely a descriptive title, but is the trade name for a specific article made out of skimmed milk and sold only to saloons for free lunch counters, according to the testimony of Ole Salthe, assistant director of the food and drug bureau of the city health department.

Nothing for New Territory.

The estimate of $1,250,000,000 for additional transportation facilities includes nothing for extensions into new territory, he added.

"Where is this money or any sum approximating it to come from," asked Mr. Thom. "This problem is one of vital interest to the public because on it successful solution depends the commercial facilities of the country. Would it do to confront the investor, when asking for this great investment, with a situation where the revenues of the railroads are not subject to the control of the investors, but are fixed and limited not only by governmental authority, but by many uncoordinated state authorities in no way responsible to each other, and where the railroads cannot control and the government cannot and does not limit the expense account."

Mr. Thom referred to the recent case in which the New York Central, which has not over twenty miles of line in Illinois, was taxed $600,000 by the state of Illinois as a condition of the consent of that state to the issue of certain securities. He asked why the states of New York, Ohio, Indiana and the others through which the road runs, could not, with as much reason, exercise the same right.

IT GOES TO GREGORY.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 24.—A tentative agreement on a test case of the Adamson law has been reached by the attorneys of the railroads and of the government, who have been in conference here. The agreement has been forwarded to Attorney General Gregory, at Washington and the conference here will wait his action upon it.

Announcement of the tentative agreement was made today, but attorneys in the conference said they were not ready to state its terms.

The hearing before Judge John C. Pollock, in Kansas City, Kan., on the injunction suit brought by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway will not be held, it was said, until final action on the agreement is taken. Meanwhile, witnesses for the government and for the Santa Fe are being detained in Judge Pollock's court.

For many years Sir Hiram was a director in the firm of Vickers Sons & Maxim, but resigned that post in 1911. For more than thirty years he experimented in aeronautics and invented flying machines. In the light of the present war, with its numerous German airship raids on England, it is remarkably interesting to recall that eight years ago Sir Hiram took the British nation to task for its small interest in aeronautics and pointed then, at a time when aeroplanes were in their infancy, that England was in grave danger of bombardment by airships.

"Does anyone doubt for a moment," said he, "that in case we find ourselves at war with a continental power, airships will be used for bombarding English towns, both on the coast and inland? The city of London within a year's time can be attacked without our enemy needing to fear the boasted British fleet."

Resumes Aviation Problems.

Following the success of the Wright biplane, Sir Hiram renewed his long-continued interest in aviation and in 1910 perfected a machine which he declared had certain advantages over the Wrights'. It was he who, with others, interested the British government in beginning its organization of an aerial navy, and though he was then 70 years old he lived to see the great war bring air fighting to pass in even greater measure, probably, than he himself had dreamed.

In addition to his gun and aeroplane, he patented many electrical inventions, including incandescent lamps, self-regulating current machines, several pieces of ordnance and a smokeless powder.

The aged inventor took a keen interest in the war, and from time to time there were unconfirmed reports of his invention of devices to meet the needs of the war, one of them being an apparatus to counteract the effects of the poisonous gases which the Germans were first to bring into use. In 1915 he was appointed a member of the inventions board of the British munitions department under Lloyd George.

Sir Hiram applied himself so strenuously to science throughout his long life that even his recreations were given by him as "reading scientific books and studying abstract sciences." He wrote many important articles and an autobiography, "My Life," in 1915.

He was a chevalier of the Legion of Honor, a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Royal Society of Arts, the British Association for the Advancement of Science and numerous other scientific bodies.

gees in passenger coaches and three box cars were filled with Chinese. The train left Chihuahua at noon yesterday a short time after the attack on Chihuahua by the Villa bandits began.

At that time the guns on Santa Rosa hill were firing at intervals and the rifle fire on both sides was said to have been brisk. Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis and another American named Harris boarded the train at Chihuahua, but left it and remained behind when Carranza officers told them that the train was certain to be attacked and they had no chance to reach the border. The train crew objected to leaving and were only induced to make the trip upon receiving $40 gold collected by the passengers. Others were of the opinion the town would be surrendered to Villa after a brief resistance as practically the entire civilian population and many of the soldiers are believed to be Villa sympathizers.

Was Not Unexpected.

Villa's attack on Chihuahua City was not unexpected by the Carranza garrison, Mexican officials here said today, as Villa had publicly announced both at Parral and Santa Rosalia that his next action would be to take Chihuahua and then to drive the American expedition out of Mexico. It was because of military movements tending to give substance to these threats, according to officials, that General Trevino a week ago remained on the defensive in Chihuahua City after announcing a week ago his departure for the field.

"Villa's boldness in assaulting an equal force protected by well-made entrenchments is ascribed to a common belief that Trevino was seriously short of small ammunition. It is thought here that Trevino allowed this impression to spread so as to insure its reaching Villa while in fact he had sufficient for all emergencies. A large number of Mexicans residing in Juarez came across to El Paso last night because of disquieting rumors there. One was that Villa had captured Chihuahua and the Juarez garrison in consequence intended to revolt and join him.

Dispatches last evening announced that Villa withdrew his surviving forces in defeat from Chihuahua City at 6:15 o'clock after a battle of seven hours during which he made fruitless attempts to carry General Trevino's protecting works by assault.

The bandit chieftain is reported to have led his men in person.

Dragging Around, Constipated, Bilious?

Feeling tired and nervous, tongue covered with a furry coat, skin sallow, constipated. Your food feels as heavy as lead. It all comes from your liver. Too much rich food has choked the bile tubes; you become constipated and bile is being absorbed into the system.

Tollo Water from Dawson Springs, Kentucky, will give quick relief. Get a 15-cent bottle from the drug store—pour about a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water and drink it before breakfast. In a few minutes it will flush—really wash out—the bile and waste from the system and start you feeling fine. Then you can eat all you want without feeling stuffed or bloated. You will know again the pleasure of an active energetic life.—Advertisement

Vanquished and Victor in Pleasant Exchange of Greetings.

Indianapolis, Nov. 24.—Charles W. Fairbanks and Thomas R. Marshall, neighbors and political opponents, yesterday exchanged greetings, the republican candidate for the vice presidency first sending the following message:

"My Dear Mr. Vice President:—I will avail myself of the earliest opportunity since the ascertainment of the California vote, to extend to you my cordial personal congratulations upon your re-election as vice president. My very best wishes go with you always."

Mr. Marshall sent the following reply:

"Dear Mr. Fairbanks—I thank you sincerely for your kind letter of congratulation. As a partisan, it is worth much to know that we have won. As a man, it is worth more to know that the years of personal friendship have not ended with this campaign and to feel that there are left a few men at least who may differ in politics and yet wish each other well. I rejoice to believe that you always have been of that chosen few. Long life and serene content for you."

Vice President Marshall intends departing for Washington Dec. 2.

Federal Forest Service to Co-Operate With Trade in the Work.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—The census of the lumber production of the country for 1916 will be undertaken by the forest service in co-operation with the National Lumber Manufacturers' association. The information to be obtained by this work, it is stated, will be of immense benefit to the lumber industry, the forest service, and other branches of the government.

It is estimated by the forest service that there are more than 30,000 sawmills in the country and it is planned to have the investigation reach every sawmill in operation. Each of these will be asked to make a detailed report of its production. Information is sought as to the total quantity of each kind of wood sawed, the number of lath and shingles manufactured and the average mill value for each species. Printed schedules designed for use in different regions of the country will simplify the collection of the figures and make it easy for each mill man to send in a complete report. The work, it is stated, will be directed by the office of industrial investigations of the forest service in Washington, but the western part of the country will be covered by the district offices of the forest service located in Missoula, Mont.; Denver, Col.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Ogden, Utah; San Francisco, Cal., and Portland, Ore. The officers in charge of these districts, being nearer and thoroughly familiar with the scene of operations, are able to secure returns and compile results in less time than if the work were all handled from Washington.

It is intended that preliminary statements showing the production of the principal species, such as yellow pine, Douglas fir, white pine, and oak, and also the production of the leading states, will be issued as soon as the figures are available. The importance of these annual statistics, forest service officials say, is apparently not fully realized by all of the sawmill men, since past attempts to gather similar data show a large number often fail to reply promptly, or neglect to make any report. A better response has been received from the lumber trade in late years, and the officials in charge of the work believe that with proper co-operation on the part of the lumbermen final figures showing the total production can be announced by June 1, 1917.

LEWIS MACHINE GUN MAY YET BE CHOSEN

Ordnance Board Shows Indication of Admitting Its Error.

BY FREDERICK M. KERBY.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—"What we didn't know, and what we are learning from the European war" might be the title of practically all the recent reports of the ordnance bureau of the war department.

This bureau, which turned down Col. Isaac N. Lewis and his machine gun, now being used by the allies with so much success, apparently is ready to admit its error.

The Rock Island arsenal has been ordered to develop a pack outfit for the Lewis machine gun, a number of which were purchased in the Mexican emergency. The Lewis gun, it is now believed, will be recommended officially by the special machine gun board after tests next spring, as the "light" gun for the service.

Another lesson learned from the European war by our officers is the value of caterpillar wheels for transporting heavy artillery. The 7.6-inch howitzer is the heaviest piece of mobile artillery in use in the American army. As a result of the demonstration of the value of the caterpillar principle in moving the big Krupp guns, our ordnance officials have designed at the Rock Island arsenal a heavy 60-inch wheel with caterpillar shoes, for the 7.6-inch howitzer carriage.

Still another development of the European war is the use of anti-aircraft guns made necessary by the great use of aeroplanes and Zeppelins. The ordnance bureau of our army is now engaged in designing an anti-aircraft attachment so the 3-inch gun carriage now used in the army may be used as a balloon gun.

The use of motor traction in the army is another lesson our war department is learning. The modern army, instead of "traveling on its stomach," literally "travels on its gasoline." Automobile battery wagons for heavy and light artillery are being built to replace the present horse-drawn vehicles, and the 4.7-inch guns, and 6-inch howitzer limbers are being fitted with spare connecting poles to be used for motor traction.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

1 Corinthians 2:1-10.

1 And I brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the tesimony of God.

2 For I determined not to know any thing among you save Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.

4 And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power:

5 That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

6 Howbeit we speak wisdom among them that are perfect: yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world, that come to nought:

7 But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory;

8 Which none of the princes of this world knew: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

9 But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him.

10 But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.

Getting the Right Viewpoint.

Let us get the proper viewpoint from which we are to look at the question of calling a constitutional convention for Indiana. There appears to be an element of our citizenship which is disposed to consider the proposition wholly from its probable effect upon the fortunes of this political party or that. As a matter of fact, if Indiana needs constitutional revision—and there is overwhelming concensus of opinion that it does need it—the issue is of vastly more importance than partisan advantage or partisan embarrassment. Indiana has a fashion, every few years, of changing its political complexion. Victory at the polls is at best but a transitory gain for either democrats or republicans. The constitution under which our state government is operated is well nigh changeless. We have had in recent years numerous illustrations of the extreme difficulty of either single amendment or more extensive revision.

We can reverse political control of the state every two years by the simple expedient of the ballot box, but we have not the opportunity to successfully achieve constitutional improvement in that way because of the cumbersome machinery and the exacting conditions thrown about the making of constitutional change. Is it not vastly more important then, that organic law which must endure indefinitely be given priority to the political fortunes of this party or that? We need to get a more correct appreciation of relative values in this thing.

Through democratic and republican administration alike The Sentinel has in recent years urged the necessity for an amended constitution for Indiana. With practically everybody in Indiana convinced in the opinion that constitutional revision is needed, with practically every political party some time during recent years moving to that end by one means or another, shall the proposal for a constitutional convention be defeated because somebody fears that the political future of some individuals or some political party may be affected by it? It is by no means certain that that effect would develop. Political calamity is wholly suppositious. The people of Indiana, appreciating the need of constitutional revision, should take a higher view of present opportunity than to allow it to be measured by cheap considerations that would prevent the acquiring of a modernized constitution under which their best interests may be served.

President Wilson's forthcoming annual message is said to contain but 2,000 words—which ought to be gratifying news to the citizen who regards is as a patriotic duty to read carefully whatever the president may have to say to congress. He can scarcely fail to recall the long, dreary, profound dissertation, stretching out column after column in his favorite newspaper, with which presidents once were wont to bombard congress each December, to the harassment of the printer, the wearying of the public and to the perplexity of congress itself. One gift President Wilson possesses to a peculiar degree—the ability to say much in few words. For this relief, much thanks.

Henry A. Roberts, newly-elected Indiana state statistician, will name his wife as chief deputy, and similarly Ele Stansbury, attorney-general-elect, announces that his son is to get a deputyship in the attorney general's office. It is beginning to be apparent that whether the loyal republicans over the state who carried the load of the campaign are going to get anything at all or not depends largely on how the families of the newly-elected state officials hold out. Office-hungry Hoosier patriots can hardly regard the outlook as especially cheering.

A newspaper at Chihuahua City, Mexico, prints the startling intelligence that Colonel Roosevelt has launched a revolution in several states of America with the avowed purpose of overthrowing President Wilson, seizing the government and operating it in a fashion to his own liking. Col. Roosevelt will doubtless now begin to realize what reputation will do for a man.

---

California's secretary of state may not be such a mighty big official in the eyes of the nation, but he has demonstrated an amazing grasp of the opportunity to get on the front page in an election aftermath. He declares he will never—no, never, by heck—certify to those presidential returns from California until the last lone vote from the remotest precinct of the sagebrush country is present or accounted for, whether there is an inauguration at Washington next March or not.

Besides, having a coal mine next door and being in position to snap one's fingers at the car shortage problem helps some in the demonstration of Mayor Gossom at Terre Haute that he knows more about running the coal business than the man who invented it. There are unsuspected advantages even in being located beside a coal mine.

---

The president's reply to Mr. Hughes' telegram of congratulations was just as cordial as though it had arrived the morning after election instead of having been held up for more than two weeks until Mr. Hughes decided he would not be taking too many chances in admitting what everybody else knew long before.

Picking Presidents; New Way Suggested

[By Leon Starment.]

This matter, largely agitated since the election, is bound to be a foremost professional topic in the future, until something is done.

Chamberlain has not decided exactly what form his bill will take.

Opponents of direct elections assert the plan never can work out in presidential election, because both big parties will oppose it through fear of benefiting the opposition.

The south, they say, never would consent to turning its election machinery over to the federal government, thereby enfranchising many negroes now barred under educational tests.

* * *

Under our present system (if you can call it that) selection of a president starts along in April or May, with naming of delegates to county conventions. The county conventions pick delegates to state conventions, and the state conventions select delegates to the national convention. Some states have a primary arrangement, but in most of these the dominant factor in each party wins, so that the national delegates represent merely the faction of a political party that is stronger than any other faction.

This leaves every loophole for domination of the party conventions by any political boss who is strong enough to dominate.

The national electors, mere pawns to do the bidding of the party which they represent, do not count at all; nevertheless, in a close election, a few electors, if they cared to risk their future, could throw the choice of a president from one party to another if they cared to do so.

Woodrow Wilson isn't re-elected yet; and Hughes could be elected if a few Wilson electors, for any reason whatsoever, should choose to give the defeated candidate their votes. It is easy to conceive that a truly desperate Wall street might some day try to avail itself of human frailty, and defeat the will of the people.

* * *

But with the electoral college abolished, the people would still be choosing between two (or three) candidates picked by the dominant section of a political party.

* * *

To make the election REALLY popular, why not start back in May or June, when the machine slates of delegates are now being picked? Why not hold an election then, at which every voter should indicate the one man he prefers above all others for the presidency?

Nobody would receive a majority, probably, but the vote would indicate who were the really serious candidates.

Then why not hold a second election about the first of September, at which the names of the five or six foremost candidates would be submitted to the voters? A candidate who could not win a place among the first half dozen would be eliminated.

Should a majority choice be expressed at this election, there need be no further balloting; but should the voting still be close, the final election could be held in November, at which the two highest men on the list of six should be the opposing candidates.

Everybody would have to express a choice one way or another; no candidate could be counted out of the race by his party's bosses; and there would be no more "minority presidents."

* * *

And how much chance do you think YOU will have to vote for him under our present system?

TWO WOMEN CLAIM BABY—JURYMEN ARE PUZZLED.

WHICH IS MY MAMMA?

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 17.—"Who is my mother?"

Mrs. Ollie Randle Trumper says she is the child's legal mother. She has been charged with kidnaping the baby from the orphanage.

Mrs. Lena Purvis Wahlquist is the other claimant.

According to testimony, Mrs. Trumper got the child from the orphanage on probation.

Then the juvenile authorities took Valda from her.

According to the charge on which Mrs. Trumper was arrested, she returned to the orphanage and whisked the baby away in an automobile. She was overtaken by police.

In court appeared the other woman. Mrs. Wahlquist says she is the child's real mother and that she left the little girl at the orphanage because she was too poor to care for her.

The only evidence in her favor is the name under which the child was registered at the orphanage.

She says she can't bear to have her child known as the baby of another woman.

To complicate affairs for the twelve jurymen who will have to decide which woman is the child's mother, the baby looks like both of them.

All are blondes, although Mrs. Trumper's hair is lighter. All have blue eyes.

If Mrs. Trumper is acquitted she will get the baby. If found guilty of kidnaping she will not only lose the child, but may be sent to the penitentiary. The maximum penalty is five years.

Aid of School Children in State Enlisted in the Project.

Indianapolis, Nov. 24.—A campaign to save waste paper and rags has been started among school children of the state by Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction. He has sent a letter to all county and city school superintendents in which he calls attention to the amount of paper used in the public schools, and he says it is enormous. The general shortage of the paper and materials from which it is manufactured, he says in his letter, might be alleviated to a small extent by the school children. In addition to the assistance in conserving raw materials, Mr. Greathouse asserts the saving and sale of rags and old paper may become a source of income to the pupil, and also teach him habits of watchfulness and economy. Following are some of the suggestions made by the state superintendent:

Keep waste material clean and dry.
Separate rags from old paper.
Separate cotton from woolen rags.
Separate magazines from other papers.
Tie in bundles or put in bags for convenience in handling.

MUNICIPAL PARK.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 24.—There is considerable talk at Kendallville of establishing a municipal park. A site has been offered the city council fronting Bixler lake, at a cost of $7,500. It is probable that a mass meeting of the citizens of Kendallville will be held to determine what action shall be taken in the matter.

GAS TURNED OFF.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 24.—This city was without gas yesterday afternoon, it being turned off for several hours, causing no little inconvenience to many users.

RICE AND THE COOK

Many people have said to me that they disliked rice because it was so gummy and mushy. There is a variety of rice that cooks up this way and is very unpalatable. It is impossible to cook the ordinary Japan style rice and get a nice, dry, flaky dish. On our package we tell how to cook our fancy, uncoated and unpolished Rice. This method insures a dish that everyone will like. Be sure you get Bursley's High Grade Rice in packages when you try these different recipes. The ordinary rice will disappoint those who want to increase the consumption of rice at their table. Think of rice as a vegetable, not as a pudding for desert. You can easily substitute rice for potatoes. Try this at the next meal.

We will send an order on your grocer for a package of Bursley's Rice to those who send in original methods of cooking rice.

RICE BALLS.

Wash a cup of Bursley's High Grade Rice and boil in one cup of milk and one cup of water; add a teaspoonful of salt when tender. Flavor with any flavor you like. Form into balls or mold it in cups. Turn into a deep dish and fill with custard made with three eggs, a pint of milk, half a cup of sugar; flavor the same as the rice; serve either hot or cold. This makes a nice supper dish.

MISS E. F. MAGNUS.

RICE, MEAT AND TOMATOES.

Fry 10 cents worth of hamburg steak. When done put in one cup of boiled rice and one can of tomatoes. Season with salt and cayenne pepper. Put in an onion if liked.

MISS E. F. MAGNUS.

(For the Casserole)

Wash and boil ½ lb. of rice, adding a pinch of salt. Drain it, and put around the inner edge of the serving dish, the height you wish, smoothing it with a knife. Serve the meat (Fricassee or Curry) in the center. This is excellent for luncheon.

MRS. CHEER.

FRIED RICE.

Cook 1 cup of rice till soft, add 1 egg, a tablespoonful of flour and a little salt and pepper. Stir all together thoroughly. Have a spider ready with a tablespoonful of butter or lard melted, drop the rice in a spoonful at a time. When a nice brown, turn and fry on the other side. This makes a fine breakfast dish.

Hats to Shoes the Very Latest

(By Betty Brown.)

From her bat-winged sailor hat to her cloth top shoes this pleasing maid is garbed according to fashion's latest ruling. Note the stunning coat—its simple, straight lines, the rippling skirt line and the rather full back. It's duvetyn and midnight blue, a most popular color despite the craze for mustard-yellow, burgundy and other glaring shades. The fur trimming is brown martin.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Howe's Travel Pictures Friday Evening and Saturday.

New delights, both of travel and hilarious fun contributed by silhouette cutups, are promised by Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival at the Majestic tonight and tomorrow.

As for the new comedy cartoons, they offer a wealth of laughter that would suffice for a whole season of ordinary so-called comedy films. The fantastic drolleries of the figures evolved in the fertile minds of Howe's cartoon artists may well elicit peals of laughter from the wisest and most serious minded spectators. As to delights of travel, Howe tourists will sail away on this itinerary to "The Isle of Peace"—Hawaii. Conjure up a memory of a most perfect May day when sunshine and budding trees and flowers—when all smiling nature combines to make glad the heart, then multiply it a hundredfold and you may form a faint conception of the surpassing charm transcribed in this filmization. In marked contrast to this phase of the film is another portion and one that is awe-inspiring as it reveals the convulsion of nature in the crater of the volcano of Kilauea and shows a seething inferno of molten lava. Another portion of absorbing interest shows how man-eating sharks are caught.

The program also conveys a splendid message on the timely and vital subject of "preparedness," as exemplified by the manifold duties, rigorous discipline and training in force at America's famous military institution—West Point.

AT THE PALACE.

DARN, GOOD AND FUNNY.

"Darn, Good and Funny" is the title of one of the acts and adequately describes the entire bill at the New Palace theater for the remainder of the week. This trio of fun-makers sing some close harmony, but most of their time is spent in foolishness that last night's audience liked so well it refused to permit the show to go on until the trio refused to do any more work. The bill opens with the Casting Campbells in a sensational aerial casting act in which two of the quartet are swung through some hair-raising turns by the other two. Ernest Evans and company of four little dancing beauties are presenting a dance revue that is a lively bit of terpsichorean effort. The Kaufman Brothers, a team of burnt cork comedians, sing their songs, tell some droll stories and kid the acts that preceded them. Ray L. Royce's character sketches are amusingly done and stamp him as a delineator of odd characters of no small ability. Les Morgan and Beryl Gray are presenting a comedy playlet entitled "Every Day in the Year," a little domestic farce-comedy that is so human everyone can remember something of the sort happening to him.

AT THE TEMPLE.

With "Deserted at the Altar" drawing to a successful close, Fort Wayne playgoers and particularly the patrons of the Temple theater, are anticipating with no little pleasure the advent of "The Angelus," sequel to another great triumph, "The Rosary," which will be the attraction offered next week by Manager Wolford's star players. Jack Doty will play the part of Father Whelan, an exceedingly strong character, and the assurance is given that all the favorites will be seen in an excellent cast. "The Angelus" is practically a new play. It has only been dramatized but a few months, and Fort Wayne theatergoers are given an opportunity to see it at this early stage only through the efforts and influence of the well known firm of Darcy & Wolford, the New York play brokers. Louis Wolford, as a son of the junior partner, is favored naturally and in this way Fort Wayne this season will see some practically new plays while the Temple Stock company is holding the boards.

In "Deserted at the Altar" the members are proving that melodrama is a splendid vehicle in which to display their talents as a well balanced company. Tonight will be bargain night and the usual performances will mark the conclusion of the bill Saturday.

A Chicago physician has invented apparatus with which he says he can tell whether a person really is hungry or whether his appetite, a nervous phenomenon, is active.

For Girl Who Dances

(By Betty Brown.)

The dance frock has become almost a "necessity of life." Here's one that may be of silk voile or cobwebby lace—the lines, not the material, give it distinction.

The model is Delft blue velvet and champagne color chiffon. The chiffon is set in small pleats to give the effect of a pleated waist. The yoke is elaborately embroidered in metallic embroidery in half a dozen bright colors.

Mother Goose Story Picture at Jefferson

The "grown-ups" as well as the children of Fort Wayne will be given an opportunity on Saturday morning to see one of the best moving pictures ever exhibited in this city. The film, "Modern Mother Goose," is rather a new film, never having been shown outside of Chicago, and is a production by a photoplay company who secured the photoplay rights of this very interesting three-act play (from a book, "Modern Mother Goose," by Helen Hamilton), which was produced and performed under the direction of Harriet Van Bogardus at Cohan's Grand Opera house in Chicago.

The acting company consists of 105 children and several adult players, one of whom is Frederick Russell Clark, who takes the part of the Giant, a part for which he is eminently fitted, having portrayed the character of Ursus in "Quo Vadis" on tour in the spoken drama.

When the actual work of filming "Modern Mother Goose" was begun arrangements were made with the University of Chicago to take several of the scenes in and about the university grounds. The commissioners of both Washington and Lincoln parks gave their permission and several incidents were photographed in their precincts. The management of the Congress hotel was also very gracious in placing their beautiful Elizabethian room at the disposal of the company so that the production abounds in many beautiful and heretofore unphotographed scenes and locations.

A prologue has been introduced which features Ellis Paul, the youngest motion picture star in filmdon, and narrates the story of Tommy, a poor boy who has to go without a birthday party. He wins the regard of a good fairy who for his gentleness rewards him by transporting him to the edge of Gooseland where he can see into the realm presided over by Mother Goose and King Cole. Then the story unfolds showing the adventures of the children of the Old Woman Who Lived in the Shoe.

The children are transported through space by Mother Goose on the back of one of her trained geese to the Moon garden of Mistress Mary where are introduced the various well known celebrities such as Tom, Tom, the Piper's Son, Little Jack Horner, Jack-be-Nimble, Wee Willie Winkie, the Four Maids of Perth, and all the others who have endeared themselves to the youth of our land. After the games in the Moon garden, Mother Goose takes her departure, warning the children to watch out for the Giant who lives near and who will steal them if they overstay the midnight hour. The children beg for one more game and promptly at the stroke of twelve the Giant arrives and captures the children and carries them to his castle.

The Kings of Gooseland are notified that the children have been stolen and upon being summoned by King Cole they pledge their fealty to the King and promise not to rest until the children are restored. The Giant from his tower observes the approach of the kings and their retinues and goes out to meet them unarmed. He is overcome eventually and taken into King Cole's courtroom where the celebrated fiddlers charm him with their playing. Finally his hard heart is softened and Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines goes to rescue the children with pageantry and dancing. The Giant shaves off his beard and becomes the guardian of all the children of Gooseland.

This wonderfully interesting film will be shown at the Jefferson theater Saturday morning at two performances, 9:00 and 10:30, under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Kindergarten association. Since this is an expensive film, and the association hopes to make a little money for its treasury, everybody is asked to "Boost for Mother Goose."

PICKING OUT AND COOKING THE TURKEY.

By Biddy Bye.

The perfect turkey weighs about ten pounds. There is danger of drying out a smaller turkey in roasting.

The wings of a young turkey are soft and pliable, the feet supple; legs smooth, breast bone not rigid. The eyes, though glazed, should not be sunken.

An over-fat turkey does not cook well. The fat on the breast injures the quality of the meat.

Singe the fowl by going over it with a lighted twist of paper.

If the turkey is stuffed the day before roasting, rub a little lemon juice and salt into the skin and keep in a cold place.

Place the turkey in the pan, breast down, and roast one hour, then turn. Cook a turkey 20 minutes to the pound and baste often.

Send the turkey to the table on the largest platter in the house to aid the carver.

The intense heat developed by high power incandescent lamps has led to the invention of a socket which is said to be proof against any temperature.

BIDDY BYE GIVES POINTERS IN REMODELING MILLINERY.

[By Biddy Bye.]

Clever women who can remodel dresses often hestitate to make over hats, which is unfortunate, this season, because women no wachieve their best millinery effects by the number of their hats rather than their elaborateness.

Band boxes often contain marvelous possibilities for the manufacture of some of these extra chapeaux. As a rule the amateur milliner can get the best results with an intricate structure such as a variation of the velvet tam.

Given a good velvet brimmed hat of last year, either of the two models pictured today may be constructed. If the hat has a sailor brim, it can be completely changed in appearance by the addition of a puff about the crown. The edges of the puff can be concealed beneath a band of silver ribbon.

If the brim of the old hat is passe or unbecoming it can be removed and a new shirred flare added. If the upward and backward line is cleverly copied the result will be the very latest style of turban.

JOB-HUNTERS NUMEROUS.

Candidates for Appointive Places Coming to the Front.

Indianapolis, Nov. 24.—Candidates for various appointive positions under the state officers-elect, especially in connection with the coming session of the legislature, are appearing rapidly.

W. R. Jinnett, Rush county, is a candidate for chaplain of the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, which carries a salary of $1,800 a year, he has announced. He was a representative in the 1915 legislature.

Four veterinarians have been mentioned for the position of state veterinarian. They are Dr. C. I. Fleming, Terre Haute; Dr. R. C. Julian, Delphi; Dr. T. A. Walsh, Brazil, and Dr. Helvis, Connersville.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels, the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It clean's out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

GET THERE AND BACK AIR SQUADRON MOTTO

Field Headquarters American Punitive Expedition in Mexico, Nov. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—"Get there and back," is the motto of the punitive expedition's aero squadron. Censorship restrictions have placed an almost impenetrable hedge about the army aviators, but it may be said the squadron has lived up to its motto.

Flights are not begun at sea level, where the propeller blades can grip the air, but at a height of 5,000 to 7,000 feet, where the atmosphere is thin. The mountains, canons and sun-baked plains plus the altitude, combine to produce air currents and pockets that are a constant source of peril.

In one case a pilot went through that nightmare of all aviators, a spiral nose dive. The machine was flying at an altitude of 5,000 feet, which is more than 10,000 above sea level, when it struck an air pocket. Clouds obscured the pilot's vision and he had no idea where he was. When he realized that manipulation of his controls produced no effect, he glanced at his compass. It was turned sideways, indicating that his plane was falling with its wings at right angles to the earth. Carefully he reversed his controls, fearing that too quick a reverse would crumple the planes. Several times he did that. At last he felt them take hold.

Just then the clouds thinned and he saw the earth not more than 500 feet beneath him. He had fallen like a plummet at least 4,000 feet.

Another pilot at an altitude of several thousand feet early one morning noticed a sheet of flame shoot from the hood of his machine. Startled, he began to volplane down, seeking a place to land. He throttled down the motor and the flame receded. When he gave the engine gas a few moments later to regain momentum, the flame reappeared. Several times this occurred. Finally he glided to earth and got out to inspect the aeroplane. Everything seemed in good shape. There were no signs of fire. The flame he had seen had been the rays of the early morning sun gleaming on the highly polished, red blades of his propeller.

Other Uses for Bridal Gowns

It's cotton net, charming material for a youthful bride, and the trimming is silver lace. The fitted bodice is silver lace. The tucks on the skirt are stitched in silver and silver stitching delicately decorates bodice and sleeves.

The foundation slip of net is stitched in silver and ornamented with silver bows. The net train is attached at the shoulder line. When train and veil are removed the wedding frock becomes a dancing frock. The veil is tulle arranged on the head in the form of a helmet.

"I Never Saw Anything To Equal It"

It's the bigest furniture value I ever saw advertised in my twenty years' experience." That's what a visiting furniture man said the other day when we showed him this combination and told him how low we were going to sell it. "If the people of this town understand real value, you won't have enough on hand to satisfy the demand." That was his closing remark. Personally we do not know of a single case where a dining room combination of this sort ever sold for so little and it is just another example of the big things this store is doing.

The Massive Solid Oak Extension Table

The table is just as pictured, made of the finest genuine oak and built on the true mission lines; has a very large solid pedestal, with heavy massive legs. The design conveys immediately to the observer that the table is one of genuine worth. The top extends to six feet and will accommodate eight people if necessary. It is all finished perfectly in either golden oak or fumed oak.

The Six Leather Seat Dining Room Chairs

They are of a conventional design. There are dozen of designs very similar to them, but here's the difference. These chairs are upholstered with genuine leather box seat, and we can truthfully say that this is the first time that genuine leather seat chairs were ever included in a combination offer of this sort at anywhere near the price for which this complete outfit will sell tomorrow.

The Illustration Is An Exact Reproduction

Work of English Women Outside Home Will Emphasize Claim.

London, Nov. 19.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The saying that woman's place is in the home has little application in war time. There are now in the British Isles 3,219,000 women employed outside their own homes. It is generally recognized that their rally to work "in the national interest" is going to make it difficult for parliament to refuse the demand for suffrage which will be renewed when hostilities end.

During the first two years of war the increase of women workers, exclusive of purely feminine occupations, was 866,000. Of these 766,000 directly replaced male labor. In other words more than three-quarters of a million women left their homes to release that number of men for military service. In most instances the women went into the munition plants, where a considerable number of them have given up their lives in "doing their bit."

There seems to be no limit to the class of work women can do. At first it seemed strange to see girl conductors on the buses, girl window-cleaners, van drivers and messengers. But as the war progressed the field broadened and now even in building, mining and quarrying scores of women are employed. The metal trades also have claimed their share of the new industrial army. It must be understood that this is not an army in skirts. As a matter of fact skirts are worn for the most part only in those occupations which bring women in touch with the public. In most of the factories and shops, the breweries and the railway yards, jumpers and regulation overalls are the approved costume. The bus and tram conductors, or "conductresses", are jaunty in their neat blue tunics and skirts reach just below the knees—low enough to overlap close fitting black leather puttees. There is seldom a glimpse of stocking. The bus companies issued an order recently that no silk hosiery should be worn.

It is stated that probably 100,000 of the women "war workers" have been recruited from those formerly engaged in purely feminine occupations—domestics, dressmakers, milliners, etc. The servant problem is becoming more and more acute, for the demand for munition workers is increasing day by day, and the wages offered are far beyond the dreams of avarice to a majority of the English domestics.

The number of women employed in railway work has increased more than 200 per cent. Ordinarily the railway posts open to women were clerkships and carriage-cleaning tasks. Now there are women ticket collectors, porters, engine cleaners and workshop laborers. In Glasgow and some other cities women are being tried out as tram drivers or motorwomen.

Interesting statistics regarding woman's part in war work have been collected by the employment bureau of the board of trade. The number of women recruited to industrial occupations between July, 1914, and July, 1916, was 362,000. Of this number, 263,000 directly replaced men. In commercial occupations the increase in the number of women workers was 198,000, while the number of women replacing men in this class was 201,000. This apparent discrepancy is accounted for by the transfer of women from the feminine side to the male side of the establishments. The increase in women clerks amounts to only 45,000, all of whom, however, have replaced men.

There has been much more discussion lately as to whether the city woman is a success on the farm and the point is far from being settled. Nevertheless 66,000 more women are working steadily at agriculture today than in July, 1914. In 1914 there were only 2,000 women employed in government arsenals and dockyards. Now there are over 70,000. The English breweries formerly employed 8,000 women. Now they have 18,000. And so it goes through all the industries.

For awhile the industrial post war problems are going to offer much food for reflection, and, to be amicably solver, will require an intelligent skill of direction and "square dealing" equal to the best thought and energy put forward in the war itself.

THE NEW METHOD

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, over-working the sick kidneys hence the congestion of blood cause backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty water between meals and take a single Anuric tablet before each meal for a while.

Simply ask your favorite druggist for Anuric if you aren't feeling up to the standard. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, dropsy, begin immediately this treatment with Anuric.

The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's great Institution have thoroughly tested this prescription and have been with one accord successful in eradicating these troubles and in most cases absolutely curing the diseased kidneys.

Patients having once used Anuric at the institution have repeatedly sent back for more. Such a demand has been created that Doctor Pierce decided to put Anuric in the drug stores of this country, in a ready-to-use form. It will be their own fault if those suffering from uric acid troubles do not take advantage of this wonderful remedy. And to show his sincere faith, this prescription is sold under a guarantee to any person who has taken a full box and has not been helped.—Advertisement.

HIRAM JOHNSON NOW LOOMING VERY LARGE

Even Chairman Willcox Has Heard of California Man, Perhaps.

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Hiram W. Johnson, junior senator from California—that is a new title to which the country will soon become accustomed. "Governor" Johnson has graduated into the United States senate.

According to political precedents, Johnson has emerged from local politics into the national game. In theory Johnson did that four years ago when he was nominated for vice president on the progressive party ticket. But he didn't, in fact, because hardly anybody knew about it; Roosevelt and Taft were making so much noise, the voice of Johnson could hardly be heard.

This time Johnson has had the limelight all to himself. Who carried the state that carried the election? Our cheer-leader responds—JOHNSON! Even New York has heard his name; and by this time it is not impossible that somebody has told Mr. Willcox (the gentleman who managed Judge Hughes' campaign).

California voted for Johnson on the senatorial issue almost unanimously. There are a few people—experts in politics—who may remember the name of the man who ran against Johnson—and it was not Francis J. Heney. Also Johnson carried California for Wilson. He says he didn't, but he is just keeping his "party regularity" on straight. It was the snub to Johnson by Hughes and his managers that turned the great bulk of progressive voters in California from Hughes to Wilson, and nothing that Johnson or State Chairman Chester Rowell can say will make anyone who knows the California situation believe otherwise.

Hiram W. Johnson is registered in California as a progressive. He was the regular republican nominee also for the senate. He is in fact the entire progressive-republican party of California; and that includes most of the voters of that state.

The real reason why Johnson looms so large is that he has performed as a progressive. There are many of that persuasion who have talked. Johnson had the courage, after he was elected governor, to do just what he said he would do when he was campaigning.

His first job, as everybody remembers, was to kick the Southern Pacific railroad out of politics. His second was to carry out the promises in the progressive platform.

This was some considerable undertaking, but Johnson went through with it. First, he had to get a legislature in sympathy with his program. He had to kick the Southern Pacific and the public service corporation influences out of the legislature. But he did that: and after a while he got the legislature, so it would do all he told it to and then would beg the privilege of doing something more. With the legislature properly tamed, Johnson went at the job of delivering the real goods. He put over all the popular government features of the progressive platform first—the initiative, referendum and recall, and all those things. He reformed the ballot, and did away with voting under party emblems in state and local elections. He got good primary laws and corrupt practice acts. He set up a real railroad and public service commission. He got the civil service on the merit system, took the judiciary out of partisan politics and cleaned up the state institutions. He next got a good employers liability law, a blue-sky law, an industrial accident commission, and then cleaned up the prisons and penal schools. He attacked the unemployment problem and some other tough knots and did some good work toward their ultimate solution, and altogether he got the state so well cleaned up (comparatively speaking) that it had become quite necessary for him either to get into some bigger job or to go back to the practice of law.

Will Johnson be the progressive-republican candidate for president in 1920? Select a president from California? And neglect the pivotal states of New York and Indiana? Ask Willcox (the gentleman who managed Judge Hughes' campaign). By now he may have a guess.

Membership in Austria is Showing Tremendous Reduction.

Vienna, Nov. 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The war has hit the trades and organized labor of Austria a blow that is almost stunning. The total membership has been reduced to 177,133 from 415,195, the figure in 1913; thirty of the fifty-two organizations that are banded together in the so-called "Imperial commission" have less than a thousand members apiece now, and the income of about half of the associations have been so reduced that they were exceeded by expenditures.

The reduction in the membership of the unions not only applies to men, some 200,000 of whom have been called to the colors, but to women as well, of whom 40 per cent of the old number have left the organizations. Some trades, such as roofers and paper box makers, now have only twenty-six and fifteen members respectively left. The big metal workers and textile trades have now only 38,000 and 29,000 members left.

Of course with the reduction in membership there has been a corresponding decrease in the sums paid out for "war support," so that the various trades in 1915, for example, had to expend but little over a hundred thousand dollars in this way, as against $630,000 in 1914.

Similarly the incomes dropped, so that the imperial commission in 1915 took in, through its 52 organizations, but one million dollars in 1915 against $1,650,000 in 1914 and two millions in 1913. Even with lessened membership, however, the trades still have as much in their treasuries today as they had in 1913.

SOLDIERS ENJOY ART EXHIBIT AT FRONT

Frenchmen Contribute Work Done at Odd Moments in Service.

French Front, Nov. 10.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—An exposition of "Art at the Front" composed of the creations of soldiers of the French army now on view at Campiegne, includes contributions from every branch of the service.

Pictures in oils and water colors, colored crayons and pencil, charcoal and ...nt wood are displayed side by side ...h statuettes carved out of chalk or ... stone or modelled in plaster color... to represent nature. Metal objects ...e of shell cases, hammered in beaut... l designs to form flower holders and ...s, and splinters of steel shells made ... paper weights and inkstands, rifle ridges transformed into pen and pen... holders, paper cutters, thimbles and ...er useful things, fuses made into ...cer and napkin rings, fancy work ...skets fashioned out of the long wicker ...ses in which loaded projectiles for the ...g guns are conveyed to the firing line ...all give evidence that art goes together with war.

Many of the pictures exhibit a strength which can never be found in any academical salon. They all represent objects of actuality as seen by the men themselves and reproduced in such a way as to bring home to those who ...e them the conditions under which the soldiers live in face of the enemy. ...ere is no idealism or fantasy in the ...n's work—all is realism. This, however, does not prevent many of the ...rtists from portraying humor in its broadest sense, for the soldier in the field is very keen on the comic side, and ...me of the caricatures are excellent.

Few people have had the opportunity of seeing the exposition, owing to the difficulty of reaching Compiegne under the restrictions of war time, but arrangements have been made for the transfer of the collection to Paris and possibly later to America. It is probable that the work of the soldiers of other French armies will be joined together with this exhibit.

The soldier-artists are content with very small recompense for their works. They have given them up in order to provide themselves with a few small comforts during the coming winter, on condition that purchasers make a contribution towards the assistance of their wounded and invalid comrades.

There are works by winners of the Prize of Rome of the French academy who were mobilized while pursuing their studies, and some of those in later years may come to be regarded as masterpieces.

THE KISSOGRAPH—IT'S THE LATEST.

THE MARRIED COUPLE'S KISS

You thought kisses were audible, not visible. You were wrong. They are quite visible to the unaided eye once you have learned how to locate them. Here's how:

Rouge the lips. Plaster the rouge on heavily. Then kiss a piece of plate glass. The glass is transparent, the kiss is not. You can easily see the reddish print of the kiss on the glass; rouge being red, photographs black.

Easy—eh? Now listen to what Miss Daisy Dugas, inventor of the "kissograph," has to say. She is an actress and thinking of patenting it for a Valentine stunt.

"The kiss," says Miss Dugas, "is a symbol of human emotion. You can read a person's character in his kiss just as readily as you can his handshake. Several varieties of love are expressed in osculation. And you can study human nature by watching lip salutations of different individuals.

"Take for instance, when two women meet. Their kiss is a quick, sketchy little affair, a mere dab, you might say.

"The kiss a mother gives her baby, while gentle, is firm and warm, and the one she allots her husband as he leaves for the office may be more in the nature of a smack.

"When recorded in a kissograph, the lover's kiss is a large, firm imprint, its size depending upon the warmth of emotion. The vampire kiss, long and lingering, and the kind that uses up so much film in present day movies, registers itself in a hard, round impression when photographed.

I'M INNOCENT, SAYS WOMAN NAMED IN CASE

BY HONOR FANNING.

St. Joseph, Mo., Nov. 23.—"The woman in the case"—the woman thrust into the McDaniel case by the charges of McDaniel's prosecutors—asserts she is entirely innocent; just as McDaniel himself, the prosecuting attorney on trial for the murder of his wife, maintains his guiltlessness and denies that Mrs. McDaniel ever threatened divorce proceedings.

The woman is Mrs. Dagmar Krucker, divorced wife of a small-salaried clerk, herself a statuesque, handsome woman, well dressed, and the mother of a 13-year-old girl in school.

At her father's home Mrs. Krucker dictated this statement to me that Sentinel readers might know her side of the tangled tale of tragedy:

By Mrs. Dagmar Krucker.

Joseph. Everyone knows me. Everyone knows my life as it was lived in childhood, in girlhood, in womanhood. My life speaks for itself.

There are no hidden chapters in my life. Gossips are tearing my character to pieces; they say cruel things about me. One innocent woman has been murdered; another woman's life is being ruined by suspicion and slander.

No one feels more deeply than I about this terrible tragedy!

I knew Hattie Moss—Mrs. McDaniel—since our high school days. We were chums then and confidants. We were chums and confidants at the time of her death last July.

After we both married we were neighbors; our children played together. My little Margaret and her daughter, Helen, share the same seats in school today. Our husbands are friends, and brother Elks and brother Shriners.

We were together almost every day. We belonged to the same clubs; we shared the same pleasure.

Hattie Moss was the most straightforward, courageous woman I ever knew. She would not pretend friendship for me if she was not my friend!

Now, they say she was jealous of me—that I wrecked her home; they link my name everyday with this tragedy.

I am innocent!

In the name of my baby girl, I am innocent of wronging my friend!

Berlin, Nov. 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Women are now rendering invaluable aid in the administrative work of Belgium, Governor General von Bissing having availed himself of as many female employes as were obtainable.

Several hundred of them have been appointed as hygienic instructors, as sanitary inspectors of homes and factories and as enforcers of the sanitary and other regulations introduced by the German regime. The women also give special attention to measures for combating the social evil.

At the outset it was found very difficult to discover women trained to this kind of work. They have, however, proved themselves extraordinarily adaptable, and have come to be what General von Bissing describes as a humanizing link between Belgian population and the governing machinery.

The system of social work evolved in Belgium has succeeded to an extent that it is felt it may become eventually a model for other countries, and a stimulus for such work in Germany itself. The women have proved so effective as intermediaries between the bureaucracy and the people that it is now being urged that in future every Landrat (the highest administrative official of a Kreis or county) should have on his staff a specially trained woman, whose duties it would be to look after the condition of the poor and to watch the operation of laws enacted for their benefit.

Those who have watched the activity of women in Belgium believe firmly that woman's activity in social directions is to be immeasurably increased in Germany. As an indication of this there is the recent opening of a department for the higher social education of women at the administrative high school of Cologne, an institution for training city officials, where the women are taught to do social welfare work.

URGES EVERYONE TO QUICKLY GET ON WATER WAGON

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.—Advertisement.

His Honor Goes Under Surgeon's Knife at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mayor Hosey was operated upon at the St. Joseph hospital at noon Friday for hernia. He had rallied from the ordeal late Friday afternoon and seemed to give promise of rapid recovery. Dr. Miles F. Porter performed the operation.

Attaches at the city hall knew nothing of plans for the operation until they were told by the mayor's clerk Friday morning that Hosey had gone to the hospital.

Mayor Hosey has been suffering for some time. He was told to prepare for the operation on Tuesday. He went to the hospital Thursday night. The operation was started just at noon Friday and seems to have been very successful. Dr. Porter says there is little doubt of the mayor's speedy recovery.

Charles J. Steiss, secretary to the park commission, is improving at te St. Joseph hospital from an operation of a similar nature.

More than seventy-five novices started at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon on their four hours' journey across the sands of the Sahara, being shown enroute the mysteries of the Orient. The festivities were held at the Scottish Rite cathedral, Clinton and Washington streets, in celebration of the homecoming ceremonial of Mizpah temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The officers of the local organization of Shriners, headed by Byron H. Somers, illustrious potentate, and members of the team, led the large class along the perilous way, pointing out to them the numerous places of interest. At 6 o'clock Friday evening the novices will have made the initiatory trip and will at that time be full-fledged nobles of the Shrine.

The homecoming ceremonial brought hundreds of Shriners from various parts of the state to Fort Wayne and although the weather was not as pleasant as it might have been, those in attendance enjoyed the day immensely.

At 6 o'clock this evening a sumptuous banquet will be given. After the banquet, with their heads covered with the significant fezes, the Shriners will march to the Palace theater, where they will enjoy, with their ladies, the splendid bill that is being given there this week. The entire lower floor has been reserved for the evening.

AND THE END IS NOT IN SIGHT!

Fort Wayne dealers are blaming the railroads for the present coal shortage, while local railroad officials characterize the charge as ridiculous and absurd.

However, a story comes from Andrews that may throw some light on the situation. According to the agent in Andrews the railroad had seventy-one carloads of "slack" coal stored on the siding there last week and he said that a few of the cars had been moved since. He is quoted as saying that the cars were consigned to a Detroit manufacturing firm, but had been held up several days because of a lack of motive power. The charge is made that this road had 220 yards of coal stored in the Andrews yards. Twenty of the cars were loaded with anthracite coal, it is said, and the others with bituminous coal.

J. W. Dawson, general manager of the Kelly's Creek Colliery company, in a circular that is being widely circulated charges one road with deliberately diverting coal cars from their proper routes and sending them to territory where officials of that road are more interested in the coal business than anything else, thus causing a car shortage.

Fort Wayne residents who are paying $8 a ton for Pocahontas coal are more concerned in having the cause remedied than in ascertaining what the cause is. The recent warm weather, the dealers say, has served to alleviate the situation in Fort Wayne and all are hopeful that the famine-like conditions will be speedily overcome. The dealers of Fort Wayne declare that their orders, placed in endless succession at the mines go undelivered because the mining companies cannot find the cars in which to transport the fuel. Much of the coal that has come into Fort Wayne during the past few days has come from jobbers- speculators, in other words—and that the price has been held at an exorbitant rate by these selling agents. The dealers furthermore say that the speculators get the first chance at the mines and thus the local agencies are left completely at the mercy of price boosters who are taking advantage of the railroads' alleged pursuit of higher freight rates.

TOOK CANNED GOODS.

Two freight cars in the Wabash railroad yards, were broken into Thursday night, police have been notified. Several crates of canned goods and a few boxes of cigars were taken. City detectives are aiding Wabash Railroad Detective Uhrig, working on the case.

With but a slight increase in size, a watch has been provided with a dry battery and electric lamp so that it can be read at night.

STREET CARS HALTED BY SHORTAGE OF COAL

Natchez, Miss., Nov. 24.—Scarcity of coal is responsible for the shutting down today of street car service here, according to officials of the local power company. The supply of coal on hand and available in the future, it is said, will be needed for production of light and other purposes than the operation of street cars.

SENSATIONAL RUMORS PERSIST AT CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Revival of sensational rumors of renewal of ruthless submarine warfare by Germany and consequent action by the United States were met today by the statement of officials here that the situation, while delicate, was absolutely unchanged and would be until the United States had gathered all the evidence on recent attacks.

The state department still is waiting the result of investigation and meanwhile officials reiterate that the position of the United States as laid down in the last correspondence with Germany is unchanged.

It was made clear that a severance of diplomatic relations would follow any violation of the pledges from Berlin.

VOTE TO CONTINUE REVIVAL MEETINGS

When the prudential board of the First Baptist church met after the services last night the members unanimously voted to continue the meetings which are being held at that church for another week. The work done by Rev Charles E. Watkins, the evangelist, and Fred Butler, soloist and choir leader, is just beginning to show up and the directors of the church's affairs decided that the present was no time to close the services.

"Fooled by a South Wind" proved an ideal subject for Rev. Watkins to preach on and he delivered a sermon that surpassed all his work in this city so far.

An enthusiastic song service was led by Fred Butler. He taught the audience the new song for which the words were written by Albert Carter Polhamus and the melody composed by himself. He also promised to introduce another song by the same young man and the same "old" man in the near future.

At the South Wayne church tonight, Rev. Walfred Lindstrom will preach on the topic "No Room for Jesus." Tonight will be the last week night service at that church since the meetings will not be continued there another week. Great work has been done in this church.

Tonight Rev. Alfred D. Merrell at tabernacle will preach on "Excuses." There will be no service at this church Saturday night, the members of the tabernacle having accepted an invitation to unite with the members of the Immanuel church. At this meeting the candidates for the church will be baptized.

CLOSE WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN.

The great victory won by the Plymouth Congregational church workers in conducting their whirlwind campaign for $30,000 in three days, was celebrated in a big "jollification" in the form of an oyster supper, the "feed," which was followed by speeches by Charles Meigs D. Burns Douglass, Robert Koerber, B Paul Mossman and others.

Although the full $30,000 has not been secured as yet, several members of the church are out of town and have had no chance to pledge anything towards completing the fund and it is expected that when they are all heard from the entire sum will have been raised.

Word was received in Fort Wayne Friday from Washington that Avery M. Groves, secretary of the Erie & Michigan Deep Waterways association, would deliver an address at the thirteenth annual meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors congress, which will be held in Washington, D. C., December 6, 7 and 8.

The information came in a letter from Secretary S. A. Thompson, of the congress, to T. J. Logan, treasurer of the local organization. Mr. Groves will discuss the Erie and Michigan deep waterway project, final hearing on which will be held in Washington, December 7.

In Mr. Thompson's letter it was suggested that a memorial to the late Hon. Perry A. Randall should be adopted. Mr. Randall was a director in the national congress and always took an active interest in all of its deliberations.

PRIESTS GIVE TOTAL ABSTINENCE PLEDGES

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Every priest ordained in the Chicago archdiocese of the Roman Catholic church pledges himself to total abstinence for five years, Archbishop G. W. Mundelein stated today. The archbishop said he already has put this rule into force and intends to exact the pledge in all future ordinations.

"If the young priests keep the total abstinence pledge for five years," he said, "it is easy to see they are likely to continue the practice for the rest of their lives."

CALLED THE "SOUL WIDOW" OF EMPEROR.

FRAU SCHRATT.

Frau Schratt may be called the soul widow of Emperor Francis Joseph. European royalty has known her as the actress who made life pleasant for the aged emperor after the assassination of his wife, Empress Elizabeth in 1898.

Gifted, energetic and clever, Frau Schratt, who may be now past 60, never imposed upon the emperor. She refused to take advantage of his admiration for her, did not intrigue against him and refused nine of every ten presents he sent her.

Cotterell Shots

Christ was earth's lowliest guest, yet He was heaven's richest and best.

We may overpower an enemy, we may experience what the world calls victory, but is it victory in the sight of God?

We are too much inclined to say a man is a success after he has gathered together a lot of this world's goods and at the same time knows nothing about the love of Christ.

We are not condemning the making of money. We admire a man with a great business capacity, or with an ability to make and save money, but this great republic is suffering not because it needs less money, but more manhood to use it.

The editor of Wall street's journal said: The superior need of the hour is not a better money or how to accumulate more of it, but how to raise the standard of Christian living.

A true consecrated business man is to be greatly admired by all.

We are willing to endure all kinds of hardships to gain a worldly reputation, but we fall short too many times for Jesus.

The Master does not say come unto me because I am a great teacher, but come unto me because I am meek and lowly.

The Master does not say come unto me and I will give you more wages and shorter hours, but come that souls may be abundant, come to bind up broken hearts.

If There's Going to Be Roast Turkey at Your House

Why not have that noble bird cooked in such a way that your guests will say: "How tender! How delicious! What a wonderful flavor!"

There were a few rare old cooks that used to know how to cook a turkey that way in the range—a few!

They did it with the basting spoon and care, and wearing and worrying, and unceasing basting, and it was a matter of pride when they succeeded.

You can cook a turkey that way every time by using a scientific turkey roaster made for the especial purpose.

The Reed Self-Basting Roaster is arranged in such a way that the juices of the turkey arising in the form of vapor condenses on the cover and drips back on the roast, basting it continuously. This roaster is made of enamel and is priced at $2.50.

The Savory Roaster, an old favorite, is one highly approved by good housekeepers, by domestic science experts, and by all our customers who have used it. With proper care it is sure to roast the turkey, well basted, well browned, deliciously flavored and with all the juices preserved. It comes in various sizes, $1.00 to $2.75.

"Make Room" Sale of Sewing Machines

We still have a few floor samples that we must dispose of in making room for the Christmas stock.

Some machines are slightly marred, and there are only one or two of some models. These mean a great saving to you. Come in and let us interest you in this line.

We buy your old machine on the cabinet "The Free" and allow you $12.00 on same—pay the remainder out at your own convenience.

All prices; all woods; all styles. We want your belt, oil and needle trade.

One million dollars for joy!

Consider Europe at war. There, billions of dollars are being spent for the direst misery that ever befell the world.

Billions of dollars for misery and destruction!

Oh, if we could only escape the thought of the terror that is ravaging mankind across the ocean! If we could only keep our consciences clear of the charges future generations will heap upon the humanity of today.

We look eagerly for relief. But we must have an excuse for it these days.

What a boon is a presidential election!

Then we find our relief. We forget for the day all sorrows and worries that enshroud civilization and we live.

We live, we sing and dance and laugh—for just one million dollars.

At a time when billions are being spent for misery, only one million for joy is like the squeak of a mouse midst the roar of cannon.

PITTSBURG SPECIAL DERAILED AT FOREST

Passenger train No. 136 on the Pennsylvania, known as the "Pittsburg Special," went off the derail at the Big Four crossing at Forest, O., at 5:15 o'clock Friday morning. The train consisted of the engine, a baggage car, a special combination express and mail car, two Pullman sleeping cars and a coach, and it was entirely derailed. The engine plowed along a considerable distance and then turned over on its side, but all of the cars remained upright and reports of the accident received at Supt. Schroll's office said nobody was hurt. Later it was learned that Engineer Harry Wagner sustained a slight cut on the forehead and a bruised knee.

One of the cars was thrown over to the north, blocking the westbound track, and the engine and train blocked the eastbound track, completely blocking traffic at that point until about 9 o'clock. The engine is pretty badly damaged and there was 300 feet of track torn up, but the damage to the cars was trifling. The wreck crew was summoned at 5:30 and made a record run to the scene, covering the 101 miles in less than two hours. The fact that every car in the train carried its capacity of passengers and that every one escaped injury is a remarkable instance, considering the extent of the derailment. The rear coach carried about sixty laborers, most of whom were asleep when the car left the rails. Arrangements were soon made for sending trains around the wreck, over the westbound track, and the repairs to the eastbound track will be completed this evening.

No. 136, the unfortunate train, was in charge of the following crew: Conductor C. C. Mains, Engineer Harry Wagner, Fireman A. R. Dickey, Flagman J. M. Fletcher, Brakeman H. Edwards and Baggageman John Eckelson. Except the slight injuries to Engineer Wagner, mentioned above, all escaped.

The only train delayed by the wreck was the westbound Manhattann limited, No. 23, which was east of the scene when the accident to No. 136 occurred. The limited is due here at 10:15 in the morning; it did not reach the city Friday until 12:30 p. m. Other westbound passenger trains, Nos. 5, 25 and 29, were from a half to an hour late, the delay being due to the storm and strong wind which prevailed in the east last night. All of these trains had passed Forest before the derailment occurred.

WORST TIE-UP IN HISTORY.

Nickel Plate Has 800 Loaded Cars in Cleveland Yards.

(Cleveland Plain-Dealer.)

Old freight men on local railroads are unable to recall a time when the freight tie-up situation in the large terminals of the country was as serious as at the present time they said today in discussing the Cleveland situation where hundreds of cars of freight are held on storage tracks awaiting to be unloaded. The Nickel Plate alone has between three hundred and four hundred cars of less than carload shipments in the Cleveland tie-up it was stated.

Because of the inability to handle the shipments an embargo on all less than carload shipments to Cleveland was placed in effect on the Nickel Plate early in the present week but with a slight improvement in the conditions there this was lifted today.

Detroit is even worse than Cleveland, railroad men said today, shipments of perishable goods which have been offered local roads being refused because of an absolute embargo on less than carload shipments which is in effect there.

AN INTERESTING BOOKLET.

To inform its patrons and the public in general, the Pennsylvania railroad system has issued, in booklet form, an historical and descriptive treatise covering the territory traversed by its lines.

One of the purposes is to set forth the present character of the various portions of the territory with reference to industry, mining, agriculture and commerce. The region covered includes the principal sections of the middle states and the central west, together with some portions of the southern states. A brief description is given of all the cities and of the more important towns on the Pennsylvania railroad East and West of Pittsburg, with the business advantages and achievements of each.

SPRAINED HIS BACK.

W. S. Magsan the Victim of Painful Accident.

As he was manipulating a big wrench yesterday afternoon in the effort to loosen a bolt, W. S. Magsan fell violently to the floor of the Pennsylvania erecting shop when the wrench slipped off the nut. His spine was injured and he could hardly walk when he was assisted to the cab to take him to the Lutheran hospital, where Dr. Budd Van Sweringen attended him. The surgeon does not consider the injury of permanent character.

Bunting, assistant division engineer at Grand Rapids, made the trip over the line with Mr. Jones and Mr. Large.

WILL PLAY AT LOGANSPORT.

He is down on the program for some zither selections and songs. Mr. Steil goes to Logansport tomorrow noon and will return Monday.

BLACKSMITH SHOPS CRIPPLED.

Onnly a few of the small "fires" in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop were in operation today because the fan motor burned out at an early hour. About fifteen of the men were sent home, to report at noon, when it was expected to have the motor in operation again, and others were assigned to other work.

HAD HIS EYE INJURED.

BAD RESERVE BANK BILLS.

Two Counterfeits on New York Bank Reported to Secret Service.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Two counterfeit $10 federal reserve bank notes, both of the New York bank, have been reported to the secret service. Red and blue ink lines are used to imitate silk fibre of the paper, in one of which the printing is three-eighths of an inch longer than the genuine, while in the other the printing on the face is half an inch longer and the green back is many shades darker than the genuine.

TWO SUITS IN INDIANA.

FATHER DID NOT STAY FOR THE WAR

Shipped to France, but Is not Lured to Front—May Work Roads.

Gordon Davis, 24, who now stays with his parents, two miles from Fort Wayne, wrote a farewell post card just before he sailed for France from New York, last June. The message read:

"Good bye. Am sorry for the boy. Going to France. You will never see me again."

But Gorden probably heard war stories during the ocean voyage. He may have noted the swathed and maimed cripples, on the streets of the seacoast city when he reached France. Anyway, he came right back and the next card from him was postmarked, Montreal, Canada. He was soon in Fort Wayne again.

The picture post card sent by Gordon, just before he started for the war zone, was exhibited in police court, Friday morning, to show the intention of the father to desert his four year old son, Dallas.

Davis was charged with child neglect. He was divorced from his wife last May. Then he hastened to New York and took ship. His wife is married again and the small son stays in the home of the wife's parents. Davis was ordered to pay $15, a month, when the divorce was granted in the circuit court. He has paid $7.50 in six months, his mother-in-law says. Davis says he has been ill much of the time since June.

Parents of Davis were also in court. They claimed that Dallas is not getting a suitable home with his other grandparents. Hot words were exchanged. The court bailiff rapped for order.

"I cannot settle family differences," Judge Kerr said. "I can only handle this criminal matter. Davis must put up $200 support bond and must pay $15 a month towards keeping his son or go to work on the county roads."

"I will not put up bond for him unless we get the child," father of the man said.

When Raymond Keim, 808 Davis street, went to the rooming house at 339 Holman street, to collect money on a furniture bill Thursday afternoon, argument ensued. Walter Holiday, colored, who rooms in the house, objected to money being paid to Keim. He hit Keim on the jaw. He admitted in police court to striking the collector. Holiday was fined $5 and costs on the charge of assault and battery.

Automobile Aftermath.

W. B. Erick, Spencerville, rural mail carrier, was fined $1 and costs because tail lights were not lit when police found his car standing near the court house, Wednesday night. Erick said the oil lamp at the rear of his machine had burned dry. He had also lost a license tag from his machine, but proved that he had tied it on with twine before he left home. The tag had been lost on the way to Fort Wayne.

Police have not yet arrested Q. McCoy, Jefferson township, who failed to appear in court Thursday morning to answer for having no tail light on his car.

A. W. Grosvenor, surveyor-elect of Allen county, was charged with having no lighted tail lamp when police found his car on Calhoun street Thursday night. Grosvenor said he had examined the lamp just before he left the car and that wind must have extinguished the flame. He was released.

C. E. Ellenwood, also charged with displaying no tail lamp on his machine, pleaded that the light had gone out after he left the automobile. His case will be disposed of on Saturday.

Gambling Case Held Over.

Sentence on Joe Bell, proprietor of the poolroom in the Rich hotel and charged with operating a gambling resort, will hear the verdict of Judge Kerr on his case on Saturday. Bell is at liberty on bond.

Lester Loraine, who claims he lost much money in the pool hall, was the prosecuting witness. Loraine explained how the game of "tonk," much like poker, is played in Bell's place.

Bell admitted having allowed the "tonk" game to be carried on. He was convicted on a gambling charge on Aug. 14, 1914, Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman showed the court. Jail sentence was suspended at that time. Judge Kerr wishes to make a study of the former case before passing sentence on Bell.

Must Walk Home.

It will be a long, cold walk for Edward Ledman, 35, convicted on a charge of public intoxication. He was granted his liberty by Judge Kerr Friday morning providing he will walk back home to Huntington.

"It will require about two days to make the trip and you can think things over," Kerr told Ledman. The man came from Huntington on Monday with $38 in his pocket. He was penniless when arrested Thursday morning.

Will Order Inquest.

Nemo Craneth, 40, the man who told the patrolman that he had invented a "noise expeller for the gasoline engine of a milk separator" when arrested Wednesday, is thought by Judge Kerr to be mentally defective. Craneth rambled inarticulately about "the animal kingdom comes from the drug store" when in court Friday morning. He was ordered to the county infirmary by the court, where he will be held in confinement. Later a commission to investigate his sanity will be appointed.

Other Police Court Cases.

Case against George Allen, charging associating, was dismissed on motion of Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman. Allen is to be one of the prosecuting witnesses in the case against George Donnelly, manager of the rooming apartments on West Main street, and charged with inducing girls to enter an illegal resort.

Jacob Hartman, laborer, met an old friend who had not gladdened his sight for five years, Thursday evening. The friend bought all the drinks, Jacob told the court. Hartman was found in a badly intoxicated state by police late Thursday night. He was released in police court.

Other cases of public intoxication: Paul Clincher, $5; James McLear, $1; Edward Bevington, $1; Louis Walters, $1; William Bowser and Ben Jones were released. John Berbaum will be tried next Wednesday.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 24.—A prompt, rigid and full investigation by congress of the holding of foodstuffs and coal "for the purpose of raising prices above the normal rate" was urged in a resolution adopted today by the convention of the American Federation of Labor. It also asked the appointment of a federal commission which should include among its members representatives of organized labor to investigate the whole question of the high cost of living.

The necessity of placing an embargo as far as our international trade agreements will permit on wheat and other foodstuffs until prices thereof return to the figures prevailing before the outbreak of the European war also was urged upon President Wilson and congress by the resolution. The department of justice was urged to immediately institute investigations through federal grand juries in the larger cities of the United States for the purpose of obtaining evidence of alleged illegal conspiracies to compel the payment of "extortionate prices for paper used in the printing industry."

OPERATORS GET INCREASE.

For the second time since E. F. Kearney became president of the Wabash, the telegraph operators have received an increase in wages. Bulletins are out announcing the increase, which ranges from $5 to $7.50. President Kearney was once a telegraph operator when wages were lower than they are today; the working day schedule was also longer than at present.

NEW EMPRESS AND HER CHILDREN.

Prince Francis Joseph Otto, standing, was born in 1912, and Princess Adelaide-Marie, in the empress' lap, in 1914. The third child, Robert Charles Ludwig, was born in February, 1915.

BOY, 13, BEATS GIRLS IN CANNING CONTEST AT KANSAS CITY.

He came out ahead of the girls in Van Horn school and housewives at the Athanaeum exhibit, in competitions for best preserved fruits and vegetables.

Howard's mother told him how to go about it and he did the rest. Instead of playing in the street after school, he spent the time with the girls at Van Horn preparing his preserves. He put up peas, asparagus, rhubarb and other vegetables and fruits which look fresh and tempting.

Mrs. Eiser is proud of her boy. A younger son won a prize for best cookies exhibited at the school.

"That is hardly the work of a boy," she says, "and Howard likes outdoor sports so well. He peeled every one of those onions he canned one day without the windows open and didn't shed a tear."

But Howard insists he will not be a cook. He cherishes a medal he won at a relay race last year, and he is interested in automobiles and architecture.

Olympia, Wash., Nov. 24.—Has the national political campaign just concluded sounded the death knell of partisanship?

Several hundred thousand voters of this state believe so, at least as far as Washington is concerned.

OLIVER T. ERICKSON.

A volume of petitions for the abolition of party labels in county and state elections, circulated for the next legislature to act upon, gives concrete evidence of this conviction.

The issue was between Wilson and Hughes as individuals and Americans, rather than as democrats and republicans, throughout Washington. The same attitude was taken toward the gubernatorial and congressional contests.

"There never has been a time when the voter has realized the foolishness and dangers of blind partisanship as he does today," said Oliver T. Erickson, Seattle councilman, who filed the non-partisanship initiative petition here.

The petition, which requires 32,000 signatures, does not interfere with partisanship in presidential and congressional elections, but goes merely to state, county and city voting.

"Washington," predicts Erickson, "will be the first state in the union to throw off political slavery.

"We elect our mayor, councilmen and other city officials without asking whether they are democrats, republicans or socialists. And there is no more reason why a governor, state auditor or member of the legislature should be elected on a party label."

PREDICTS MILK RIOTS.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Positive identification of the man held at Spalding, Neb., on suspicion that he is Jean Crones, wanted in connection with the poisoning of 200 guests at a dinner at the University club last winter, must await the arrival at Spalding of A. J. Bryset, steward of the club, the police said today. Bryset, witht John F. Aiken, a detective sergeant, will reach the Nebraska city tonight.

Chicago authorities are only partly convinced that the man held is the man wanted, other recent reports being that Crones is employed as a chef on a steamer plying between the United States and South American ports.

CO-OPERATE FOR SOCIAL WELFARE

That no man can claim to be entirely independent and that the protection of his home and property depends on the co-operation of his fellow citizens were statements emphasized by W. Charles Dickmeyer, sales manager for the Perfection Biscuit company, in his paper Friday noon at the luncheon of the Quest club.

In government, religion, industry, education, family association and everything that concerns modern life men are co-operating or working together, the speaker asserted. "They co-operate, combine and organize for specific purposes, so that no man lives unto himself." Mr. Dickmeyer was the seventh speaker before the Quest club for the fall and winter season. His talk was in part as follows:

"A farmer may claim to be independent, yet he depends on the co-operation of his fellow citizens for the education of his children, for the building of roads and the establishment of social order. His whole surplus wealth is dependent upon the consumption of his products by others. By means of a system of exchange he is able to appropriate unto himself all the necessaries to sustain and protect him.

Question of Exchange.

"While money rapidly increased the progress in commercial arts, it too finally became too clumsy for so large transactions of exchange and then the credit system came into use which again transformed the process of trade and industry. By the introduction of improved systems of exchange the methods of doing business were greatly changed and consequently the habits of society were likewise influenced. The various changes that have been brought about in the methods of exchange have greatly modified the organization and grouping of societies. They have had a vast influence on social order and social activity.

"All society is organized to the end of mutual service and he who performs a human service is entitled to the reward of such service. The law of survival has always applied to the individual existence and happiness of man. From the very beginning he has been obliged to struggle against the force of nature for existence. There has been a constant struggle for mastery for the purpose of survival which has characterized man's work. Truly, persistent effort has made man. Nor has the struggle been confined to his own existence, but also to the struggle with his fellow men for supremacy. Egotism has characterized man's early struggle and his life has ever been influenced by it.

Is Law of Nature.

"We must, of course, keep in mind that self-interest is the first law of nature. If we hold that fact fast in our minds, we can reason that altruism is a misnomer, for the person who labors for the general good if his class is at the same time laboring for his own good. If we are altruistic enough to devote our efforts to the improvement of our community, then we are contributing to our own good and happiness.

"One phase of class association that deserves our particular attention is the association of the leading men of the community toward the end of promoting the common good of that community. These associations usually spring up in the smaller cities as booster organizations and as such they have accomplished much good for their community. Tech usually give particular attention to the industrial development of the community. In the past they have been instrumental in bringing new industries by offering non-taxation, cash bonuses or by otherwise subsidizing new industries. However, this manner of securing new business evidently did not prove successful. Still, the seed of this smaller booster organization has grown into the tree of the saner, more businesslike and efficient Commercial club of 1916.

"The present and ever growing demand is that the Commercial club be a leader and not a follower; that it render a service to the community, bring new lines of trade, effect more and larger pay rolls, that it take an interest in securing for the community good service from its local public service corporations and give attention to traffic problems to the end of securing favorable rates and service.

Questions for Commercial Club.

"Questions of sanitation, good roads, good streets, welfare work, housing, city planning, parks, playgrounds, employment and wages are all subjects for the Commercial club. The Commercial club should have for its leaders men willing to make sacrifices and to inspire the members with community pride. They should be men strong enough to impel their members to forget competition, to obliterate sectional lines and forget selfish gains in the desire to serve the highest community ideals.

"That the sociological condition at present are yet far from being perfect was indicated in an emphatic manner when one of the heads of the brotherhood rightly referred to the public as 'the carcass' and to the two strong classes as the 'vultures.' There are certain classes who have developed more power than they deserve and when other classes become sufficiently well organized they will place a check on the abuse of power on the part of such organizations. Our life is a constant striving toward higher and yet higher ideals. To anyone who will stop to give thought to those questions, they will reveal a spirit of progress that is characteristic of this generation.

"I admit some of my thoughts are idealistic, but it is worth something to give expression to idealistic thoughts. There never was a castle built without an air castle. Dwelling upon such thoughts gives strength and vigor to the heart's action, vitalizes the blood, brightens the eye, and gives us additional poise and power."

Fashions in Words.

Certain words enjoy a popularity for a season, and then are rarely heard. It would seem that no sooner do they become the property of the multitude than their death-knell is sounded in fashionable regions, and ere long they sink into the obscurity from which they emerged. "Beau," for instance, dates a long way back, and went out of fashion very many years ago; yet, strange to say, some old-fashioned people retain it to this day when referring to a young man who is supposed to be paying attention to a girl.

A recognized term of today is "admirer," and subsequently, when things have come to a climax, "lover," but rarely "beau." "Sweetheart" goes with "young man," and is usually the property of our cooks and housemaids. The "belle" has gone the way of the "beau." There are no "belles of the ball," and she is not termed a "belle."

Seventeen Loads Appear for Sale and Prices as Result Are Lower.

Friday was a big day for new corn on the local street markets, seventeen loads appearing on Barr street. On account of the heavy receipts prices were forced down toward noon and a few of the cats sold for 91 cents a bushel. The topnotch price paid on the street Friday morning was 99 cents a bushel. There appears to be no weakening in the market and dealers predict still higher marks.

The wheat market passed another day without showing any signs of action. The local dealers quote the same price that they have for the past week. Indications are that a change will be made soon, but no prediction is made which way it is going.

As the price of potatoes seems to be ascending the high price ladder from day to day the report comes that Idaho and Colorado potatoes have arrived on Fort Wayne markets. The crop is an excellent one. Wholesale prices ranged from $2.00 to $2.10 a bushel. Other markets were quiet.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Wheat prices underwent a fresh setback today, influenced largely by attention to the possibility of an embargo. Absence of new export business counted also against the bulls and so did the likelihood of another increase in the United States visible supply total on Monday. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c to 1½c lower, with December at $1.79½@1.80 and May at $1.86@1.86¼, were followed by sharp further losses and then something of a reaction.

Corn eased off with wheat. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower the market underwent a moderate sag all around.

In oats, as in other cereals, sellers had the advantage.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 24.—Substantial recoveries from final prices of the preceding session were made at today's opening, mainly in industrials and coppers. These ranged from 1 to 1½ in Lackawanna Steel, Crucible Steel, Air Brake, American Locomotive and Chile Copper, with gains of a point for Reading and Union Pacific. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies rose over 2 points and Gulf States Steel 10 points. Other strong and active issues included Central Leather, United States Rubber and Corn Products. The inquiry from stocks came largely from commission houses representting out of two interests.

With few exceptions early gains were materially extended, coppers leading the advance. United States Steel also rose briskly on confident absorption and other industrials were free from the depression of the previous day. Gulf States Steel made an extreme recovery of 17½ points from its recent severe decline and specialties, comprising paper issues, sugars and fertilizers, were in demand. Equipments kept pace with the rising movement, but Bethlehem Steel yielded 19 points with heaviness in Canadian Pacific, although high grade rails continued to improve. Chile 7s, at an advance of 4 points, again featured the bond market.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

During the last 24 hours the storm moved with increased intensity from Lake Michigan to the mouth of the St. Lawrence river. It was attended by high winds in the lake region, upper Ohio valley and in northeastern sections, and by general rains in the districts to the eastward of the Mississippi and snow in the upper lake region. High pressure covers western sections, and except that light snow fell on the northeastern slope the weather has been generally fair in the states lying to the westward of the Mississippi river. Temperatures are above normal on the middle Atlantic coast and in New England, but elsewhere the weather is cooler than the seasonal average, with zero temperatures in northeastern Wyoming.

LOOK INTO FUTURE; BUY BABY BONDS

Living in the future does not mean living off the future! There's a vast difference between hoping for tomorrow and borrowing from tomorrow! You cannot count on increased earnings of the future or pay for today's debts, but you can count on increased earnings in the future with today's savings. There is but one way to start saving without slaving, save a portion of each week's earnings and invest in some good security. Baby Bonds are ideal for this purpose. They come in $10 denominations, pay 6 per cent interest and are secured by first mortgages on local real estate. There are also larger bonds in $500 denominations, bearing the same rate of interest and secured in the same manner. For further details regarding either, see the Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff building.—Advertisement.

Influence of American Revolution.

For the sake of historical accuracy one may challenge the statement of a contemporary that "the great American republic is the daughter of the French revolution." The Declaration of American Independence, issued in July, 1776, was ratified by the treaty of Versailles in 1783—some six years before the outbreak of the revolution. No doubt our American cousins owe a big debt of gratitude to the gallant Frenchmen (many of whom afterward became prominent in their own revolution) who helped them to gain their independence. But, considering the deep influence the successful colonial revolt had upon French thought, it would surely be nearer the mark to regard the French revolution as the daughter of the American republic.—London Chronicle.

It is getting cold and meat will eep. Take the street car and come over the Rhine—it's the Huffman street car you want to take—tell the conductor to leave you off at Old Leikauff's. Bring a basket along to put your meat in, because paper is awful high. We want to save all we can, so we can sell meat cheap. Every little helps, you know. You men that are off Saturday afternoon can come over and see them kill hogs—and don't forget the kiddies. I always like to hear them tell Ma to get them ready. It's too cold for Grosfatter and Grosmutter to go; they can wait till the weather gets warmer again.

Oh, yes, Girls! I will tell you about a certain lady. She came over, and I happended to be alone in the shop. Of course, I had to wait on her. She was so awfully nice. You know how us Old Fellows act when we get a nice smile. We are about all alike. We are easy. Well, three or four things she asked for—we will make it short. Your price on Sweet Breads, 40c a pound; Porter House Steak, 25c; Rib Roast, 20c pound; Tenderloin, 30c. "Well I'll take a 5c Soup Bone, 3c worth of Liver, about 2 or 3 Hog Kidneys, little piece of Beef Suet. Oh, yes, have you some scraps for kitty? Fido died last week. I am so sorry. Well, I ain't now. I wish you would deliver this out on New Haven avenue. If my husband isn't to home, let it at the neighbor's. "I must hurry up or I will be late for the matinee."

Oh, yes, Farmers! We have more pork barrels at 60c a piece, and don't forget us on your Hogs. Bring them to the city scales and weigh them, and it isn't far to go. We have got some nice little quarters of pork that will weigh about 10 to 12 pounds a piece and that have been fed on milk, just as nice as spring chicken. Will sell cheap. Lots of Pigs' Feet, Hog Heads, or anything you want, and it will be nice and fresh, for we kill every day. Can't think of anything else—don't feel good—so I am going to stop right now.

GOOD-BYE,

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

PAROLED TO MOTHER.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 24.—After a hearing in court here yesterday Judge W. H. Eichhorn paroled Miss Uriel Smith, 16, to her mother. She promised that she will give the court no more trouble. The girl was at the Indana school for girls at Clermont for several months and was returned here on Tuesday of this week by an attendant from the girls' school, without a satisfactory explanation as to why she was returned. It was reported that her return was because she was feeble-minded and that an effort would be made to have her admitted to the school for feeble minded youth at Fort Wayne. But this report proved groundless. The court had an examination conducted by Dr. Severin, who in his report cleared the girl of any charge of being feeble minded.

ONLY ELEVEN PRISONERS.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 24.—Eleven persons were put in jail by the sheriff during the October term of court. This compares very favorably with the same time last year, when forty-nine were placed in the county jail during the October term of court. Fred Johnson, whose home is near Garrett, was arrested by Sheriff Hoff early in October, placed in jail, and later turned over to the authorities at Fort Benjamin Harrison for being a deserter from the army. Four persons sentenced on misdemeanor charges were taken to the penal farm during the court term. Harry Van Lear was sentenced to the reformatory at Jeffersonville on entering a plea of guilty to grand larceny, but sentence was suspended during good behavior.

DECATUR TREASURER ILL.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 24.—Joseph D. McFarland, city treasurer of Decatur, became very ill Wednesday evening and for two hours was in a critical condition, a sufferer from nervous croup. Mr. McFarland had been suffering slightly from cold for several days but there was nothing in his condition to cause the least fear. The attack came on very suddenly, and in five minutes after it began to develop he was in a critical condition. The family physician was called and at once went to work to relieve the sufferer, but it was two hours before he was out of danger.

TRAPPING IN WELLS COUNTY.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 24.—J. H. Jones and Elijah Davis, of Liberty Center, were in the city en route to Fort Wayne to dispose of a lot of muskrat skins. The two as a side line trap during the fall and winter months when the fur is best and make a neat little sum out of their trapping. Most of their trapping is done along Rockcreek and this season they have been very successful. They had with them 180 muskrat skins for which they will receive 25c and 30c apiece, amounting to over $40.

AVIATOR AT COLUMBIA CITY.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 24.—DeLloyd Thompson, of Chicago, recognized as America's foremost expert aviator, who last spring conducted several "aerial attacks" upon several eastern cities, dropping bombs from a high altitude, to demonstrate that what America needs is aerial as well as military and naval preparedness, was in Columbia City Thursday visiting friends whose acquaintance he made when he flew here on the Old Settlers' days of 1913 and 1914.

NEW CITY SCALES.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 24.—The location of the new city scales that has long been wanted and petitioned for by several residents has been decided on by the city council and will be included as a part of the new city hall. The plans and specifications of the new building that are drawn by Architects Church & Coover show that the city scales will be located at the extreme northwest part of the building or situated at the alleyway intersection.

BLOOMFIELD PAYS FINE.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 24.—George Bloomfield pleaded guilty to charges of assault and battery in the city court this afternoon, preferred by Dewitt Heller, and after paying the fine filed an affidavit against Heller on charges of provoke. The fine of Heller will probably be fixed at $1 and costs by Mayor Case. The cases were the outgrowth of an altercation that occurred several days ago.

FOOT SEVERELY INJURED.

Pierceton, Ind., Nov. 24.—W. B. Miller, residing southwest of Pierceton, was quite painfully injured when a heavy iron girder at the Knull garage in Pierceton fell on his foot. Two bones were broken and he will be forced to carry the member in a plaster cast for several days.

BEFORE COURT MONDAY.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 24.—It has been announced that Judge Eichhorn would come to this city from Bluffton Monday, at which time the petition for the suspension of the sentence awaiting Albert Thomas as the result of his conviction for manslaughter, growing out of the death of Emily Geraldine Stout, will be presented to the court for his consideration.

STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 24.—Mrs. Alice Daniels, of Keystone, who is in the county jail as the result of being of unsound mind, this morning suffered a stroke of apoplexy, which has left her practically helpless. The stroke has so affected her that she is hardly able to speak. She is already blind and has become such a burden on Mr. and Mrs. Johnston that it will be necessary to get outside help to care for her.

PIERCETON MAN DEAD.

Pierceton, Ind., Nov. 24.—Christien Rusher, aged 79, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Monroe township, died Thursday morning at 5 o'clock at his home near here. His death is believed to have been due to heart trouble and followed a lingering illness of two years' duration. Although his health had been failing rapidly during the last few months of his life his condition was not regarded as critical until the last few days.

BUILDING IS FLOODED.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 24.—Both floors of the high school building were damaged by water Thursday when a section of the roof, over the north part of the building, leaked and the water ran through to the first floor of the building, wetting the plaster on both floors. Upon investigation by the school officials, fifteen inches of water is said to have been found upon the roof over the place where the break occurred.

Stomach Troubles.

Persons who have stomach trouble are apt to become discouraged. They will see by the following that their chances of recovery are excellent. A. K. Williams, Independence, Va., tells of a remarkable cure that was effected in that vicinity. One of his customers was so badly afflicted with stomach trouble that he was sent to a hospital, but received little benefit and came home to die. Mr. Williams suggested that he try Chamberlain's Tablets which he did, and today he is a well man and weighs 175 pounds. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

A LIVING SACRIFICE.

LESSON TEXT—Romans 12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your spiritual service.—Rom. 12:1 R. V.

The first 11 chapters of this letter teach and illustrate the great principles of the Christian life. Paul calls it "my Gospel." Its fundamental principle is that justification regenerates men, and nothing else. The second section is the practical application of these truths.

I. The Exhortation to Gratitude (vv. 1-2). "Therefore," because of the work of Christ on our behalf, we are to present our bodies as living sacrifices unto God, to be used for his glory and service. (See chapter 6:13, 16, 19). Paul urges, he beseeches; he is winsome, though he might command. To "present" technically means, "bring an offering to God." The body is the sum of all human faculties, physical and spiritual. It must not be defiled by being yielded as an instrument to sin, for it is the temple of God. (1 Cor. 3:16, 17). A "Living Offering," (not as the bodies of slain animals offered by Jews) is a consecration of the body, and not a destruction of life. The original means that this—the offering of ourselves as a living sacrifice—is a reasonable, rational service. God has the right of ownership of every member of our body, and there never was a day when there was greater need of insisting upon a Christianity that affects the bodies of men than today. Hands, lips, ears, eyes—every member should be constantly presented to him who purchased it by the blood of his own Son. (I Cor. 6:20; I Pet. 1:18-19.) This is a spiritual, religious service because it is our spirit which presents the offering of the body which he inhabits. Too many of us are "fashioned according to this age."

II. The Expression of Gratitude (vv. 3-8). Or the right use of the gifts of God. (1) Avoid "self-conceit" (vv. 3-5). These verses indicate how important this subject is. Conceit is entertaining an exaggerated opinion of one's own ability. The church has many members, and they do not all have the same office; there is a variety in the unity of the body. So in the church there are many "members in one body," each of which is important; all are essential. (2) "Prophecy" (v. 6), not necessarily foretelling, but the revelation of spiritual truth and experience according to the proportion of our faith (Ps. 39:3), the living, spiritual experience of the presence of God within us. (3) "Ministry" (v. 7). The business side of the church, collecting of its money and the distribution to the poor. Some can best attend to such business. Many churches fail by not selecting wise leaders for this work. (4) "He that teacheth." The true pastor is a combined prophet, pastor and teacher. We are all teaching, whether we wish to or not. It is a privilege as well as an obligation.

III. Conduct Toward All Men (vv. 9-21). The renewed soul needs guidance, encouragement and instruction. (1) "In love" (v. 9). The hypocrite wears a mask. Notice the close connection of "abhor that which is evil" with "cleave to that which is good." The word for cleave means literally to glue it, so that nothing can separate you from love which is the supreme good. "In honor preferring one another" (v. 10). Let others carry the banner—few of us can stand this acid test. (3) "Diligent in business" (v. 11). Whatsoever your hands find to do, do it with your might, being fervent or boiling in spirit, the reverse of the previous exhortation, in that which we are thus to serve the Lord. Few need exhortation to be diligent in their own business, but all of us need this exhortation with regard to the "king's business." (4) "Rejoicing in hope (v. 12). Triumphing over trials and difficulties in the way. Looking for that "blessed hope" (Titus 2:13). (5) Patience and tribulation (v. 12). The Latin "tribulum" was the threshing instrument or roller whereby the husbandman separated grain from the husk. Sorrow, distress and adversity are the means for separating men from the chaff of their lives. Sometimes small annoyances, long continued, become great tribulations. (See Joshua 24:12.) (6) Continuing in the school of prayer (v. 12). Steadfast, urgent, pressing, persevering prayer (Luke 12:1). (7) "Given to hospitality" (v. 13); literally, pursued it.

The word "condescend" is not strong enough—it should be literally "Borne away" from the living things along the line of the things that are humble.

(8) Living peaceably with all men (v. 18); being ready for peace and to do more than your share of reconciliation.

(9) Overcoming evil with good (vv. 19-21). The heaping of coals upon the enemy's head is not the object but the result of returning good for evil (See Proverbs 25:21-22.)

The Lyceum Feds have written to the management of the Bluffton Maroons for a game to be played here New Year's day. That will be the opener for the Feds and they have made an attempt to get a strong outfit here to work on.

Everett Scott, the big league shortstop, claimed by Bluffton and now living in Garrett, is a member of the Maroons, or was till he removed to the latter city, but it is not known whether he will play with them this year or not.

A statement by the Maroons in a Bluffton paper is to the effect that the date will be accepted.

"SKEETS" LAMBERT MAY COACH WABASH QUINTET

When Will H. Diddel resigned as graduate manager, basketball coach and field secretary of Wabash college, "Skeets" Lambert and Ward Lambert were named as possible successors. Dr. Mackintosh, president of the college, refused to give out the names of those under consideration but throughout the student body the two Lamberts are mentioned as first choices. Coach Sheeks will have charge of the basketball team this year.

"Skeets" Lambert has been playing football this year, first with the Detroit Heralds and later with the Massillon outfit. Last year he played quarter with the Friars and was a strong favorite with the fans.

MOSSMAN NEW HEAD OF COUNTRY CLUB

At the annual meeting of the Fort Wayne Country club last evening at the Commercial club, B. Paul Mossman was chosen to head the club for the coming year. M. C. MacDougal, retiring president, was elected vice-president; Frank H. Cutshall, treasurer, and E. F. Keller, secretary.

B. PAUL MOSSMAN.

Directors named by the stockholders in their annual meeting, preceding the election of officers, were as follows: F. J. Thieme, M. C. MacDougal, W. E. Doud, E. G. Hoffman, S. B. Bechtel and J. M. Barrett. The directors who remain in that capacity another year are F. L. Smock, F. H. McCulloch, A. F. Hall, B. Paul Mossman and H. G. Miller.

Mr. MacDougal was complimented on his work during the past year, and through his hard work and foresight he has done much to benefit the club. The views of Mr. Mossman and Mr. MacDougal concerning what is needed for the welfare of the club seem to coincide and it is thought that anything which Mr. MacDougal may have left unfinished will be done the same as if he were directing the work himself.

BOTH TEAMS ARE OUT FOR VICTORY TONIGHT

The Exenda basketballers who hail from St. John's Reformed church and the huskies from the International Business college will clash Friday evening at the former's hall. Both teams will go into the game with a determination to win, as both lost their previous game. Captain Gidley of the Exendas states that the regular line-up will be on hand tonight. Manager Plummer of the I. B. C. states that they are confident of a victory. The game will be played in the hall at Washington and Webster streets. A large number of business college students will accompany their favorite team to the game.

RECORD CROWD FOR YALE-HARVARD SCRAP

INDIANA AND PURDUE GRIDDERS PROTESTED

Murchie, Hoosier Tackle, Will Not Be Used—Boilermakers Investigate.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 24.—Indiana's last home workout before the Purdue battle Saturday, which will settle the state championship dispute, was held last night in the new $225,000 gymnasium, which was used for the first time by any athletic team. The field was wet and sloppy from an all day downpour. Friday the advance crew, including coaches, trainers, physicians and twenty-two men, started for Lafayette, and the practice this afternoon will be on Stuart field, if Coach O'Donnell has no objection. Stiehm said last night he realized the odds are again his men, because of their poor physical condition. Purdue has protested the eligibility of Tackle Murchie and the coach said he would not be used. The Boilermakers have been asked to investigate the professional charges against one of their players.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM IN INTERCOLLEGIATE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 24.—Coach Farrell of the track teams, with seven Michigan cross country runners, left Thursday afternoon for New Haven, Conn., where they will run in the intercollegiate cross country meet Saturday. The runners are Capt. Kuivinen, Carroll, Bouma, Fox, Fuess, Sedgwick and Bachtel. The distance of six miles to be covered Saturday is the longest yet attempted by the Wolverine outfit.

Brushes have been invented for polishing either stoves or shoes that have a reservoir, controlled by a valve, to feed polish to the bristles.

Season's Honors to Be Decided in Ohio State-Northwestern Game.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Football in the western conference will close for 1916 tomorrow with the championship battle between Northwestern and Ohio State at Columbus, O., topping off the schedule. Only a tie score can prevent the season's gridiron honors of the "Big Nine" from being decided, as both teams have gone through the season undefeated.

Minnesota will clash with Chicago, and Illinois will oppose Wisconsin in the remaining "big" games of tomorrow's schedule. These games, usually the deciding factors of the conference championship, are exciting almost as much interest as the title affair between Northwestern and Ohio State.

Minnesota, which was unexpectedly defeated by Illinois, still is regarded by many close followers of western football as the most powerful eleven in the conference. But determined to force Minnesota to play all the football it knows Chicago will face the Gophers tomorrow confident of putting up the same kind of a fight it did in its victory over Illinois a week ago. If perfect condition counts critics believe it will be a close battle, as the Maroons came out of the Illinois game without injury and are not discouraged over the big score Minnesota rolled up against Wisconsin last Saturday.

Forward passes probably will be an important factor in the battle, for both teams have made good gains via the aerial route in recent games. Wyman and Baston of the Gophers are considered especially good performers in handling passes. Joe Sprafka, the plunging fullback of the Minnesota squad, expects to get into the contest, as he has sufficiently recovered from recent injuries.

There has been a wild scramble for tickets and there is every indication that the contest will be witnessed by the largest crowd that has poured into Stagg field this season.

The Wisconsin-Illinois tilt is expected to be stubbornly fought, as both elevens are anxious to wipe out the defeats of last Saturday. The Badgers were somewhat crushed by the 54 to 0 lacing given them by Minnesota, but have hopes of triumphing over Illinois, which fell before Chicago, or at least of holding the Illini to an almost even score.

Indiana and Purdue, tail-enders in the conference race, will meet at Lafayette in a game that promises to be bitterly contested. These two elevens always have been strong gridiron rivals. The contest assumes somewhat of a state championship aspect.

Preparations have been made to receive the biggest crowd that has attended a football game in Lafayette this season because of the keen rivalry between the two universities. Indiana is considered the stronger, for the eleven will be strengthened with the return to the game of Archie Erehart to his old position at halfback. Keever, because of his good showing in the game against Florida, will fill Bowser's place at the other half.

Coach O'Donnell of the Purdue eleven has drilled his players in breaking up forward passes and the stellar plays of Indiana. The team has been considerably weakened because of injuries to players. The men are determined, however, to upset Indiana if possible and make amends for the rather poor showing in previous conference starts.

Northwestern will send a remarkably game and tricky eleven into the championship fray against Ohio State. The team's coaches have frankly admitted that they have kept their trump cards under cover thus far, displaying only just enough football to win.

Every member of the squad is declared to be in perfect condition. Capt. "Paddy" Driscoll, whose field goals have swelled Northwestern's totals, has fully recovered from injuries, as has Cigrand, a dashing half, whose ribs were cracked a month ago.

Confidence also is supreme in the Ohio camp. Coach Wilce figures that "Chick" Harley, a 21-year-old Chicagoan, whose kicking and running have made him the star of the Buckeyes, will more than offset the playing of Driscoll.

The Ohio eleven is well balanced. The back field men are consistent ground gainers, and the line is reported to be among the strongest of the conference elevens.

In order that Mrs. Elizabeth Evans age thirty-five, of Pittsburg, the mother of eight children, may share the Edwards estate without facing possible legal complications, Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, wealthy Mt. Washington woman, has adopted her.

Made No Objection When Told First-String Men Would Not Be In.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 24.—Answering criticism of the policy of the Harvard football coaches in playing a sub eleven against Brown Saturday, when Harvard was defeated, 21 to 0, General Manager Moore stated yesterday in a letter to the Harvard Crimson that the plan was agreed upon with the Brown management when the game was arranged. The Brown management "made no particular objection to our policy," he said, "although they naturally would have preferred to meet the first string men."

Moore stated that if the coaches had realized the strength of Brown at the time the schedule was made out "the game would have been arranged for an earlier date, when the first string men could have played without taking chances of having some of them unfit to play against Yale.

"As the unusual strength of the Brown team made it seem probable the second team would be defeated, I thought it best formally to notify by mail those who had purchased or applied for tickets that a substitute team would play."

"Toothsietherm" New Idea for Traffic Cop

No longer will traffic policemen of Pittsburgh, Pa., have to suffer with frozen "footsies" after a day's work in wintry weather.

The "tootsietherm" will keep their feet warm while they are on traffic duty.

"IT'S WONDERFUL" MRS. CORDRAY SAYS

South Bend Woman Pays Glowing Tribute to Work of Tanlac.

This was the tribute paid the Master Medicine on November 2 by Mrs. Edward Cordray, well known South Bend woman, who lives at 1509 South Michigan street.

"I suffered from a catarrhal affection of the throat and kidney trouble bothered me," she continued. "In fact, my system generally was in a run down condition. I was annoyed by the dripping of mucus into my throat and felt weak and nervous all the time. My kidneys were very weak and irregular.

"After taking one bottle of Tanlac the dripping of mucus into my throat ceased. I began to eat more heartily and naturally became stronger and felt better. I've taken two bottles of the medicine now and I'm feeling fine. My kidneys are in good condition and the tired feeling has been banished. I'm highly elated over my relief."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like.

Five Days in Woods Lost, Gives $1,000 to Guide Rescuer

HORACE JACKSON

For five days Horace Jackson, 63, of the Chicago board of trade, wandered about in the northern Minnesota woods, with only frozen cranberries to keep him from starving. He had been lost on his hunting trip, after killing a bull moose.

Jackson was ready to give up when his Finn guide came up. The guide, Jackson says, will get $1,000 for the rescue.

Owing to the scarcity of labor in this district, a number of laborers' daughters, age between fifteen and eighteen years, are employed drawing water with donkeys and cars to the steam roller at work near Newtonbarry, Ireland.

How to Obtain Health Without Medicine

Read the Following

"'O-Eat-It' simply worked a revolution on my whole system, in two or three days," said a well-known merchant the other day. "I never saw anything like it. Here I had been taking all kinds of medicines,—the whole business—salts, oil, calomel, cathartics, to keep my liver and bowels working. The more I took the worse I got. That's what the doctors say always happens with drugs anyway. So at all meals for three days, I tried a few ready-to-eat toasts of the new food, 'O-Eat-It'—delicious crisps they are. It's a marvel. Now my liver and bowels tell me the time of day. My biliousness is all gone, no more headaches. I feel light as a feather, active as a panther, and I want to do things. I'm cheerful; I eat like a bear. I've added weight, my face is rosy instead of pasty. Now the wife and kids just go right after it, too. It's worth its weight in gold."

"O-Eat-It" is a delicious food with a new taste. It takes the place of the old-style breads and breakfast foods that cause such an awful lot of constipation, and which haven't the nourishing qualities in them, because made from white flour, from which the most nutritious portions of the grain have been milled out. "O-Eat-It" is a combination of the richest grains together with their brans, and toasted lusciously in ready-to-eat slices. It is the only bran food made by the only process ever discovered of making a real bran food, delicious and feathery in lightness. This is why 35 per cent of bran is successfully used in "O-Eat-It," making it the most effective and delicious bran food known, with remarkable bowel-regulating results. It can be served in many appetizing ways at any meal. While you eat, eat delicious, body-regulating, health-making, flesh-building food. Here it is. Physicians recommend it with the greatest enthusiasm. Ask your doctor. You'll need no vacation, rest-cure or drugs. Why eat so-called bran foods, heavy and tasteless, or with only a smattering of bran ingredients which give little or no result? Eat "O-Eat-It," serve it to the whole family. We've only told part of the wonderful story of "O-Eat-It." More will happen to you, and it costs only 25c to experience it.

Sold by your grocer in large sanitary packages for 25 cents or post-paid by mail on receipt of price. Made only by O-EAT-IT Company, 262 Studebaker Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

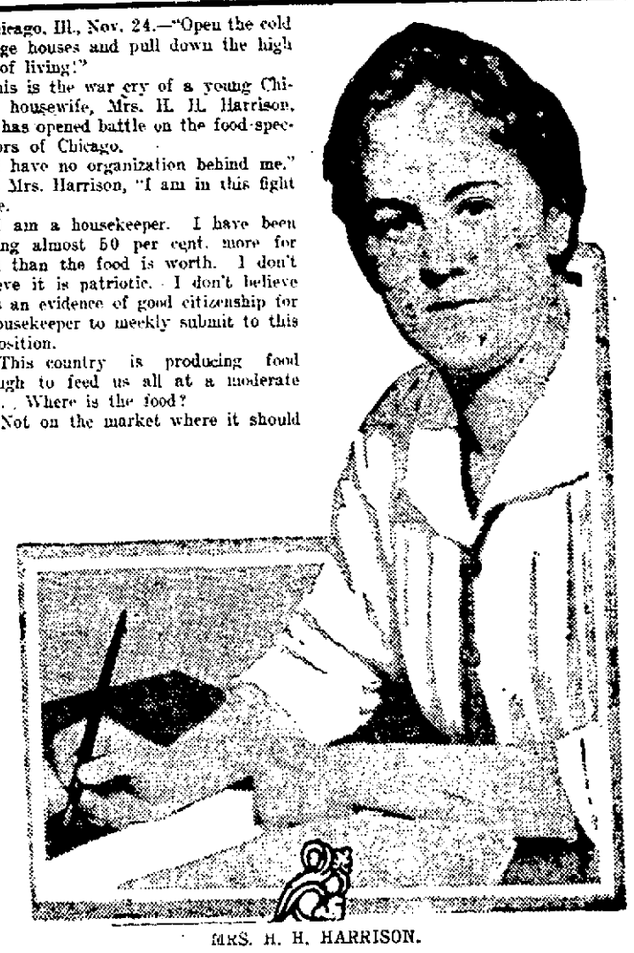
"OPEN STORAGE HOUSES AND REDUCE COST OF LIVING," HER CRY.



MRS. H. H. HARRISON.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 24.—"Open the cold storage houses and pull down the high cost of living!"

This is the war cry of a young Chicago housewife, Mrs. H. H. Harrison, who has opened battle on the food speculators of Chicago.

"I have no organization behind me," says Mrs. Harrison, "I am in this fight alone.

"I am a housekeeper. I have been paying almost 50 per cent. more for food than the food is worth. I don't believe it is patriotic. I don't believe it is an evidence of good citizenship for a housekeeper to meekly submit to this imposition.

"This country is producing food enough to feed us all at a moderate cost. Where is the food?

"Not on the market where it should be. It is in cold storage houses, held there by the food speculators, until the price of food soars to famine heights.

"I pay forty cents for eggs, some days forty-six. In storage houses within less than a mile of my kitchen more than 600,000 cases of eggs are stored.

"I pay forty-two cents for butter. There's a million pounds of butter stored in warehouses in Chicago.

"Unless the government takes active control of storage of food I believe this nation will be reduced to the condition of the poorer nations of Europe, and meat will be a luxury to all except the rich."

At her own expense, Mrs. Harrison, wife of a prosperous business man, employed a cold storage engineer to make an investigation of the cold storage situation in Chicago.

Complete reports are denied even official investigators, but Mrs. Harrison's engineer estimates the amount of food held in warehouses in Chicago as follows:

Fish, 1,000,000 pounds.
Butter, 1,000,000 pounds.
Fruits and vegetables, 10,000,000 cases.

Mrs. Harrison will continue her investigation of the high cost of living, and hopes to arouse every housekeeper in Chicago and throughout the country to a fight for fair prices.

PET ALLIGATOR IS BOUGHT BY TWO BOYS

"Have you still got an alligator to sell?" asked one of the small boys who stood on the front porch when Patrolman H. E. Lininger, 422 East Pontiac street, responded to the light rapping Tuesday afternoon.

You see Patrolman Lininger has been called from bed at all hours of the day, for he works at night, by folks who have asked him about the alligator that The Sentinel said he had for sale.

Lininger wanted to get rid of the reptile, which was sent him by a Florida friend because the crocodile had an ungovernable temper and had chewed off a leg of a table left in the cellar with the beast and besides Mrs. Lininger was afraid to venture into the basement, where milk and butter had formerly been kept.

So Lininger said at the police station a week ago that he would dispose of the tropical reptile. Judge Kerr said at first that he would trade a crow for it. Then he changed his mind, but it cost him rest for two nights because mischievous friends jingled the telephone at most ungodly hours to inquire about the crow and then the alligator.

Anyway Lininger did not know what to think when the boys startled him again by a forlorn look and the query.

"Is the alligator gone?"

The patrolman could not understand why anybody would look sad even if the alligator was gone.

'No, he is here. Do you want to buy him?" Lininger asked half laughing.

"Yes," responded both boys together and their faces brightened with hope.

"How much have you got?" Lininger asked.

"Seventy-five cents," came the piping answer.

Had Money All Ready.

The boys had the money all ready. One of the lads held out his hand and there was three-quarters of a dollar in nickels and dimes.

"You've bought an alligator," said the patrolman.

He led the boys right through the house without looking to see if their shoes were muddy. Lininger headed straight for the cellar.

"You boys had better stay here," Lininger cautioned at the cellar entrance, because he has become acquainted with the unreliable habits of the pet.

"We want to see him," said the smaller of the young Americans.

They followed on the officer's heels. The pet, which Lininger had christened "Romeo" because of the crocodile's steadfastness in the line of attacking all moving objects, was asleep. Lininger hunted up a box. He found the same identical box in which the alligator was dragged to his front door after the long journey from the southern swamps.

Lininger grabbed the reptile by holding its tail and neck. There was a wiggle. Thump! and "Romeo" dropped on the floor again.

"See, you got to be careful with him," Lininger explained and the two boys looked on with bulging eyes. Their admiration for the alligator was growing all the while.

The next time Lininger caught hold of the crocodile he succeeded in shutting off its wind and so was able to thrust the pet in the open box. There was no sadness of farewell.

Mrs. Lininger readily brought the hammer to the back door. The box was nailed up

"You get in front, George," one of the lads said, and that is all Lininger knows about the boys' names. He was so excited at a chance to get rid of the long-jawed alligator that he never thought of names.

The boys picked up the box. They did not drop it when "Romeo" flopped about and made an awful clatter. With one of the lads in front and the box against his back while the other supported the rear of the container they marched proudly away.

Now there will be rest for the patrolman because somebody has called him up every day for nearly a week and almost promised to take the meat-eating charge, only to refuse when there was a querelous answer to such questions as:

"Will he bite when your back is turned?"

"Does he have teeth?"

"Would he blend well in a pink room?"

Or this one:

"Could the children hitch him up?"

"No, I don't know what in the world the boys want with the alligator," Lininger told The Sentinel reporter.

Princeton, Ind., Nov. 24.—Plans are being made here for opening shallow "coal banks" next year, to prevent retail prices being as high then as now. Coal at present obtained from one big mine here is retailing at 19 cents a bushel for "lump" and 15 cents a bushel for "nut" and "mine run." Several fair-sized veins are near the city from eighteen inches to three feet below the surface. Some farmers already have commenced digging the coal and offering it at normal prices.

Clothing Merchant Delightfully Entertains at Commercial Club.

Harry P. Fletcher, of the Patterson-Fletcher company, clothiers, entertained for more than forty employes Thursday night at the Commercial club with a dinner attended by salespeople, tailors and the clerical staff. The dinner was the first of a series to be held to develop perfection of sales organization and a closer acquaintanceship between employes. The Patterson-Fletcher company is to occupy its new store, corner of Wayne and Harrison streets, about the first of the year.

The guests were interested in the receipt of a package in a large box with the announcement that it held hat bands. After Mr. Fletcher had stated that the manufacturers of hat bands had shown a decided interest in the Patterson-Fletcher store and had probably sent a new consignment, out popped the head of the box and the face of a smiling negro appeared. "Bill" Ersig, window trimmer for the Patterson-Fletcher store, had brought in the package. The "bands" developed to be a feature in the person of "Whoo-Whoo," the hornless band leader who gave several selections that scored a hit.

Mr. Fletcher was toastmaster of the evening. He complimented his sales force and attributed much of the success of the store to their efforts. He introduced E. W. Puckett, manager of the Fort Wayne Oil and Supply company, who spoke on the efficiency in selling, loyalty and ways of attaining success.

Leon M. Grimes, of the newspaper advertising division of the Progressive Advertising company, told Patterson-Fletcher employes the principles on which the company handles problems of its patrons.

The guests of the evening were: L. M. Grimes, E. W. Puckett, H. P. Fletcher, Alma Steiss, Kathryn Barr, A. F. Kinnaird, Ben Kramer, Earl Winterode, Preston Somers, Will Grimm, Otis Hirons, Phil H. ### WAYNE COUNTY IN PLIGHT.

May Find Itself Without Superintendent of County Schools.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 24.—Wayne county may find itself without a superintendent of public schools when the resignation of C. O. Williams, the present superintendent, takes effect in a few months. Mr. Williams will take a position in the office of the state superintendent of public instruction. The reason Wayne county hay have trouble in filling Mr. Williams' place is that the law requires the county superintendent to be a resident of the county and also he must hold a three years' state teachers' license for common schools, earned by grade work and examination. It is said that not a resident of Wayne county holds the necessary license. Life licenses, held by a number of teachers in the county, given them when they graduated from the state normal, will not do, Mr. Williams declares. As Mr. Williams will not leave Richmond until March 15, 1917, two examinations will be given before then, at which aspirants for his position will be given opportunity to qualify. The position pays $1,400 a year. It is a four year office.

ENRAGED WIFE WILL FIGHT DIVORCE SUIT

"He Gave Me My First Drink," Says Woman Who Now Bares Soul.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 24."He gave me the first drink of liquor that ever touched my lips."

In this sentence Mrs. Mabel Rossi, of Wallace, Idaho, sums up the defense she will make against a suit for divorce

Rossi, recently acquitted of killing Clarence Dahlquist, declared his wife drank to excess and that her weakness had ruined their happiness. Dahlquist, he declared, had despoiled his home.

As the outcome of the tragic affair, Rossi began divorce proceedings and his wife has countered with a second suit. She declares she will fight to the bitter end to obtain a divorce, a just share of Rossi's property and a legally protected name.

"I kept my mouth shut and saved Herman Rossi's neck," she said. "I trampled my pride and dignity that he might not die. I saw myself pictured an ingrate. I gave $17,000 to aid in his defense. And now, despite the fact that Herman Rossi is worth nearly $200,000, he would take his name from me and give me a few hundred dollars."

The Rossis were married at Wallace, March 16, 1906. Mrs. Rossi, the bride, was a telephone girl at the time of her romance.

"I was 17," she said, "and innocent of the danger that lurks in drink. Rossi was mayor of Wallace and regarded as a 'big man' in the Coeur d'Alene country. He went everywhere with the best of people. He was rich and experienced. I was poor and susceptible to allurements. I was dazzled by the bright lights of this life he introduced me to.

"Herman took me to the legislature at Boise one year and introduced me to the fastest crowd I have ever met. They started the day with gin fizzes and ended up every night with highballs and champagne.

There was a party at our home on the occasion mentioned in the murder trial. Clarence Dahlquist was there. So were several others, but there were no improper acts. I was intoxicated during the party and when I came out of my stupor I saw Clarence. I drove him out and he went without protest, so drunk he staggered from the house.

"I sold my home in Wallace, which was my separate and personal property, to James Callahan for $20,000. I turned over to Rossi all of this sum except $5,000, which I kept for my own expenses."

Mrs. Rossi says her husband "beat her up" many times and that the marks on her body, which Rossi contended Dahlquist left, were the effect of the beatings.

"When the matter is all over," she said, "I think the public will not believe that Mr. Rossi is 'the angel without wings' and that I am the vile creature that he and his so-called friends would have the public believe me to be."

Max R. Miller Is Made President and Other Officers Are Named.

At a meeting held in the club house of the Wayne Knitting mills, Thursday evening, a permanent organization to be known as the West Side Improvement association was formed. One of the purposes of the meeting was to discuss the proposed purchase by the city of the territory west of Swinney park and across the St. Mary's river.

In the purchase of this additional territory the extension of a boulevard to the westward to connect with the Illinois road is proposed. This would also necessitate the construction of a bridge and roadway and other extensive improvements, including two railroad subways.

The gathering was addressed by William H. Shambaugh, former city attorney; Colonel D. N. Foster, head of the park board; Park Superintendent Getz, Fred Thieme and others. R. S. Osler, chairman of the temporary organization, made a short address in resigning his chair after permanent officers had been chosen. He outlined ambitions of the society, as did Max R. Miller, permanent president of the association.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"Of marked importance to the people of Fort Wayne, is the proposition, now before the park board, to purchase all or a part of the land situated west of Swinney park, across the St. Mary's river.

"This land consists of thirty-five acres, called the Cressler land; five acres, called the Randall land, and ten acres, called the Lennon land. It is proposed to annex all or part of this to Swinney park. It is also proposed to construct a bridge across the river, close to the Pennsylvania railroad bridge. With this plan is connected a boulevard scheme over the 'high banks' to the district west and south of Lindenwood cemetery. Some of the arguments in favor of these improvements are as follows:

"The purchase of some of this property for park purposes would carry out the modern idea of acquiring land for the city while it may be had at a reasonable price.

"Swinney park has no thoroughfare. Although it is one of the most valuable pieces of property belonging to the city, it is snugly fenced off from the people on nine-tenths of its boundary; it can be approached only from the east at Washington and Jefferson streets, and those who enter there must return the same way. This is contrary to all well-balanced plans for parking; no park should have a dead end, but should be accessible from all sides. As it is now, the park is not serving its purpose to the people of Fort Wayne, and is deserted atnight, except to those who prefer darkness to light.

"There is no river bridge between Main street and Taylor street, a distance of over a mile, extending almost through the heart of the city. All traffic going west, between Taylor street on the south and Spring street in Bloomingdale, must go over the Main street bridge.

"The need of another bridge to the west is further emphasized by the fact that many horrible accidents have resulted from people taking their chances and crossing over the Pennsylvania railroad bridge.

"The Main street bridge is also the only approach to Lindenwood cemetery. As this is a very busy street, it is quite evident that another road leading in the direction of Lindenwood is very much needed.

"West of the St. Mary's river and north of Main street lies 'Nebraska,' North Wayne Heights and the Lindenwood cemetery district, a section containing a large population as well as the Wayne Knitting mills, Eckart Packing Co., Indiana Road Machine Co. and the Horton Manufacturing Co. These people have no outlet, excepting Main street east and west, and no street opening to the south excepting Rockhill street on the east and Freeman street beyond the western extremity of Lindenwood.

"The section of residence property lying west of the river is today the lowest priced land within the three-mile circle. For that reason, if opened up by the proposed bridge and park improvement, the increased valuation will offset a large part of the cost of improvement; in fact, it could easily be made to pay for the greater part. Therefore, there will be very little cost to the citizens of Fort Wayne, or the citizens of the west end, excepting the original cost of the land for park purposes and the cost of the bridge.

"The plan proposed and the methods to be followed in putting through this park scheme include a bond issue for the purchase of the land to be used for park purposes. The bridge is to be constructed by the county commissioners, the expense of which will be borne by the county. The park and boulevard improvements will be assessed against property holders throughout the entire district who will be benefited."

The New Premier Built Like a Violin

A TALKING MACHINE is as much of a necessity in the modern home as any piece of furniture. The usual buyer, however, is not well posted as to the qualities essential in a good talking machine. National advertising in magazines does not make for quality in the product; for the buyer MUST PAY THE COST and the selling price is therefore raised to meet this additional expense. In a talking machine four features are essential; a quiet, durable, dependable motor, a reproducer or sound box of scientific construction, an amplifying chamber correctly proportioned and built of laminated wood throughout, and the case should be pleasing in design, convenient, well constructed and finished.

In competition with all other makes of phonographs, we have adopted the PREMIER, as we find the four "quality points" fully carried out.

CHILD PRINCE OF INDIA FLEES TO AMERICA TO ESCAPE ORIENTAL TREACHERY.

San Francisco, Nov. 10.—Escaping many plots against his life over in the mysterious land of India, little Prince Scindia, 6-year-old rajah of the state of Torgal, has reached refuge in America.

He arrived in San Francisco the other day, accompanied by Miss M. E. Patterson, a missionary who was named his guardian by high officials of India. She will take him to Toronto, Canada, where he will be educated under the protection of the British government.

The boy potentate is heir to estates in the state of Torgal valued at $10,000,000. His annual income is more than sufficient to educate him in a manner befitting his rank.

His six years of life have been filled with the romance and tragedy of the Far East. His mother, first wife of the ruler of Torgal, died when the prince was a mere infant. The father died soon after.

Other widows of the ruler, having sons of their own whom they wished to be heirs to the title, plotted against Prince Scindia's life, according to the story which came over with him. To prevent these attempts the British government and the Maharajah of Kollapur, joint guardians of the child, named Miss Patterson as the one to take him to America.

The rajah is dressed in English boy style, with an Eton jacket and a gold-trimmed flat cap.

TYPHOID LEADS THE ILLNESS IN STATE

Health Board Makes Report on Indiana Conditions for October.

Indianapolis, Nov. 24.—Typhoid fever continued to be the most prevalent infectious disease in Indiana during October, as in the month before, according to the monthly report of the state board of health, made public yesterday by Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the board. The report shows that ninety-five persons died from the disease out of 329 cases in sixty-three counties. A decrease is noted, however, from the month preceding, when 102 persons died from the disease out of 657 cases in seventy-six counties. In the same month of 1915 249 cases in fifty-three counties showed fifty-five fatalities.

Tuberculosis, as usual, caused the greatest number of deathsh with a toll of 278. It invaded 265 homes. Twenty-nine of the victims were fathers and thirty-five were mothers, both leaving a total of 128 orphans. Pneumonia was second, with 160 deaths, 105 in the month before and 104 in the same month of last year.

Scarlet fever cases numbered 410, with five deaths; diphtheria cases 617, with 39 deaths; measles cases 252, with 3 deaths, and infantile paralysis cases 57, with 9 deaths.

Order of Prevalence.

The order of prevalence of diseases follows: Typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, tonsilitis, acute bronchitis, acute rheumatism, chickenpox, pulmonary tuberculosis, influenza, poliomyelitis, diarrhea and enteritis, measles, lobar pneumonia, malaria fever, bronchial pneumonia, intermittent and remittent fever, whooping cough, other forms of tuberculosis, erysipelas, smallpox, dysentery, cholera morbus, cerebro-spinal fever, puerperal fever, rabies in human, rabies in animals, trachoma.

The total deaths reported for the month was 2,952, a rate of 12.1 per 1,000 of population. The rate for the same month last year was 11. A rural population of 1,552,330 shows a rate of 10.3 as compared with an urban population of 1,308,540 showing a rate of 14.3. Death rates in the cities were as follows: Indianapolis, 14.5; Evansville, 14.9; Fort Wayne, 14.6; Terre Haute, 12.9; South Bend, 12.2; Gary, 16.7; East Chicago, 14.4; Muncie, 12.9; Hammond, 21.5; Richmond, 15.4; Anderson, 20.4; Elkhart, 13.2; Michigan City, 13.4; Lafayette, 18.4; New Albany, 18.3; Logansport, 13.8; Marion, 15, and Kokomo, 16.2.

More encouraging news is found in the second part of the report, which shows that 4,744 babies were added last month to the population. This is a rate of 19.5 to every 1,000 persons. The highest birth rate was in Lake county, where it was 36.4, and the lowest in Warwick county with 7.3.

DEMOCRATIC PLANS FOR LEGISLATURE

State Senators Expected to Discuss Matter of Patronage in That Body.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—When the democratic members of the state senate met today at the Claypool hotel they took up plans for getting a split in the distribution of the patronage and the appointment of the committee chairmanships. They also will discuss measures for attempting to gain control of the senate organization for the entire session.

More than half of the democratic senators arrived last night, when several informal conferences were held. It was reported among them that Chairman Will H. Hays of the republican state committee had sent a representative of his organization to Chairman Bernard Korbly to propose a division of the patronage and the chairmanships of the committees.

Several democratic workers were on hand last night to become candidates for places on the senate pay roll, providing there is to be a division between the two parties. Joseph Luther, South Bend, who was chief doorkeeper of the house two years ago, was suggested as a probable democratic candidate for doorkeeper of the senate. Luther said he is not a candidate.

Secretary L. W. Henley of the republican state committee said last night that the republican organization made no tender of a compromise to Chairman Korbly and that none will be made.

"The republicans will organize the senate," said Henley. "There is no doubt whatever on that score. No one went to Korbly representing Chairman Hays."

It was said by some of the democratic senators that Attorney General Stotsenberg has rendered an opinion that the democrats can organize the senate while Lieutenant Governor O'Neill is in the chair and that they can adopt rules then that will hold for the entire session.

The fact that the republicans will have twenty-five senators and the democrats the same number is expected to open up a hard fight for the patronage and control of the committees.

Several prospective candidates are in the field for the democratic floor leadership of the senate. Among them are Senators Culbertson, Fleming and Eisner, all members of the last session. Edward G. Hoffman, of Fort Wayne, national committeeman, and other party leaders arrived last night.

There was practically no talk among the democratic senators regarding prohibition, and it was said that probably the matter would not be discussed today.

SUNDAY WOULD RETIRE IN OLD BASEBALL LOT

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Billy Sunday, evangelist, wishes to wind up his career in Chicago, where he started on the road to fame. He opened negotiations to rent the old west side ball park for a year, beginning Jan. 1, and if he is successful a mammoth tabernacle will be erected there for the meetings.

A committee of two waited on President Charles Weeghman, of the Cubs, this morning. Weeghman has control of the old ball plant, which was involved in the transaction when the former Federal leaguers purchased the Cubs. A deal now is pending for the park, but Weeghman said he might be able to close shortly with the committee.

Sentimental reasons urged Billy Sunday to select the old Cub park. Years ago, when Capt. Anson was manager of the Chicago club, Billy Sunday was his right fielder. Even then Sunday had a leaning toward the career which he later took up in earnest.

TRAIN IS ROBBED AS IT ENTERS CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Two masked bandits, working in leisurely fashion over the body of a bound and gagged express messenger, pulled off a daring robbery last night on a Chicago & Northwestern passenger train as it pulled into Chicago from Elroy and Madison, Wis.

The robbers, according to the messenger, obtained everything in the safe of the American Express company's car at the front of the train. According to the company the loot amounts to about $1,000.

When they had finished their work the men dropped off the train as it stopped at Clybourn Junction, three miles from the loop, and slipped away into the dark.

Robbers Bold in Work.

The robbery was as methodical as it was bold. The train, which left Elroy at 10:05 a. m., is a comparatively slow one, stopping at every station. At most of these express packages had been delivered or taken on, and for this reason the rear door of the express car had been left unlocked.

A few minutes after the train passed through Barrington, at 5:53, the express messenger, named W. E. Caper, was carrying a sack of flour across his car when the rear end door was opened and two men entered.

They wore stocking caps, the messenger thinks, over their eyes. The rest of their faces were covered with handkerchiefs. Each of them carried a revolver.

They ordered him to throw up his hands, immediately took away his revolver, which was in his pocket, and then demanded from him his gun. He told them they had the only gun he possessed.

After tying Caper in the chair the robbers bound several handkerchiefs about his head, covering his face completely. Then they took his keys from his pocket and opened the safe.

Seated before it on the floor of the car, they went through the contents carefully, throwing aside everything except the money envelopes. These they rifled and thrust the contents in their pockets.

Having finished their work, they turned their attention again to Caper. Twice they threatened to kill him if he did not give them all the information they wanted.

Want to Know Station.

"Clybourn," said Caper.

It wasn't, but the bandits evidently didn't know the difference. They became suspicious, however, and asked again:

"Where is Clybourn?"

"Well, it's in the city limits," said Caper.

Imperatritsa Marie Sent to Bottom of Black Sea by Explosion.

"The Russian dreadnaught Imperatritsa Maria has been sunk by an internal explosion. Two hundred of the crew are missing."

Early in November a report was in circulation that the Imperatritsa Maria had gone to the bottom and that nearly all of its crew had perished. Later, on Nov. 11, Berlin reported by wireless that a Bulgarian headquarters' dispatch announced that a fireman of the battleship had reached the Bulgarian coast and confirmed the destruction of the dreadnaught, which, it was stated, had been sunk by a mine near Sulina, or Feodossia Island, at the mouth of the Danube.

The Imperatritsa Maria was launched in 1914 and displaced 22,500 tons. Its officers and crew numbered about 1,000 men. The vessel was 550 feet long and had a draft of 27 feet. It was armed with ten 12-inch, twenty 5-inch, and four 2.3-inch guns and four 3-pounders and four torpedo tubes.
